METRO RAIL 2 held for stealing project materials

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Rab arrested two members of an "organised theft gang" on Monday on charges of stealing materials of Metro Rail project in Dhaka.

The elite force also recovered materials worth around Tk 5 lakh, a pickup, and an auto-rickshaw during the raid at Pallabi, said Joyita Shilpi, deputy director of Rab-4, yesterday.

Nazmul died from electrocution on September 6 while cutting wire at the project with fellow gang members.

Destroying forest

the move of leasing out a forest and not utilising it for the cause it was given.

"I went to the spot where I found two tin-shed structures. Sometimes in the name of development, we don't hesitate to sacrifice forests," he said.

Syeda Rizwana Hasan, executive director of Bangladesh Environmental Lawyers Association (Bela), said the dormitory has to be demolished and the CVASU authorities must be asked for compensatory afforestation.

"The lease must be revoked. They must afforest the area three times the forest they damaged," she said.

Contacted over phone, Dr Mohammed Nurul Absar Khan, dean, faculty of fisheries and also in-charge of the facility, told The Daily Star that the research institute was "still in review" and that the hatchery was in its final stages. When asked why there was a dormitory in violation of the lease, he said, "I don't owe you an explanation in this regard."

Meanwhile, Cox's Bazar Forest Division (South) declined to comment on the construction of the dormitory.

About the status of the case filed against CVASU authorities, Sheikh Nazmul Huda, deputy director of DoE (Cox's Bazar), said he joined at the end of 2019 and was not aware of the issue.

"We will look into the matter," he said.

Contacted, Land Minister Saifuzzaman Chowdhury told The Daily Star that he was unaware of the issue and that he would also "look into it."

Workplace sanitation still a far cry for them

Environment and Human Development (SHED), who conducted a survey on tea workers in 2015-16, said, "There is no sanitary latrine in any of the workplaces at the tea gardens even though there is a clear provision to arrange lavatory and washroom services under section-51 of Labour Rules 2015."

He said section-50 of the rules also emphasise arranging fresh water for workers.

Mohammad Mahbubul Hasan, deputy inspector general of the Department of Inspection for Factories and Establishments in Sreemangal, confirmed that there are no toilets in the tea garden sections (workplaces) except a couple of exceptions.

"Tea garden owners or managers have repeatedly been asked to provide the service. Even notices have been issued, but to no avail," he informed.

He also said there is no provision in the Bangladesh Labour Act to impose a fine in this regard. Hence, garden authorities are repeatedly making excuses and getting away with it.

Even the state-owned gardens lack this facility for workers, he added.

Rambhajan Kairi, immediate-past general secretary of Bangladesh Tea Workers' Union, said, "We have discussed the issue with tea garden authorities but to no avail. They [authorities] don't seem to understand that a healthy worker will work more productively... the law must be implemented," he said.

Contacted, a top official of Bangladesh Tea Association (BTA), the representative body of the tea estates in the country, said they have toilet facilities and access to clean water for workers at factories but not at the gardens where they work in the open.

About the labour law to ensure toilet facility at workplaces, the official said the law is for the general purpose of the country's industries. "This [tea sector] is over a century-old sector, which used to have a different set of laws, and is still tradition-oriented."

However, if any organisation is interested in setting up the facilities such as mobile toilets, they can send their proposals in writing about their plans regarding implementation, support and maintenance, the official said, adding that they will look into it then.

Dr Mohammad Ali, director of Bangladesh Tea Research Institute, said, "There are no toilets in the tea gardens' work sections. However, we are providing toilets and potable water to the tea workers' residences. There are plans to do so in the workplaces as well."

Asked, Maj Gen Md Jahurul Islam, chairman of Bangladesh Tea Board, said they will look into the matter first and then respond. He suggested contacting the officials responsible for tea gardens in the division.

A PENDING RTI APPLICATION

To get more evidential data about sanitary latrines, this newspaper applied to the divisional office of the labour department in Sreemangal, Bangladesh Tea Workers' Union and Bangladesh Tea Board, under the Right to Information (RTI) act on April 4 this year.

In the application, detailed data on availability of sanitary latrines at the tea gardens and data on legal obligations in this regard were sought.

In response, the office of the labour department informed that they do not have any such data; the union denied receiving such application (mailed through the post office), and the tea board is yet to provide any information.

OF EFFORTS AND HURDLES

Meanwhile, some non-government organisations are working to change the situation at tea gardens.

The Institute of Development Affairs (IDEA), under the project Water Sanitation and Hygiene (WASH), has been working to ensure sanitation for tea workers.

However, they continue to face challenges.

Pankaj Ghosh Dostidar, manager of the project, said, "We've been trying to make the garden owners and managers understand the issue of workers' health safety, but mostly in vain. We even tried to convince them to permit us to work in this regard, but they turned us down."

Contacted, Hossain Zillur Rahman, executive chairman of Power and Participation Research Centre (PPRC), said, "This issue must be included in the discussion on the overall protection of tea workers. The owners must come forward in this regard."

"Besides, the government will also have to play a vital role to ensure the health safety of the women tea workers' considering their contribution to the sector's development," said the eminent economist.

However, there are notable exceptions within the industry which prove that changes for the better are not just possible, but also profitable.

The Ispahani Group, for instance, have ensured sanitary latrines at work sections in all their three tea gardens.

Md Syduzzaman, senior manager of Mirzapore Tea Estate in Moulvibazar, said that this has led to increased productivity among workers.

"This also reduced diseases among workers notably. Earlier, 20 percent of female workers used to be absent due to illness, which has reduced to 10 percent," he said.

The correspondents visited Mirzapore Tea Estate recently and saw the two toilet facilities beside a "resting shed" for workers.

"We also provide potable water to workers," Syduzzaman said.

About the issue, Tahsin A Choudhury, chief operating officer-estates of Finlay Tea, said each of their labour quarters has been constructed with toilet facilities.

He said the public health department (Sreemangal) has taken a programme to bring all the tea workers under toilet facilities by the next two years. They have already started working in this regard.

"Besides, we have already introduced a mobile toilet under cooperation of Unicef Bangladesh on a trial basis," he added. About setting up toilets at workplaces, he said, "It's a good initiative, which may be forwarded through BTA."

Eminent rights activist Sultana Kamal said it's a "black law" because it does not allow anyone to raise questions even when the actions may be anti-people.

She questioned whether the government is running the state for the interest of the people or for someone else.

Buet Prof Dr Ijaz Hossain argued, "The extension of the special act must mean that the crisis situation is still going on. In that case, the government should apologise to the nation for failing to manage the crisis for the last nine years."

The country has power generation capacity of 21,000-22,000 MW when at most 13,000 MW is being used in a day, he highlighted, pointing out that for this overcapacity, the government is paying more than Tk 14,000 crore as rent to quick rentals. "It is absurd," he said.

Architect Mubasshar Hussein, CAB adviser (energy) Prof Shamsul Alam, Barrister Tureen Afroz and DU professors MM Akash and Mohammad Tanzimuddin Khan also spoke at the event. CAB chairman Gulam Rahman conducted the webinar.

But, he said, Bangladesh by now has decided to offer humanitarian assistance to Afghan people by sending materials like medicines, responding to a call by the UN secretary general.

He, however, recalled that in recent past some Bangladeshis went to Afghanistan and got involved in militant activities after return. "We have uprooted militancy in Bangladesh with a 'zero tolerance' policy against any kind of terrorism and will not allow them in our soil," he said.

HC issues rule on Prothom Alo over compensation

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday issued a rule, asking the Prothom Alo to explain why it should not be ordered to pay Tk 100 crore compensation to Dhaka Residential Model College and family of its student Naimul Abrar Rahat, who was electrocuted in 2019.

The HC bench issued the rule, following a petition filed by the college and Abrar's father. Petitioners' lawyer SM Abdur Rauf said his clients filed the petition in June, seeking HC directive on Prothom Alo to pay Tk 50 crore to the college and Tk 50 crore to Abrar's family.

On November 1, 2019, Abrar was electrocuted during the anniversary programme of Prothom Alo's youth magazine Kishor Alo on the college premises.
