Premium prices still elusive for green garment factories

REFAYET ULLAH MIRDHA

Premium prices from international clothing retailers and brands have remained elusive for deserving local textile and apparel makers who have doled out extra money and efforts in setting up green buildings and adopting eco-friendly manufacturing practices.

According to the entrepreneurs, green factories are one of the most scientific ways of keeping the balance of growth and sustainability.

Green factories attach the highest importance to energy use, water use, indoor environmental quality, and material selection and its effects on the site.

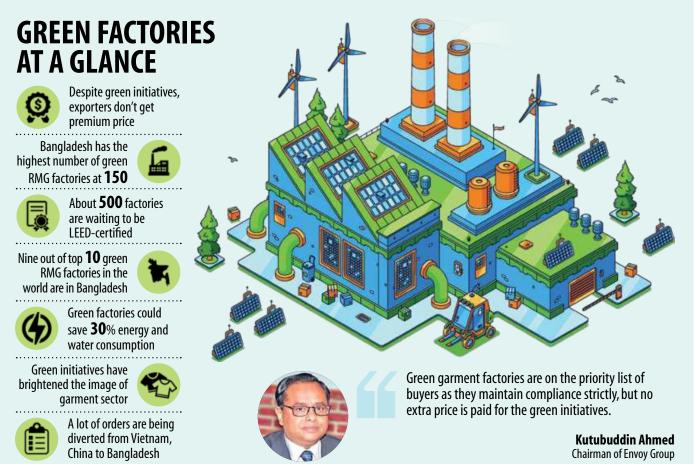

These buildings have cleaner air circulation, more access to daylight, less pollution and harm-free chemical paints and finishing, which create a healthier working environment.

Currently, Bangladesh is the global leader in terms of the number of green garment factories.

It has 150 green garment buildings, certified by the Leadership in Environmental and Energy in Design (LEED) of the United States Green Building Council (USGBC). Of them, 44 are platinum-rated, 93 gold-rated, and nine silver-rated.

Of the top 10 green garment factories in the world, nine are in Bangladesh, all brightening the country's image.

Lack of investor participation to blame, experts say

STAR BUSINESS REPORT

Turnover at Dhaka Stock Exchange (DSE) dropped to a seven-month low yesterday as investor participation fell in the face of declining market value.

Most investors have adopted a wait-and-see approach as the market is in a downward trend," said a stock broker. "So, movement of the market's prime index and turnover remain sluggish," he added.

The DSE registered a turnover of Tk 1,068 crore yesterday, down 7 per cent from Tk 1,154 crore the day before.

However, the DSEX, the benchmark index of the Dhaka bourse, rose 8 points to 6,906.

At the DSE, 131 stocks advanced, 195 declined and 49 remained unchanged.

"If the index and turnover start to rise now, then investors will regain their confidence and the market will bounce back," said the stock broker.

Among the major sectors, the miscellaneous, cement and ceramics sectors experienced price appreciations while life insurance, travel and leisure, and non-bank financial institution sectors faced corrections.

Beximco contributed the most to the index with five points while British American Tobacco Bangladesh, LafargeHolcim Bangladesh and NRB Commercial Bank collectively added the rest.

As the key index of the stock market surged, banks did not have to set aside any provision, which had a positive impact on the overall profits.

The private sector credit growth was higher this year. As the disbursement of loans has revived thanks to the economic recovery, the earnings of banks also went up, said Iftekhar.

The credit flow to the private sector nosedived in 2020 after the pandemic put business activities on halt. It plummeted to a historic low of 7.55 per cent in the early months of 2021 due to the pandemic-led uncertainties.

The credit growth made a comeback in the subsequent months. It registered an 8.77 per cent growth in September, mainly because of the growing demand for working capital.

Besides, most of the banks are not increasing their expenses. In most cases, their expenditure has almost remained at the prepandemic level, said Iftekhar, also the managing director of Eastern and cost rationalisation.
