Erasing the silhouettes of Barishal's first hospital

As demolition begins, residents urge authorities for preservation

SUSHANTA GHOSH, Barishal

Established in 1910 with the donations of locals, six old buildings of the first public hospital of Barishal division are en route to being torn down.

Demolition work of the old buildings has been going on throughout last week. However, many residents believe that the authorities are ignoring the history and heritage of the structures, by choosing demolition, instead of preserving the landmark through renovation.

Namely, these buildings are the Chandra Nath Ward, Jagat Chandra Male Paying Ward, Muktakeshi Female Paying Ward, Cholera ward and the Old diarrhea ward.

The plaque in front of the hospital displays that Lieutenant Governor Sir Lancelot Hare laid its foundation on December 5, 1910. On July 13, 1912, Lord Carmichael, governor of Bengal, had inaugurated the hospital building. Indranath Dutta of Baisari in Barishal also built a labour ward in the name of his mother Golkamoni here in 1925.

In 1933, Ishwar Chandra Sen established the Alokmoni Female Ward. Three years later, Kali Chandra had built the Shashimukhi Operation Theater. In the same year, in 1936, Gyan Chandra Ghosh Dastidar built the cholera ward. In 1938, Zamindar Binoy Gupta built the Jagat Chandra Paying Female Ward after his father's name and Barrister Nalini Gupta built a Women's Paying Ward in remembrance of his mother, Muktakeshi.

Citizen activists said the reconstruction work -- to expand the 100-bed hospital to 250 beds -- could also be done by preserving the old structure.

visited the site and found the roofs of two hospital buildings at the brink of collapsing. The nearly 100-year-old white stone sculpture of Muktakeshi in the Muktakeshi Female Paying Ward was in line to be demolished. Donor name plates had been left out in the open.

Shah Sajeda, the convener of the Sacheton Nagorik Committee, said, "Although the hospital was built in 1910, most of its buildings were built in 1938, which, if properly renovated, would make it usable."

The hospital's present resident medical officer, Dr Malay Krishna Baral, said, "We have taken pictures and videos of the old building, which will be installed in the new building. A multi-storied building with 250 beds will be constructed here, after which, we will place these name plates in a room."

Civil Surgeon Dr Monowar Hossain informed that the construction work of the new building will start in two months. He added that the cost of the demolition of the six building has stood at an approximate Tk 17 lakh.

"The twelve storey building will be constructed here, since, there was no separate space to construct the new building. We're doing this to increase our scope of development works," said Dr Monowar.

Shubhankar Chakraborty, vice president of Barishal Sangskritik Sangathan Samonoy Parishad, said, "We've demanded (to the authorities) for the preservation of the old building's structural design along with its name plates and sculptures to be incorporated within the construction of the new building."

fees and lack of physical infrastructure were among the major issues noted by Naripokkho surveys.

"Even now, while the pandemic is still not over, the policy options are still dichotomising economic development versus social development, producing more versus social care", she said.

"The greater visibility of transgender peoples has brought awareness that at best, gender is an ambivalent category", she noted, clarifying that gender, in this case, refers to "what society makes of [men and women's] biological differences".

Yet gender codes differ according to individual societies, leading to differences in the treatment of Dalit women or indigenous women in India and Bangladesh respectively, for instance; and each of these codes is also entrenched with "historical scripts" that beget power hierarchies.

"We will use this [lecture series] opportunity to discuss and analyse the various aspect of the women's movement and other social movements, most of which Nasreen was a part," Dr Firdous Azim, member of Naripokkho and chair of the Department of English and Humanities at BRAC University, said in her opening remarks.

179th Rasleela

Ibunghal Singh Shyamal, leader of the Adampur Maharashtra Celebration Committee said, "The festival is held each year during Purnima (full moon), on late Kartik and early Agrahayan."

The raja of Manipur, Maharaj Jaysingh (reign 1764-1799) introduced Ras Mela to the Manipuri society. Since the mid-nineteenth century, when the Manipuris settled in Bangladesh, the fair has been held at Madhabpur of Moulvibazar district, said Shyam Singh, general secretary of Manipuri Maharasalila Seba Sangha.

According to Rabi Singha Rajesh, member secretary of the Manipuri Cultural Academy, Rasleela celebrates the boyhood of Lord Sri Krishna.

In Shibbazar "Jora Mondop" (Manipuri temple) of Madhabpur village, the major venue of Maha Rasleela, the programme began with a presentation of "Gustha Lila" (farmer-boy dance). Several Manipuri boys made up as "Gopal" (the young Krishna) and his "Sokha" (friends), performed dances to the beat of musical instruments.

Abdul Aziz, mohorar of Rayerbazar graveyard, said it is difficult for one person to monitor everything in such a big space.

Contacted, Deputy Commissioner (DC Mirpur division) Mahtab Uddin said they are aware of the issue and have already taken some steps. "We have increased police patrolling at the graveyards, with patrol teams conducting two patrols at night," he said, adding that they will further strengthen their patrolling.

He also suggested increasing the security at the graveyards by involving more security guards, including Ansar personnel, and constructing higher boundaries.

Meanwhile, Dhaka North City Corporation Mayor Atiqul Islam said he will direct to his social welfare officer to take necessary steps in this regard to increase the height of the boundary walls at the graveyards.
