of the store Hannan Khan Mukul. "We named it after Lord Camelot."

"After the station was shut down in 1968, we shifted to Kamalapur and have stayed here ever since. Bangabandhu's classmate MA Saleh Ahmed was our founder," he said.

"But all this is mere history now. There was a time when we couldn't handle customers' pressure. They came before departure time, and even bought a lot of books. But as they're no longer there, we're on the path towards slow extinction," he lamented.

"Why are you still running the store despite all the adversities?" this correspondent asked. He said it has become a matter of habit now.

His shelves are stacked with books of a diverse range. A large section is taken up by newsprint paperbacks -- Masud Rana, Tin Goyenda, adventures, westerns, and the like. There's Humayun Ahmed, there's Muhammad Zafar Iqbal. Another eye-catcher comes in the form of recent and classic Eid editions of various newspapers.

At the adjacent stall of Srijani, Rabindranath, Kazi Nazrul Islam, Sharat Chandra Chattopadhyay take centre stage. It was founded in 1972 by Amal Kanti Nath.

Its manager Md Shafuallah said, "It's really hard to get customers these days. Everyone is on their phones, on Facebook. We're barely surviving amidst all of this."

"Had the ministry allocated the money, we could have started working on it," he added.

"We also sent a letter to the Chattogram district administration last month excusing the time extension to start working on the project. They sent us a letter a year ago, which is no longer valid," said Md Zahangir Alom, deputy secretary of the Liberation War affairs ministry.

Regarding the letter, Masud Kamal, additional commissioner of land acquisition department in Chattogram, said, "We don't get why the Liberation War affairs ministry sent us a letter excusing time extension. There is no need for this."

"The acquisition and requisition of immovable property act 2017 mentions that individuals or organisations concerned shall pay the estimated amount within 120 working days after receiving the estimation," he further said.

According to Liberation War researcher Dr Mahfuzur Rahman, there were around 100 such mass graves in Chattogram, but not a single one of them has been preserved.

However, the Chattogram district administration website mentions 61 Baddhyabhami in the port city.
