

Enhancing industry-academia collaboration

IUB, MCCI sign MoU
CITY DESK

Independent University, Bangladesh (IUB) and Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Dhaka (MCCI) have signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) to strengthen industry-academia collaboration in areas of research, innovation and skill development.

MCCI President Nihad Kabir and IUB Vice-Chancellor Tanweer Hasan signed the MoU on behalf of their respective organisations on Wednesday at IUB Trustee Lounge, said a press release.

As part of this agreement, an internship programme will be established, under which MCCI will take in a cohort of at least 10 IUB students every year to do internships at various organisations through MCCI.

Abdul Hai Sarker, chair of IUB trustee board, and Anis Khan, senior-vice president of MCCI, were present at the signing event.

after him are being inaugurated today [yesterday] at the capital city of Turkey," said Dhaka North City Corporation (DNCC) Mayor Atiqul Islam, while unveiling the bust.

The DNCC mayor, who is now visiting Turkey, said, Bangabandhu and Bangladesh are one and the same.

Atiqul said there is a road in Dhaka's Banani,

Kemal Atatürk Avenue, which is named after Turkey's "father of the nation". And recently a park adjoining the avenue was also decided to be named after Atatürk, he added.

Among others, Bangladesh Foreign Minister AK Abdul Momen, governor of Ankara Vasip Sahin, mayor and deputy mayor of Ankara, and high commissioner of Bangladesh in Turkey Mosud Mannan were present at the inauguration programme.

country. He always wore his signature three-piece -- a lungi, genji and gamchha -- and lived with his fellows at the camp. He was a guerilla fighter through and through.

"One day, Captain Jahangir asked around for people who would accompany him to Chapainawabganj town to free it. I decided to join the team."

On December 10, 1971, under Captain Jahangir's leadership, Mukti Bahini fighters of Sector-7, along with 150 civilian freedom fighters, arrived at the temporary camp at Laxmipur Primary school in Chapainawabganj Sadar upazila's Barighoria area.

"As dawn broke on December 14, around 50 of us crossed Mahananda river through Akondobaria ghat by boat and took position near Rehaichar area in Chapainawabganj town. The rest of the troop stayed back in Barighoria and took position for defence."

After crossing Mahananda, two separate groups attacked the Pakistani army's bunkers and destroyed 17 of them. Tragically, during the skirmish, Captain Jahangir caught a bullet on his left eye and died on the spot. Though the battle was eventually won, Jahangir could not be there to see it.

"After hearing of his passing, those of us who survived the battle carried his body back to Barighoria camp, from where it was taken to Shibganj."

He was buried near the grave of another valiant freedom fighter, Maj Najmul Haque, on the premises of Sona Masjid, in presence of sector-7 Commander Lt Col Kazi Nuruzzaman.

Every year, Muktijoddha Sangsad, local administration and various socio-cultural and political organisations pay tribute to him by visiting the spot on the day.

Mohiuddin Jahangir was born on March 6, 1945 at Rahimganj village in Barishal's Babuganj upazila. On October 5, 1967, he joined the armed forces as a cadet at the Pakistan Military Academy. After successfully completing his training with the 15th war course, Jahangir was commissioned in the Corps of Engineers.

In 1971, Jahangir was working at a construction field at the then West-Pakistan's Karakoram. Late June, he managed to cross the border and join the Liberation War at Mehdipur in West Bengal's Malda district.

On July 3, he became a captain of Sector-7.

Jahangir was posthumously conferred with Bir Shreshtha, the highest gallantry award, for his bravery.

throughout the year.

"Public and private education institutions don't follow the holiday calendar completely. Many students do private tutoring and other jobs to support their studies. Every weekend, there's a recruitment test of one kind or the other, where students take part. Private universities conduct evening classes till 9:00pm. This is why we think the gazette is unrealistic," Enzumul said.

Echoing their stance, the protesting students said they will continue their protests and said if their demands are not met by today, they will begin a hunger strike from tomorrow in front of the secretariat in the capital and in front of the deputy commissioners' offices in every other district.

Meanwhile, another group of students who have been protesting in Rampura, said if the 11-point demand for safe roads and half fare is not met by December, tougher programmes will be announced in January.

Caucus on Migration and Development, said, "The ministry has only one official for five lakh aspiring migrants, and this needs to be addressed."

He also suggested enacting a strict law regarding the issue.

Lawmaker Ahsan Adelur Rahman, a member of the same caucus, said the budget for the migration sector is inadequate and recommended an increment.

"It is necessary to have action research to understand the current situation of female migrant workers," said Ishrat Shamim, president of Center for Women and Children's Studies.

"Bodies of female workers that are returned to the country should be autopsied to confirm the cause of death. In case of untimely death, appropriate actions should be taken by contacting the foreign affairs ministry and the respective high commissions," she added.

Jasiya Khatoun, director of WARBE Development Foundation; Sunzida Sultana, executive director (in-charge) of Karmojibi Nari; Mahmuda Begum, executive director of Shobujer Ovijan Foundation; and Syed Saiful Haque, chairperson of WARBE Development Foundation, spoke at the event, among others.

More info, more

Sukanta shared their experiences with the applications in a workshop organised by Management and Resources Development Initiative (MRDI) and The Asia Foundation at The Daily Star Centre yesterday.

The two organisations jointly implemented a project titled "More Information, More Accountability" to empower youth by creating awareness on RTI act.

A total of 33 youths from Rangpur, Jashore and Barishal have been trained as RTI activists in intensive training sessions at RTI Youth Camp under the project.

They are currently working on raising awareness regarding right to information.

"People are still reluctant to file RTI applications on sensitive issues fearing reprisals," said Sukanta. Prof Dr Sadeka Halim, former chief election commissioner, Nepal Chandra Sarker, former information commissioner and Martuza Ahmed, chief information commissioner, responded to various queries of the young RTI activists.

Young people will play the most vital role in raising awareness on RTI in the community, they said.

"If you do not receive information within 20 working days after filing an application, you can file an appeal which will be resolved by the relevant ministry," said Martuza Ahmed in response to a query.

"If you do not get a reply to your appeal within 15 working days, you can file a complaint to the information commission," he said.

"Without a few exceptions, the commission always orders disclosure of the required information and penalises the concerned officials in case of any irregularity," he added.

"Winter is late this year, and the rainfall prior to the onset of the season has created favourable breeding conditions for aedes mosquito," said Dr Aniruddha Ghosh, head of medicine at CMCH.

There is no alternative to keeping people's surroundings clean to stop this menace, he added.

Echoing Dr Aniruddha, Dr Abdur Rob, senior consultant of medicine at Chattogram General Hospital, said water at construction sites poses considerable risk of breeding aedes mosquito as well.

According to civil surgeon office data, a total of 557 dengue patients were admitted to different hospitals in Chattogram between July 1 and December 12.

Contacted, civil surgeon Dr Elias Chowdhury said he has written to CCC officials to start a special drive of spraying mosquito repellents across the city.
