Two pistols smuggled from Italy seized in Ctg

Arms were imported as household goods

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Ctg

Customs officials vesterday seized two pistols and 60 bullets smuggled through postal service in Chattogram from Italy, in the name of importing household goods.

The officials also recovered two other pistols, deemed fake, inside the consignment that arrived at the foreign post office section of Chattogram Customs, said Mohammad Salahuddin Rizvi, deputy commissioner of the customs

The official said they found the weapons hidden in the carton along with frying pans, drill machines, glass, soaps and chocolate.

"Two of the four pistols were initially thought to be toys and made of plastic. Law enforcement will ascertain the matter," he said.

According to customs documents, the parcel was sent from Rome by a Bangladeshi expatriate named Rajib Barua.

It was supposed to be delivered to one Mozumdar Kamrul Hasan from the port city's CGS Colony.

When this newspaper called the mobile number mentioned on the carton. One Nuruddin received it from Chatkhil, Noakhali.

However, he told this correspondent that he is unaware of the consignment.

This correspondent also visited the address given on the package, but Kamrul Hasan was not available.

Neighbours said Kamrul is working with the income tax office of customs and has been residing at the area for 30 years. He also has some construction-related business.

His wife Umme Salma said Rajib Barua Muna is her husband's friend. Before going abroad, Rajib also lived in this colony.

She said she knew that they were supposed to get some chocolate, shampoo, oil and soap from him but she did not know anything about the weapons.

forgotten by the authorities, who had promised them compensation and other The families said they have heard reports of 30 private banks donating Tk 40 crore to the government's national relief fund, but they are yet to see any of it.

"Following the incident, families affected received cleaning jobs from the city corporations, while four families got Tk 2 lakh," said Ashiq Uddin Sainik, secretary of a collective of victims' families.

"Four others were told they would receive jobs befitting their higher degrees. studies Thev were asked to check back after a while, but then the city corporation ceased all communication with them," alleged Sainik.

Beyond a lump sum of Tk 20,000, given when the bodies were handed over from the morgue, most of the families haven't received any other kind of support. Like the last two, this anniversary too passed with the families' demands unmet, leading them to question how much longer they must have to wait.

"Child marriage is one of the major obstacles when it comes to social development. Although the government has been working diligently to prevent child marriages and we have come a long way -- the pandemic made things difficult," said Meher Afroz Chumki, chairperson of Parliamentary Standing Committee on Women and Children Affairs Ministry.

Farida Yasmin, the first female president-elect of press club, said it's important to make parents aware of the consequences of child marriage and the empowerment of their daughters.

Journalist ZI Mamun, cultural activist Shahnaz Khushi Plan and International Bangladesh's project manager Nazrul Islam Chowdhury also spoke at the programme.

that two other gang members --Masud and Ilias -- joined Rajanigandha Tower as security guard and cleaner, obtaining security details of the market and sharing them with the gang.

As part of their plan, gang member Shaheen Master rented a shop at the market and brought iron cutters and other tools inside a box table to the building, under the guise of shifting furniture to his shop, the official said.

Around 1:00am on February 5, two other members -- Srikant and Raja Mia -- entered the premises and looted the two shops along with other cohorts. They then went to their rented house in Hasnabad Keraniganj's area in the morning, later selling the ornaments to a goldsmith and sharing the money among themselves before going into hiding.

Asked if action would be taken against the security company that employed Masud and Ilias, the DB official said, "We are still investigating, though we can say the company did not do thorough screening before recruitment."

They are trying to arrest others members of the gang, he added.
