Iran's removal of monitoring cameras may scupper nuke talks: UN

AFP, Vienna

The UN atomic energy watchdog said vesterday that Iran was removing 27 surveillance cameras at its nuclear facilities, warning this could be a "fatal blow" to negotiations to revive a landmark deal.

Talks began in April last year to bring the United States back to the 2015 accord, lifting sanctions, and Iran back into compliance, limiting its nuclear activities.

But negotiations have stalled since March, and raising tensions, International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) members on Wednesday passed a resolution censuring Iran over its lack of cooperation with the watchdog.

"Since then, I have imported over 100kg of gold bars through legal channel," Agarwala, also the managing director of Diamond World Ltd, told The Daily Star yesterday.

He said it earlier cost Tk 2,000 to bring one bhori of gold under the baggage rules while it costs around Tk 7,000 to import one bhori through LC.

"With the withdrawal of five percent advance tax, it will cost an importer around Tk 3,500 to import one bhori of gold in bullion," said Agarwala, also general secretary of Bangladesh jewellers' association.

Welcoming this move, he said it would increase import of gold through legal channel and help flourish the local jewellery industry.

Statistics of customs show travellers have been bringing around five tonnes of gold through the airports in Dhaka and Chattogram every month legally with four tonnes via the airport in Dhaka under the baggage rules.
