The development of a healthy country involves the progress of education and culture, as well as nurturing traditions, sports, etc. Based on that idea, Popular Life Insurance actively participates in a variety of social and charitable projects, such as sponsoring a specialized organisation run by the Bangladesh Army called "Prayas".

The company has also contributed to planting trees and vaccination campaigns, as well as providing blankets among the poor during winter. There are numerous honours that the firm has earned in the country and abroad for its various charitable works. One of them is that the company was awarded the 'Corporate Governance Excellence National Award 2014' by the Institute of Chartered Secretaries of Bangladesh (ICSB) for its highly acclaimed activities. Since 2008, for the 12th time in a row, the company has achieved the first prize by the Ministry of Home Affairs on the International Day against Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking for its significant contribution to anti-drug activities.

With the help of the local people of a small town, Popular Life Insurance Company started out as a means of handing over cheques for death and managing expired insurance claims in and around Hat Bazar Gramganj. This played a significant part in rehabilitating the insurance industry's public image, and since then Popular Life has always maintained their ethics of working for the common people.
