The meeting started at 3:00pm and lasted for two hours.

Waseqa said most of the members and others who attended the meeting didn't have any problem without using AC. "The daylight outside was sufficient to conduct the meeting," she added.

The meeting also discussed the foreign loan repayment plan taken against the power generation projects of the country. The information regarding the payment of capacity charges was presented to the committee.

The committee recommended making regulations for repayment of loans and interest on loans against power plants.

government, the country's armed forces and people during the Liberation War.

Referring to the current flood situation in Bangladesh, the PM said it was caused by recent flash floods in Assam, Meghalaya and Arunachal. She said Bangladesh stands ready to work together with India to overcome natural disasters.

The Indian Army chief talked about the ongoing military cooperation between the two countries.

He said he would visit Ramu Cantonment in Cox's Bazar today.

Portraying rural beauty of Bangladesh Samar Majumder's solo exhibition concludes today

ZAHANGIR ALOM

Renowned artist Samar Majumder's third solo exhibition, titled "Soul Searching: A Personal Journey" took place at the Shilpangan, Lalmaia. The month-long exhibition concludes today.

The artist's singular style occupies time-honoured folk motifs and Bengali ballads. Throughout his entire life and artistic career, Majumder persistently experiments with newer modes of expression – his compositions are natural, as they relate to the soul, soil and the bucolic beauty of Bangladesh. He consciously takes his artistic muse and strength from human feelings and emotions.

Art lovers can easily connect his simplistic forms that engage his ideas in a dialectical exploration of metaphors, nuances and meanings. Yet, at the same time, they depict different expressive modes.

Closely observing the lives of village people, artisans, farmers and the nature of rural Bangladesh, the artist has adeptly depicted common characters of pastoral Bangladesh displayed in the exhibition.

Mahmuda Akther, assistant general manager at PFEC Global, and Shuvashish Roy, head of business at The Daily Star, yesterday signed MoU at PFEC Global's Office in Dhaka to distribute the daily among stakeholders of their organisation within the country. Imran Kadir, head of marketing at The Daily Star, Akib Hasan Srabon, senior executive at The Daily Star, and Ashikur Rahman, manager - digital marketing at PFEC Global, were also present.

female migrant workers went abroad between January 1991 to June 2022.

"While the instances of harassment got more coverage, information related to the migration process and availability of services was given very little focus," she said.

Mohuya Leya Falia, MJF programme coordinator, said, "[The media] should be careful about their wordings while reporting on the issues of female migrant workers to not disrespect them in any way."

However, Rashad Ahmad, staff correspondent of The New Age, said, "It is the responsibility of the media to report on migrant workers' troubles. The focus should be on improving the migration process for female workers."

Chaired by Nusrat Sultana, treasurer of CWCS, representatives from different bodies working on migrant workers' welfare spoke at the event.

department Prof Dr Md Tofazzol Hossain, for the treatment of the newborn.

She is now being treated at Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU), said Dr Wayez Uddin Farazi, deputy director of the hospital.

The girl has been suffering from jaundice and anaemia along with fractures in her right hand, the doctor said.

In another development, the High Court yesterday directed the social welfare secretary to immediately form a committee to take care of the child and asked to submit a report before the court in three months.

In response to a writ petition, the HC also ordered the trustee board – which was formed under the Road Transport Act – to give Tk 5 lakh as the initial cost for the newborn's treatment, wellbeing and other necessities in 15 days.

Killing a canal

"Filling up any canal is a punishable offence under the existing law, and action will be taken against those who filled the canal without permission," Mufidul Alam, director of Department of Environment's Chattogram region, told The Daily Star recently.

Rafiqul Islam, chief engineer of CCC, said in a meeting that the tunnel authorities have illegally filled a part of the canal and turned it into a drain. Despite objections, they did not stop filling the canal.

Due to this, new areas are being flooded in Patenga. If the canal is not restored, waterlogging cannot be solved, he added. "We have written to the tunnel authorities to restore the canal to its original form. But they did not respond to our letter."

Despite the original dimensions of the canal being in Karnaphuli Tunnel's (also known as Bangabandhu tunnel) master-plan, the tunnel authorities filled a part of it to widen the nearby road.

Abul Kalam Azad, deputy project director of Karnaphuli tunnel, told this newspaper, "We have made drains for the movement of water to avoid waterlogging during monsoon."

He said, "We have signed an agreement with Chattogram Development Authority [CDA] to re-dig the canal. CDA will re-excavate it after completion of road work."
