

On one hand, you would see black velvet sleeveless blouses paired with muslin gold saris under the chandelier and on the other hand, a black cotton kameez with block prints of Bengali letters under the university shelters.

In the 80s and 90s, denim wears, liberty and freedom went hand in hand.

Black and gold, on an international and national stage, gained mass hype. From Madonna to Parveen Sultana Diti, all carried this prestigious fashion style to various platforms, movies, concerts etc.

The 20th century marked an era of tech revolution. "Black and Gold? Can't imagine life without it. It's so sleek and easy to carry. No one can ever go wrong with it. My social media posts always get an extra boost when I fashion these two colours together," said Farah Tabassum Aura, an Instagram influencer.

Azmeri Haque Badhon sported a black and gold look at the screening of her internationally recognized film 'Rehana Maryam Noor,' and sealed a most memorable day with those colours.

The Styling for Black and Gold Combo Pump it up

Golden and black stilettos are an ideal addition to your shoe collection. Glitter and glam in this colour combination can give your outfit a next level edge. From Lady Gaga to Deepika Padukone, not once has there been an occasion when these power ladies have shied away from flaunting their golden and black pumps with their showstopping outfits. Have a pair of such pumps in your shoe closet to add an extra oomph to a formal award show and even better, a date!

The clutch with a midas touch

If you like sporting saris or salwar kameezs or even dresses that have a hint of glam, we believe you should have a clutch that is your safe bet for such fashion experiments. This too trails from the bond of gold and black. Some of the most commonly used clutches are mini bags, messenger bags, crossbody bags, chain bags etc. Swing it sideways or on your shoulder, it's a fashion statement you just cannot deny. Added with the flair of majestic black and gold, it's a triumph wherever you go.

Assertive neckwear

Jewellery is a woman's friend— think of the choker, a long beach necklace, a layered chain and the list just goes on. One statement piece can instantly jazz up any look, and even more so if the piece is jet black or shimmery gold.

LBG dress

Every fashionista knows and LBG. What's the next step? The LBGD of course, or the little black and gold dress. Add the flared cuts, flamboyant front embroidery, or the stylish shoulders – the combination of black and gold will surely make it better.
