

Punak holds free medical camp

STAR REPORT

Fifty-eight year old Jaheda Begum was not even able to walk alone because of the pain in the joints of both her legs.

But hearing of a free medical camp, Jaheda, a resident of Tungipara area, went to take help from the facility, walking all the way using a bamboo stick.

"I am all alone as my husband died in a road accident a few years back and my daughters got married. How can I visit a doctor when I can hardly manage food on my plate?" she asked this correspondent.

Jaheda was seen coming out from a doctor's chamber with tears of joy in her eyes as she not only got free treatment but also medicines from the free medical camp, organised by the Police Women Welfare Association (Punak).

Punak organised the day-long camp at Gimadanga Govt Primary School in Tungipara of Gopalganj yesterday, marking the 92nd birth anniversary of Bangamata Sheikh Fazilatunnesa Mujib.

Punak President Jissan Mirza inaugurated the camp that started around 10:00am and continued till 4:00pm on the day. Habiibur Rahman, deputy inspector general of Dhaka range, and Ayesha Siddika, superintendent of Gopalganj police, were present at the event along with other high officials.

Jissan said a team of expert doctors from 11 departments of the Central Police Hospital provided treatment to around 1,200 people at the camp.

them, 59 percent of women faced harassment either in transport or on roads and highways, said Israt.

NHRC member Jesmin Ara Begum said laws should be formulated in line with the Supreme Court's 2009 guidelines on sexual harassment.

There are sufficient laws and policies in the country to address violence against women but they are not implemented effectively, said Rokeya Kabir, executive director of Bangladesh Nari Pragati Sangha.

Mentioning that harassment of women in public spaces is a global problem, UNDP Bangladesh Deputy Resident Representative Van Nguyen stressed the inclusion of women in policymaking while addressing their safety issues.

by “Digital Bangladesh” to be proactive against the menace and create awareness among people. He also said the Digital Security Act has been enacted to combat cybercrime. “The government will protect freedom of speech but will not tolerate the infringement of privacy.” Dhaka North City Corporation Mayor Atiqul Islam said the city corporation has taken various initiatives, including app-based services, to improve the Amena Begum, deputy inspector general (special branch) of Bangladesh Police; Helal Uddin, president of Bangladesh Shop Owners Association; and Neelima Akhter, additional secretary (urban transport wing) of Road Transport and Highways Division; spoke at the event among others.

At the event, 10 young change-makers on behalf of their organisations were given certificates for their campaigns on harassment against women.

site at the intersection of Pyari Das road and Harish Chandra Basu Road in Bangla Bazar, with the two roads running along the northern and the western side respectively, said Taimur.

The site used to cover an area of approximately 0.5 acres (19,000sqft approx). But recently, a large portion of the site was sold off along with its historical ancillary structures. A new mid-rise building (storied) has been constructed there.

However, the site still has a considerable size, almost 0.3 acres (13,000sqft approx) in area.

“The building is basically a U-Shaped structure in layout, with a sizable court yard opening to the south. The exterior walls on the other three sides are embellished with superimposed orders. The roadside facades are similar in length – almost 105 feet long and each of the facades is divided into eight bays comprising superimposed arcades with double-height paneled pilasters in between, giving it a grand appearance. The superimposed arcades are embellished with arch motifs supported by panels covering the whole length of the pilasters decorated with foliated motifs. "The pilasters are topped with Corinthian capitals. The two bays on the sides of the northern walls where the main entrance was located are slightly projected, adding a touch of farther grandeur to the roadside walls in the front," he said.

The roadside facades are further embellished with decorative dentils, cornices, and stylised parapets.

A projected balcony runs around the whole length of the inner walls wrapping around the courtyard, Taimur told this correspondent.

we will announce a tougher programme,” said Salman Siddique, vice-president of Samajtantrik Chhatra Front.

Joy Dip, acting president of the front, is currently admitted to Calcutta Heart Clinic & Hospital. This correspondent contacted him via WhatsApp. “The inclusion of my name in the case is proof enough that this is an attempt to stop a rightful protest for a just cause,” he said.

Meanwhile, Richard told this correspondent that he was in another programme taking place at Hatirpool, but police still included his name. “This is a ridiculously false case,” he said.

Contacted, OC Moudut said, “Police filed the case primarily. We will scrutinise it.”

On Sunday, at least 12 persons were injured as police charged batons on protestors as they were protesting the fuel price hike at Shabbagh.

hill tracts is going down, and so, eventually Bangalees will be a majority there.

Syeda Rizwana Hasan, chief executive of Bangladesh Environmental Lawyers Association, said those who grab the land of ethnic minorities, encroachment is just part of their character.

Barrister Sara Hossain said in the last 30 years it has been observed that there is a failure to ensure accountability through laws in many cases.

Urging every minority who is being suppressed to be united, Iqbal Debnath, president of member Bangladesh Hindu Buddhist Christian Church Parishad, said there is no alternative but to protest collectively.

The seminar was jointly organised by 15 right organisations: ALRD, Bangladesh Adivasi Forum, Kapaeeng Foundation, Jatiya Adibashi Parishad, Maleya Foundation, CCDB, Caritas-Bangladesh, BLAST, Bela, Nijera Kori, URBAN, CDA, TIB, HDRC and Bangladesh Hindu Buddhist Christian Oikya Parishad.

that is something transport workers are taking advantage of.

"It's like robbery in broad daylight," said Moshir Rahman Oni, a passenger.

When asked about the extra fare, the helper of the bus said the company has to collect whatever price it fixed before the fare list comes.

"Get off of the bus if you don't like it," said Nasir Mia, driver of the bus, when he overheard the conversation.

"It's alright if BRTA decides to increase the fare by 22 percent. But where is the new fare chart? The bus helpers are charging fares according to their own will. It's total chaos!" said another passenger Magbub Hossain, echoing many others.

"I don't know when the fare list will be given. The owner asked to charge Tk 25 for a Tk 20 route and Tk 50 for a Tk 40 route. We are just following his orders," said Aslam, who drives a Savar Paribahan bus.

bamboo gate which he brings down whenever a train arrives. Besides, he has made two flags for himself, one red and one green to direct trains.

He has been working from 8:00am to 8:00pm every day since last August. Four pairs of trains fly daily on Lalmonirhat Burimari route, he said.

When asked about his income source, he said, "I receive an old age allowance from the government. Besides, my wife is also a daily wage earner."

He told this correspondent that he neither has any training nor any permission from the railway authorities to do this work.

"It's fulfilling to do this work. As long as my body permits, I will try to keep at the people of my city safe at this crossing," he noted.

Shibu Kumar Roy, a college teacher said he too had an accident at the crossing some three years back, claiming he narrowly escaped death at the time.

"My bike was completely destroyed and I recovered after six months of treatment," he said.

"It's unfortunate that the railway authorities haven't yet provided a gate and gateman at this level crossing," he said.

Abu Hanif, a businessman next to the level crossing, said, "We try to support Mahir Ali's contribution by giving him Tk 200 every day for tea and breakfast at least," he said.

Pedestrian Sohail Rana said he came very close to having an accident at this crossing twice in the last four years. "Commuters are benefiting as Mahir Ali volunteered to act as gateman," he said.
