

Md Abul Khair passes away

CITY DESK

Md Abul Khair passed away due to cardiac arrest in a city hospital yesterday morning.

He taught history at Morelganj Sirajuddin Memorial College for 33 years.

Khair was born in 1944 at a village in Putikhali union of Morrelganj upazila in Bagerhat.

He left behind his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Is beating his only duty?

"Had police not used their batons on our peaceful demonstrators that day, we would have marched towards Dhaka University campus with a procession. The situation would not have been tense," said Saikat Arif, general secretary of Bangladesh Chhatra Federation, organiser of the protest.

This was not the only case of Harun showing high-handedness. The police official, a former Chhatra League leader of DU, has beaten up protesters from opposition parties and student fronts on several occasions.

On March 4, a police team, led by Harun, used batons to break up a rally, organised by Bangladesh Gono Odhakar Parishad in front of Dhaka Club to protest the price hike of essentials.

"ADC Harun or Rashid led police teams to foil several peaceful protests of Chhatra Odhakar Parishad by carrying out attacks on demonstrators. He himself beat and strangled our leaders," Nurul Haque Nur, member secretary of Gono Odhakar Parishad, told The Daily Star.

In April, a video clip went viral on social media, showing Harun slapping a cop during the violence in New Market area, as the latter ran out of rubber bullets for his gun. The incident drew huge criticism.

Chhatra Dal leaders also alleged that cops led by the ADC beat up their activists during a peaceful rally in front of Jatiya Press Club on February 28.

Harun and his fellow force members used batons on a torch procession, brought out jointly by Progressive Student Alliance and some other leftist organisations in Shahbagh on February 26 last year, demanding justice for the death of writer Mushtaq Ahmed.

The authorities are yet to take any action against Harun for all his questionable actions. Police, however, took prompt action against them Barguna additional superintendent of police (ASP) Mohorom Ali over using batons on Chhatra League activists on August 15.

A team of Barguna police, led by Mohorom, beat up many of the activists in the district, claiming that a group of its leaders and activists broke the wind shield of a police van by hurling bricks. Mohorom was withdrawn within a day, before being transferred to Chattogram.

"Taking prompt action against an ASP over using batons on Chhatra League and letting ADC Harun off the hook proves that authorities have double standards when dealing with police officials," said Salman Siddiqui, office secretary of Samajtantrik Chhatra Front.

When police do all this with such impunity, it only encourages them to be more aggressive, Salman told this newspaper.

Some DU students and leaders of several student organisations are among those who have been beaten up by police during demonstrations several times.

They demanded immediate withdrawal of ADC Harun, alleging that police officials have always taken a stance against movements with rational demands.

They said many police officials had been in charge of DMP's Ramna zone previously, but they never committed such acts like Harun did.

Asked about the matter, former inspector general of police Nurul Huda said police cannot beat up ordinary people unless life and property are at risk.

"Force can be used only in self-defence. If there is disruption in law and order or if there is a possibility of such a situation happening, then physical force can be used. It depends on a particular situation," he told The Daily Star.

"People have the right to assemble and express their opinions. It should be determined first whether people are disturbing peace and order," the former IGP added.

Supreme Court lawyer ZI Khan Panna said, "Protestors in Shahbagh did not resort to vandalism and hit police. Despite that, police used batons on peaceful demonstrators."

"The state machinery is responsible for developing this habit. If anything happens in its favour, the state machinery calls it fair, otherwise it terms it as injustice," he said.

Interpretations of laws should always be the same for everyone, but authorities change them to their own liking, he added.

When asked, Harun told The Daily Star, "DMP is a large police unit. Here, I do not take any decision alone. I do what I have to do as a member of a law enforcement force to minimise public sufferings, after consultation with higher authorities."

He claimed that a vested quarter brought some allegations against him.

Pervin, director of student counselling and guidance, said they are not the authorities concerned to make comments on the matter.

This correspondent could not reach Sust Proctor Md Ishrat Ibne Ismail despite repeated attempts.

Prof M Jahurul Islam, director of Institute of Information and Communication Technology (IICT), said after a teacher requested, they allowed Szal to run a cafeteria on trial before the formal tender, so that he can support his family.

He failed to provide legal documents, which was a prerequisite to formally lease the cafeteria to him, he said.

"We decided to renovate the cafeteria before formally leasing it out. When we call a formal tender, he can participate in the process," he added.

over the country's north and it may remain nearly unchanged in other areas. Nighttime temperatures may remain nearly unchanged over the country, said the department. The maximum temperature was recorded at 36.6 degrees Celsius in Rajshahi's Tarash upazila in 24 hours till yesterday morning.

claims. We don't have any enmity with journalists. The Ramna DC was present at the scene. We dispersed the protesters on his instruction," said the ADC. Mortuza Hasan, co-ordinator of Chakri Prottsasi Jubo Projonmo, said, "The ruling party promised before the last elections that they would meet our demand. However, they are yet to fulfill it."

Police later dispersed the demonstrators after around an hour.

One of the demonstrators was held from the spot, while two others were injured, said Sazid Setu, co-ordinator of Chakri Prottsasi Jubo Projonmo.

However, police denied the allegation.

Moudut Hawlader, officer-in-charge of Shahbagh Police Station, told this correspondent that they did not detain anyone.

"Police did not even charge batons on the protesters. We only dispersed them from the spot to reduce the suffering of commuters," he added.

independent body, and it works in favour of the Liberation War and non-communalism."

Renowned thespian Ramendu Majumdar said, "There is an allegation that we have lost our protesting spirit."

"But we should regain that reputation by raising our voice against all sorts of injustice," he added.

Sammilita Sangskritik Jote president Golam Kuddus said, "We are witnessing a strong presence of communal and anti-liberation forces in all sectors including our educational institutions."

"We have to stand against such forces," he added. He also demanded the government to increase the budgetary allocation for setting up more cultural infrastructure in the grassroots.

Other cultural personalities, including Mamunur Rashid, Nasiruddin Yusuf Bachchu, Sara Zaker, Jhuna Chowdhury, Liberation War Museum's trustee Mofidul Haque, Shilpakala

Academy's director general Liaquat Ali Lucky and eminent sociologist Dr Anupam Sen, among others, also spoke at the function, moderated by the Jote's acting general secretary Ahkam Ullah.

Later in the evening, Golam Kuddus was re-elected as the president, and Ahkam Ullah was elected as general secretary.

A concern for mental deceased were school students, while 76 were college students, 50 university students, and 44 were from madrasas.

The highest number of students died by suicide in Dhaka division (25.27 percent) and the lowest in Sylhet division (4 percent).

Some 78.6 percent of the deceased were aged between 13 and 20 years, 13.46 percent between 21 and 26 years, while 7.97 percent were children aged between six and 12, the report said.

In the programme, Tansen Rose, founding president of Aachol Foundation, mentioned 10 recommendations to prevent the phenomenon, including the introduction of a toll-free national hotline number to support mental health issues and forming a task force of experts to deal with suicide incidents.

Kamal Uddin Ahmed Chowdhury, professor of clinical psychology at Dhaka University, said the suicide rate is increasing every year, but there are no visible activity at the public-private level to address this.

"More people have died by suicide than Covid-19 infections in the last three years. But do we have any measures to prevent this?" he said.

Rakhi Ganguly, senior psychologist of Dhaka Ahsania Mission, said frustration and mental illness could lead somebody to take extreme decisions like suicide.

So, it is necessary to detect their mental illness and take professional help from a psychologist, he said.

But in Bangladesh, parents struggle to detect the mental illness of their children. So, if the parents notice their children are withdrawing themselves from social activities, easily losing temperance and showing a reckless attitude, the parents should immediately take suggestion from psychologists, he added.
