

Public health action need of the hour

Experts tell programme marking World Suicide Prevention Day

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The government needs to adopt public health programmes to prevent suicide across the country, speakers said at an event yesterday.

Suicide is a public health concern, which needs to be addressed through awareness meetings and seminars at school levels, they said.

The speakers made these remarks at a programme organised by Brighter Tomorrow Foundation (BTF) on the occasion of World Suicide Prevention Day at The Daily Star Centre.

Public health expert Benazir Ahmed said the government can appoint councillors in all educational institutions for suicide prevention.

AAMS Arefin Siddique, former vice-chancellor of Dhaka University, said, "Our society puts so much pressure on students to do well academically that they end up feeling deeply ashamed of themselves to even face society again."

Prof Bidhan Ranjan Roy Podder, director at National Institute of Mental Health, said, "The SDGs require countries to reduce suicide by 10 percent. The government has taken two initiatives – the mental health act and national mental health survey – in this regard."

Brig Gen (ret) Dr Md Azizul Islam, principal of US Bangla Medical College, said "People going through suicidal ideation should not be punished."

BTF President Jayashree Zaman presided over the event.

Those in power behind river

He also claimed that no government took any measure to save Buriganga from pollution and encroachment.

"The manifesto fielded by our prime minister in the 2008 election proclaimed to save the rivers, reclaim and free those from encroachment."

Rights activist Sultana Kamal, also president of Bangladesh Paribesh Andolon (Bapa) who chaired the event, raised the question as to why anyone with a ruling party connection gets away with any misdeed.

"Everyone retreats hearing their political affiliations. Why do the administration and police remain inactive when rivers are encroached by ruling party activists?" said Sultana Kamal, demanding answers from political leaders, police and the concerned authorities.

Sharif Jamil, general secretary of Bangladesh Paribesh Andolon, moderated the programme.

Eight councillors of Dhaka South City Corporation participated in the programme and committed to putting a stop to any further onslaught on Buriganga.

A boat rally – parading from Muslimbagh point to Sadarghat – was also organised as part of the programme displaying placards that urged people to be cautious against river pollution and encroachment.

Humayun Kabir, general secretary of Awami League's Dhaka south city unit, Kristin McCrae, director, Office of Democracy, Human Rights and Governance, USAID Bangladesh, Mainuddin Ahmed, chief of Party Counterpart International, and Prof Kamruzzaman Mojumder, founder and chair of Centre for Atmospheric Pollution Studies, spoke at the event, among others.

'Govt trying to create unrest'

Alleges Rashtra Sangskar Andolon

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A section of people in the government and administration is trying to create communal unrest in a planned manner in the country, alleged Rashtra Sangskar Andolon yesterday.

In a statement, the newly-formed political party said one of its activists, Pritom Dash, was arrested on charge of hurting religious sentiment at Sreemangal in Moulvibazar on September 9.

The arrest was made as Chhatra League filed a case under the Digital Security Act.

Rashtra Sangskar Andolon claimed that a group of BCL leaders swooped on their activists while they were holding a programme to express solidarity with the tea workers' protest.

BCL abused the religious identity of Pritom Dash while filing the case, said the left leaning political party.

The government is trying to push the country towards a conflict ahead of the Durga Puja, said the party in a statement.

The party leaders also demanded withdrawal of the case against Pritom.

Dhaka University

at the centre but the dentist informed me otherwise. I was advised to go to a hospital or manage Tk 5,000 for treatment at his chambers," said Mamun Hasan, an Urdu major.

Dr Rathindra Nath Sarker admitted to giving visiting cards to students who come to the centre for treatment. However, he said it was provided to them so that they can access necessary treatments that are not available in the centre.

Asked about maintaining the roster, he said the centre needs till 9:30am to clean equipment and make room treatment suitable.

Emran Hussain, a student of mass communication and journalism, said he needed to get an X-ray done on August 25 but had to Dhaka Medical College Hospital for it as the university's medical centre could not provide the service.

At least 10 students told this correspondent that they never get necessary medicines from the medical centre, except paracetamols and some common medicines and they had to buy necessary medicines from outside.

Mohiuddin Roni, a student of theatre and performance studies, went on a hunger strike for three days after not getting proper treatment at the medical centre. It was then that the university authorities assured him that they will meet his demands.

However, the authorities did not keep their word later, said Roni.

An annual budget of Tk 2 crore was approved in 2022-23 fiscal for the university's medical centre. Of which, Tk 1 crore and 55 lakh were allotted for buying a digital X-ray machine, Tk 20 lakh for medicine import, Tk 10 lakh for pathological equipment, Tk 6 lakh for homoeopathy medicine, Tk 3.5 lakh for dental equipment and other equipment worth around Tk 5.5 lakh.

Md Humayon Kabir, principal store officer, said there are 27 kinds of tablets and 8 types of capsules available at the centre which are enough for primary treatment.

Asked about medicine scarcity, Medical Centre director Dr Hafeza Zaman said, "We can't afford many things due to budget and equipment constraints."

"The X-ray machine is too old and the only radiologist comes twice a week. The roster maintenance gets disrupted once in a while. And about the dentist, I will look into the matter and try to take necessary steps," she said in response to the allegations.

BCL infighting reaches Hasina's political BNP accused in the case of vandalising a temple and a permanently expelled activist was appointed to BCL's Kushtia University chapter.

The letter also says that Lekhak Bhattacharjee is engaged in the stone trading business in Sylhet, where he has created a monopoly by abusing his power.

He allegedly managed licenses in the name of his brother Avinav Bhattacharjee for Hilsha trading. They also alleged that the posts in the committees were allocated in exchange for money and without holding councils, violating the BCL charter.

"No organisational steps were taken against a joint general secretary and two vice-presidents of BCL after they were caught with drugs by police officials in Brahmanbaria's Bijoynagar area since they are close aides of the president and general secretary," it added.

The BCL leaders also wrote in their letter that after the formation of the committee in 2018, no general meeting of the central committee has been convened despite a clear mandate in the organisation to hold one every two months.

This correspondent could not reach Joy and Lekhak despite repeated attempts.

On September 14, 2019, Joy and Lekhak, who were senior vice-presidents of the central committee, were made its acting president and acting general secretary after the then leaders were removed from their posts.

On January 4 next year, Hasina gave the duo full responsibility for the organisation, at a programme marking its 72nd founding anniversary.

According to BCL's constitution, the tenure of a central executive committee is two years, meaning the present committee expired on July 30, 2020.

Badda on September 25, Kalabagan zone on September 26 and Tejjagan zone on September 27.

BNP has been organising demonstrations across the country since the government raised fuel prices and adopted the load-shedding policy.

BNP also alleged that their three activists were killed while over 1,000 injured as police and ruling party men attacked the party's programmes in different parts of the country.

is saying that fair elections will not be possible if the political parties do not extend their cooperation (to the EC). Sometimes they are saying it is not the job of the EC to bring someone in the polls," he said.

GM Quader said the EC should understand that the political parties do not want to go to the elections because they do not have confidence in it. "People of the country do not want EVMs in the elections... people have lost interest in elections."

The building

water was leaking through the roof and falling on the students.

Anyone could feel the discomfort in the rooms.

Assistant teacher Bishnu Rani said there are six classrooms in this risky building. "We're facing great difficulty teaching in such horrible conditions," she said.

She added that the students' attendance at the school is also decreasing due to this reason.

Alauddin, a guardian, said, "I worry for my daughter every day as class activities go on in such hazardous conditions."

Abul Kalam Azad, the high school's head teacher said, "I've written to all the departments concerned, informing them about the school's risky condition. It has become necessary for us to construct a new building here. We've applied for financial assistance to repair our roof but received no assistance as of yet."

"At present, in such conditions the school building could collapse any moment," he added.

Contacted, District Education Officer Md Mojibur Rahman admitted that a new building needs to be constructed. "We will inform the Education Engineering Department as soon as possible."

Perfectly well to lead

Raushan, in a statement yesterday, rejected such allegations.

"It is baseless. I have recovered and I am physically and mentally prepared to participate in parliamentary proceedings," Raushan said.

Raushan also said she had convened the party's 10th national council to exercise her power as the chief patron bestowed upon her in the party's charter.

"The poor condition of Jatiya Party in the last three years and the cries of many competent leaders and activists have pained me. I have convened the party's council to protect it," she said. The feud between Raushan and GM Quader started for the party's top post when JP founder HM Ershad became sick in early 2019. The conflict reached its peak following Ershad's demise in July 2019.

Raushan is considered in the party as the one who has close relations and blessings of Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina.

Raushan has been receiving medical treatment at a hospital in Bangkok for several months.

Raushan's political secretary Golam Moshi yesterday said she is likely to return to the country by the end of this month.

NOTICE TO ALL CONCERN

'Canadian International School' is a renowned English Medium School in Bangladesh; since its inception in 2005, the school has been functioning with an utmost reputation in serving its pupils to make themselves fit to take the challenge of the 21st Century. Presently, the school is a name of trust as well as the confidence of parents/guardians of its students.

'Canadian International School' is duly registered with the Board of Intermediate and Secondary Education, Dhaka under the provisions of the Registration of Private Schools Ordinance, 1962 and Private School Registration Rules, 2017 and the authority duly renewed its registration from time to time.

On previous occasions, some people tried to exploit the name and reputation of 'Canadian International School' and tried to establish schools in different parts of the country with identical or resembling names. To prevent such fraudulent practices, the School Inspector of the Board of Intermediate and Secondary Education, Dhaka by a letter [Memo No.: 69/English/4738(5)] dated 03.07.2008 requested the School Inspectors of all Education Boards of the country not to issue any permission/registration/approval in favor of any school with an identical name of 'Canadian International School'.

Recently, by using the same name of 'Canadian International School' a company has been formed under the name 'Canadian International School Dhaka Ltd.' of House No. 22/A, Road No. 102 & 103, Block-CEN (D), Gulshan Avenue, Dhaka which caused severe confusion among the students, guardians as well as our well-wishers. A few days back the said company issued a circular as marketing campaign for admission of students to its proposed 'Canadian International School, Dhaka'. The name of the company and its proposed school are substantially similar to our 'Canadian International School'. Only the word 'Dhaka' is added.

We sincerely assure you that the company i.e. 'Canadian International School Dhaka Ltd.' is in no way associated with us and its proposed school is not our branch at all. We have instructed our legal advisors to initiate appropriate legal steps against them.

We are committed to serve our nation with high-quality education and simultaneously in due process we will try to ensure that no one can exploit our name and reputation.
