The regularisation will be done in line with the MoU between the two countries, signed in February in Dhaka.

To be regularised, the undocumented expatriates will have to pay €91 each through online banking

for processing and issuance of residence card for regularisation.

Once the applications are submitted properly, the workers will receive

"temporary residence permit" via emails, which would enable them to live and work in Greece legally.

Later, upon scrutiny and approval of the applications by the Greek authorities, the migrants will be provided with a "residence card" for five years, which will be renewable.

At present, about 28,000 Bangladeshi live in Greece.

According to mission

sources, many Bangladeshi migrant workers in Greece are exploited by trafficking rackets due to their irregular status.

Under the MoU, Greece

will also recruit 4,000 fresh Bangladeshi workers each year for the agriculture sector.

especially those employed in the agriculture sector in Western Greece, receive wages less than the European country's minimum monthly wage of €713, the sources added.

To address this problem and also to curb illegal migration, Bangladesh and Greece signed the MoU, a first of its kind between Bangladesh and a European Union country.
