Bail on mere grounds

On August 31, the apex court bench delivered a short verdict on this issue, following a petition filed by the Anti-Corruption Commission challenging the HC order.

Following a bail petition filed by Kutub Uddin, the HC bench of Justice Md Akhtaruzzaman on July 14 granted six months' ad-interim bail to him in the corruption case.

However, another HC bench on March 16 admitted his appeal against his conviction for hearing, ACC lawyer Khurshid Alam Khan told this correspondent.

A special court in Dhaka on February 14 convicted Kutub Uddin and sentenced him to five years imprisonment in the case of influencing the allocation of a 10-katha plot in Gulshan in the names of some of his relatives, including his father-in-law, using fake documents.

Lawyer Khurshid Alam Khan also said Kutub Uddin, who was arrested on September 8, 2018, by the ACC from Dhaka's Segunbagicha, cannot get released from jail following the Appellate Division's verdict.

Meanwhile, Kutub Uddin's lawyer Md Munsurul Hoque Chowdhury told this correspondent that the HC had granted his client bail

The committee asked the ministry to coordinate with divisional commissioners, deputy inspector generals and additional inspector generals of police (highway) in this regard.

The meeting held an elaborate discussion on the latest activities and progress of the ongoing bus rapid transit (BRT) project, which will connect Gazipur with the capital.

Besides, according to information obtained from the meeting minutes, the number of vacant posts in four departments under the Ministry of Road Transport is 2,890.

Road Transport and Bridges Minister Obaidul Quader and other committee members, including Enamul Hoque, Abu Zahir, Rezwan Ahmed Toufique, Salim Uddin and Sheikh Salahuddin, were present at the meeting.

A day of total chaos

the building, but had to wait for around two hours for her to come back.

“My daughter told me that she could not stand in line because of the huge pressure of students lining up for the shots. They were all sweating and some of them were crying,” he said.

As the process of administering vaccines took a lot of time with so many students, the guardians became impatient. Some of the parents had heated arguments with the centre's volunteers and started breaking the rules.

“It was total chaos inside. I would have never taken my daughter there if I had the slightest idea of such mismanagement,” he said.

During a visit to a centre yesterday, this correspondent got a first-hand experience of the mismanagement inside a Dhanmondi school. Anxious parents broke all the regulations despite repeated requests from the volunteers. Some of the children were seen crying after getting the jabs and seeing such a huge crowd of people who were loud, to say the least, regarding the mismanagement.

Another guardian of the same school said there were written instructions regarding where the children would exit from.

“At one stage, the microphone was not working properly. We were not sure who was stepping out amid the crowd of anxious parents already gathered inside,” he said, requesting anonymity.

“I had to send my nursery-going kid alone inside the already crowded centre with no idea when to receive him. When he came out of the centre around an hour later, he was extremely exhausted, mainly because of the crowd inside,” he further said.

tests for those who are selected for jobs. We will also conduct dope tests to identify university students who abuse drugs,” he said.

There are around 80,000 to 1 lakh inmates in jails across the country, and 60 percent of them are either drug abusers or narcotics traders, said the minister.

“We do not get witnesses during trials. There is a backlog of narcotic cases. We have requested a special tribunal for narcotics cases, but we did not get it yet,” he said.

He further said if punishments were more visible, then demand and supply of drugs would decrease.

“We are now giving priority to rehabilitating those who are addicted,” he said.

The minister further assured of providing government support for setting up private rehabilitation centres.

Speaking at the roundtable, Brig Gen

(retd) Md Azizul Islam, a psychiatrist, said, “Patients should be treated keeping humanitarian issues in mind. Many rehab centres are accused of providing inconsiderate treatment.”

Dr Arup Ratan Chowdhury said, “Ninety-eight percent of drug abusers are smokers. If smoking is brought under control, this percentage will drastically go down.”

“Drug abuse among children and women is increasing,” he said.

Khandaker Farzana

Rahman, chairperson of criminology department at Dhaka University, said that school, college and university textbooks should explain the various aspects of drugs.

Besides, all schools must have psychologists, as many youngsters do not understand the dire consequences of drugs, she observed.

Psychologists, businesspeople, journalists and political leaders also spoke in the roundtable among others.
