

A ticking time bomb?

haphazardly, many building owners shut the vent to get rid of the bad odour. In the process, they activate a ticking time bomb," he said.

A septic system is an onsite wastewater treatment system that processes and purifies household waste (effluent). The effluent consists of blackwater (toilet wastes) and gray water (kitchen sink, bathtub and laundry wastes).

He said Wasa prepared a 15-year sewerage master plan in 2015 intending to bring 100 percent of its areas under the sewerage network. However, only one among the proposed five sewerage treatment plants is now near completion.

Dasherikandi sewerage treatment plant is now awaiting inauguration.

After a fire incident at Moghbazar, Director (Technical) of Dhaka Wasa AKM Shahid Uddin said they maintain the sewerage lines every year. He said they can cover 20 percent of areas through sewerage networks, out of which, 70 percent are effective.

"We are upgrading the existing one and working to set up the rest of the four treatment plants at Uttara, Mirpur and Rayerbazar," he said.

Over 20km of embankments

Subidkhal Union Parishad, said the dykes have broken in at least five places from Subidkhal Bazar to Mehendiabad village.

UP Chairman Kazi Mizanur Rahman Lovelu said following the dyke collapse, people especially the farmers, in North Madhabkhali, Kismatpur Bhubia Bazar, Kanki Rampur and Charchailabunia are suffering the most.

Abul Bashar, a farmer from West Lalia village in Kalapara upazila, echoed Lovelu.

The tidal water even entered different areas of Patuakhali town from September 11 to 13.

According to Patuakhali Meteorological Office, about 250 mm of rain was recorded in those three days.

According to WDB sources, all the rivers were flowing above the danger level of 35 cm at that time.

Around 100 chars in Galachipa, Dashmina, Rangabali, Kalapara, Baulf and Mirzaganj upazilas were under 3 to 5 feet water.

The premises of Char Borhan Union Parishad in Dashmina upazila and several educational institutions were submerged.

The sluice gates at the town's new market, Sadar Road, Post Office Road and SDO Road have remained dysfunctional for a long time.

As a result, roads in several areas, including Mahila College Road had got inundated.

However, the water in the town receded later on.

About the overall situation, Patuakhali Deputy Commissioner Mohammad Kamal Hossain said instructions were given to the authorities concerned to repair the embankments.

In this regard, WDB's Arif Hossain said Tk 20 crore is required for repair work.

He also said they informed the water resources ministry of the matter.

Once the fund is confirmed, the dykes will be fixed as soon as possible, mentioned the official.

long time ago. Since then, our operational cost has increased because of the fuel hike. So we are rightfully charging the extra amount."

Nawazis Rahman Biswas, executive engineer of Rajbari RHD, told The Daily Star that he did not receive any official allegations over the matter.

"If they are charging extra, they will be warned as per rules. There is a provision to cancel the contract if the same act is repeated even after a warning. But this is a long process," he said.

Also, showers are likely to occur at a few places over Chattogram, Barishal, Dhaka and Rajshahi divisions with moderately heavy to heavy falls at isolated places over the country, it said.

Meanwhile, the maritime ports of Chattogram, Cox's Bazar, Mongla and Payra have been advised to hoist local cautionary signal-3 as a low-pressure area has formed over the west central Bay of Bengal and the adjoining Andhra coast.

Under its influence, squally weather may affect the maritime ports, the North Bay and adjoining coastal areas of Bangladesh, said a special bulletin of the Met office.

All fishing boats and trawlers in the North Bay and the deep sea have been advised to remain close to the coast and proceed with caution until further notice, it added.

Theft in power sector behind

Mahmud Tuku's Asad Gate residence in the capital.

Fakhrul, along with another BNP standing committee member Amir Khosru Mahmud Chowdhury, went to Tuku's house as he fell sick.

Earlier on Tuesday, power supply across the country was disrupted for nearly seven hours, plunging most areas into a blackout following the failure of the national power grid.

Fakhrul said the government used to brag about attaining self-sufficiency in electricity and having the capacity to produce more power than the country's demand, but people are regularly facing power outages.

The BNP leader said the blackout has manifested because the ruling party leaders made a huge amount of money by taking various projects in the power sector, but failed to ensure real and sustainable development.

"The current government is taking unplanned projects and plundering public money as there is no accountability," said Fakhrul.

He also said it will be difficult for the nation to survive if this government is not removed immediately.

Waste of money or lack of to illegal stands of CNG-run auto-rickshaws. Besides, the overbridge also occupied a lot of space, further narrowing the road," said a businessman of Madhuban Market, seeking anonymity.

While visiting the sites, his correspondent witnessed people crossing the roads without using the foot overbridges.

Only a handful of people looking for "private space" to smoke and click a few pictures were seen strolling on the bridges.

Md Rafiqul Islam, a pedestrian at Bandarbar, said, "What is the point of using the overbridge when I can cross the narrow road in a few seconds? Besides, there's always gridlock as this structure has further narrowed down the road."

Contacted, Bidhayak Roy Choudhury, chief executive officer of SCC, said, "Foot overbridges in busy roads are important for the safety of pedestrians. But they lack awareness, and we cannot force people to use the overbridges."

"With limited resources, we are unable to build mass awareness. If citizen organisations come forward, we will be happy to help in such awareness campaigns," he said.

Mayor Ariful Haque Choudhury could not be contacted despite repeated attempts.

Nilphamari farmers

also got severely ill with identical symptoms in and around the same time.

Experts said they are suffering from lumpy skin disease (LSD), a viral infection that affects cattle. It is transmitted by blood-feeding insects, such as certain species of flies and mosquitoes.

The disease causes fever, lumps on the skin and can also lead to death. Cattle farmer Ferdous Mia of Utor Durakuthi claimed that over 1,000 cattle have been infected in the district in the last one month.

Many of them are petrified as some of the cattle died and there isn't any specific vaccines for the disease.

Cattle farming is a popular business in Nilphamari. There are around 400 registered cattle farms and 150 unregistered ones in the district, and seven lakh animals are reared in different farms.

Affected farmers reported that initially small lumps are seen in the infected cow's skin, which turn into sores within 2-3 days, alongside discharge of dense fluid.

The animals slowly develop high fever and strong aversion to food, and the flesh finally starts rotting, making the condition critical.

Sadar upazila livestock officer Shahidul Islam said, "Lumpy skin disease usually spreads by flies and mosquitoes. So farmers' households should be kept clean and the infected cattle must be separated from others under mosquito net."

Monakka Ali, district livestock officer, said 500 cattle are infected with LSD in Nilphamari, of which 450 are being treated.

"We also ran 40 medical camps and vaccinated over 10,000 cattle. The vaccination drive is still underway," he added through this bridge, said the journey is a major worry. "The bridge's pillars are damaged. It's now standing on additional iron beams put in place beside the main pillars. We have no other choice but to use this bridge."

A lot of passengers cross the bridge on foot, when the train stops right before getting on the structure, he said.

Talking to The Daily Star, Birbol Mondol, divisional railway executive engineer of Paksey, said due to the bridge's age, most of the pillars have become structurally weak. So, repair work is underway.

Address climate

The former vice chancellor of Brac University also stressed preparing the sectoral NAP based on the realities of the country.

During the interactive session, speakers stressed the coordination among different ministries in implementing the NAP.

Prof Md Zillur Rahman, chairman of the Department of Disaster Science and Climate

"We have started work on the affected parts, setting up iron pillars beside the original ones. In this way, we are fortifying the old bridge," Birbol said. Visiting the area last week, this correspondent found that repair work has been halted but train movement continues.

"We supported two pillars with iron beams a couple of months ago, and work has been suspended due to the high water level," said Md Saju Sheikh, an employee of Max RTC, a construction firm working on the bridge. After the water level goes down, work to fortify the other pillars will resume, he said.

Talking to this correspondent, Md Anwar Hossain, divisional transportation officer of Paksey, said, "All trains are halted when they reach the bridge. Loco-masters then run trains slowly to mitigate risks of any untoward situation."

Due to this, the trains run five to 10 minutes behind schedule, he said.

"This is the most important spot of the Ishwardi Joydebpur line, so we are trying to complete repair work as soon as possible," said Birbol.

At a views exchange meeting yesterday, the cabinet secretary praised scientists and organisations for their role in inventing rice varieties.

Secretary of Agriculture Ministry Sayedul Islam and BRRI Director General Dr Shahjahan Kabir were present at the meeting among others.

Two members

Apart from the car drivers, one of the gang members used to bump into pedestrians and initiate a quarrel. Then, others rushed there, beat up the passer-by and fled taking away his valuables, said the police officer.

Locally known as "Ganjam Party", the gang of eight to 10 members used to roam on different city streets and snatched mobile phones, laptops and other valuables from people in similar manner, said police.

Dhaka hopes

the council. But when you have voting power, you get more time and an active role on the issues," the official told this correspondent.

He said oftentimes, the developed countries emphasise political rights while developing countries urge socio economic and cultural rights in the council.

"So, we try to ensure our rights on the global stage," the official added.

There is currently a US sanction against Rab and seven of its current and former officials due to allegations of extrajudicial killings and enforced disappearances. Bangladesh generally denies the allegations but says that it punishes law enforcers if allegations are proven. It is also engaging with the US and UN on the issue.

Asked if these aspects can affect voting in the elections, the official concerned said there is no scope for this under the UN norms. The voting is more of a diplomatic issue and depends on Bangladesh's performance and seriousness centring the council mandate.

Foreign Minister Momen said Bangladesh is always vocal about human rights anywhere in the world. Despite the country's limited resources, the country has sheltered more than a million Rohingyas and continues to help them.

The country also greatly contributes to world peace by sending a large number of peacekeepers for UN missions, he said.
