Says state minister

UNB, Bhola

The government has taken steps to build 1,000 more cyclone shelters, said State Minister for Disaster Management and Relief Enamur Rahman.

"Every time a natural disaster strikes, we find that we do not have as many shelters as we need. So, we have to turn many establishments into shelters," the state minister told the media after visiting a Sitrang hit dam in Bhola's Monpura on Friday.

After making landfall in Bhola on Monday, Sitrang carved a path of devastation across the country, snapping communications, power links and destroying homes.

At least 29 people died as the cyclone slammed into Bangladesh's southern coast. Enamur said 220 new cyclone shelters have already been set up.

Rampant hill cutting continues in Moulvibazar under authority's nose

MINTU DESHWARA

In Moulvibazar's Barlekhia upazila, the hills keep disappearing, and everyone knows why. With nothing to do, residents are watching their surroundings fall apart with each passing day.

Violating environmental laws, influential individuals are cutting hills without a care in the world. Law enforcers come to stop them but leave after making underhanded deals with the perpetrators, claim locals.

When this correspondent visited different areas, including South Shahbazpur and North Shahbazpur, he found the hills being cut indiscriminately.

According to the Environment Conservation (Amendment) Act 2010, hill cutting is a cognisable offence; no government, semi-government or autonomous organisation is allowed to cut or raze hills without permission from authorities concerned.

Locals say authorities sometimes conduct raids and sentence people to jail or slap fines. Many perpetrators receive news of such raids and stop their activities for a few days. Then they return to their usual business.

On October 21, two persons were fined a total of Tk 2 lakh for cutting hills in North Shahbazpur. But that did not change the situation there.

According to locals, such "public demonstrations of law enforcement" cannot really stop hill cutting. The local administration has to be stricter.

On October 23, one Faizur Rahman Faizul in Soaratol village of South Shahbazpur was cutting a hill, and a tractor of one Safar Uddin Sabur was taking the soil away.

Some of the workers there said they know about the prohibition. "We are day labourers. We came to earn our daily bread. The owner has dealt with the nearby police outpost. There will be no problem."

On condition of anonymity, the workers said Sabur invested in illegal hill cutting.

Every day, the workers lift sand, and hill cutting mostly goes on in the morning. After evening, vehicles move the soil.

When asked whether the administration interferes, they said sometimes people from police and the land office meet the influential and leave with money.

This correspondent found Sabur in the area. He said, "I'm not involved in hill cutting. Local Faizur Rahman is cutting his hill, so I gave my vehicle."

Some locals and a UP member of South Shahbazpur Union Parishad have accused Sub-inspector Masuk Ahmad, in-charge of Shahbazpur Police Investigation Centre, for taking bribes from people involved in hill cutting.

Requesting anonymity, the UP members said, "Illegal hill cutting is not stopping because of some officials of the administration. Recently, SI Masuk seized a truck but did not take legal actions for unknown reasons."

Denying all allegations, SI Masuk said, "If someone takes money by impersonating me,

I will not be able to do anything." During the day, no hill gets cut, and authorities definitely take legal action if they come across violations, he added.

Shah Shaheda Akther, divisional coordinator of Bangladesh Environmental Lawyers Association, Sylhet unit, said unsustainable use of land and rampant hill cutting are two major reasons behind landslides in hilly areas.

Barlekhia Upazila Nirbahi Officer (UNO) Sunjiti Kumar Chanda said, "Two people were fined Tk 2 lakh last Friday. Drives to stop hill cutting are continuing. No perpetrator will be spared."

Contacted, Badrul Huda, assistant director of the Department of Environment in Moulvibazar, said they have found evidence of unlawful hill cutting.

"We have a zero-tolerance policy for hill cutting. Our higher officials assigned me recently to visit and monitor every location. We will take necessary action after investigating," he added.

Bridge construction materials left in school; students, locals suffer for delay in work

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Patuakhali

Construction work of a bridge over a canal adjacent to Sultanabad Islamia Dakhil Madrasa in Patuakhali's Baufa upazila began at the end of March.

Previously, there was a small steel bridge over the waterway, but it had to be replaced as it was dilapidated, said the authorities.

The project, which is under the Local Government Division (LGD), was supposed to end within six months. However, the bridge is yet to be completed.

As a result, locals are suffering in absence of any alternative pathway.

No vehicles could cross the canal in the last seven months, while a narrow, makeshift iron bridge was constructed for the purpose of crossing the waterway by foot.

Many accidents have occurred in the meantime, with people, children and elderly falling off the makeshift bridge, injuring themselves in the process, said locals.

What's more baffling is that the contractors have dumped the construction materials at premises of the nearby madrasa during this time, hampering classroom activities. They have occupied two classrooms to keep the materials.

According to Upazila Project Implementation Office (PIO) sources, the 15-metre bridge is being constructed at a cost of Tk 76.64 lakh.

Baufa upazila Jubo League President Md Shahjahan Siraj is working as the project's sub-contractor.

Maulana Mosharaf Hossain, in-charge of Sultanabad Islamia Dakhil Madrasa, said, "They have occupied two classrooms of the madrasa to keep construction materials, without taking our permission."

He also said at least 20 students fell into the canal while walking over the makeshift bridge.

Suman, a rickshaw-puller, said he is earning Tk 250 per day, Tk 400-500 less than usual, as the construction of the bridge is underway, because he cannot carry passengers to the other side.

Contacted, Siraj said an alternative way was constructed, but it got damaged.

About occupying the classrooms, he said, "I kept some construction materials in a classroom due to shortage of space. "We will remove those soon."

He, however, could not come up with an answer as to how long it will take to finish the construction of the bridge.

Project engineer Rajib Biswas, who is working under LGD, said the bridge's work has been halted for the time being as the contractor did not set up the steel plates and pillars properly.

"They will start the work soon as per planning," he added.

Contacted, UNO Al Amin said no one can keep construction materials in classrooms. "We will look into the issue right away."
