another between Melbourne University and Dhaka University, for research and development on this front.

The state minister said during this year's flood in Sylhet division, the government could successfully evacuate around 9.5 lakh people in 12 hours and also provided 60 large multipurpose accessible rescue boats to flood-prone districts from 2020 till May this year, which were useful during this year's flood.

A cell could be established at the disaster management ministry which can play the lead role and coordinate the dissemination of early warning for floods, said Arif Abdullah Khan, programme specialist at UNDP Bangladesh.

While disseminating warning messages, it should be ensured that they reach marginalised groups, said Dilruba Haider, programme specialist at

UN Women Bangladesh.

Colin McQuistan, head of climate and resilience at Practical Action UK, joined the roundtable virtually.

Mahjabeen Khaled, secretary general of Bangladesh Parliamentarians' Caucus on Migration and Development; Golam Mortoza, head of The Daily Star's Bangla section; and Mostak Hussain, director (humanitarian) at Save the Children Bangladesh, spoke at the event among others.

WB warns of steep cost of climate change

PROJECTIONS (BY 2050)

Economic loss from flooding anticipated to be severe

Current heat stress patterns to increase

Increased magnitude of rainfall

Increase in salinity in drinking water

PRESENT ESTIMATES

Annual cost of environmental health Tk 4.4 trillion

Women-led households disproportionately affected

Cost of adapting for male-headed households 15pc of total expenditure

Expected climate investment by 2030 minimum $32.5b,

maximum $143.7b

CHALLENGES

Reducing emissions by 2045 to cap cost at 2pc

2 out of 20 projects included in 8th Five-Year plan budgeted

16 projects have DPPs out of 67

Limited access to foreign borrowing

Low institutional capacity to prepare bankable projects

SOLUTIONS

Substantial planning reforms

Overcoming investment constraints

Prioritise, finance Delta Plan 2100 are included in the 8th Five-Year plan, only two are budgeted," noted the report. "Of the 48 projects in the 8th Five-Year plan and 19 in the 9th Five-Year Plan, only 16 have development project proposals in place, and/or feasibility studies that are ongoing or have been completed. Overall, the institutional capacity to prepare bankable projects is relatively low."

Estimates from this year show that women-led households are disproportionately affected more when adapting to climate change. While the cost of adapting is 15 percent of the total household expenditure for male-headed households, it is as much as 30 percent for families headed by a woman. The report was launched at a city hotel, where John Roome, regional director of South Asia Sustainable Development of World Bank, presented the findings, with Planning Minister MA Mannan as chief guest of the event.

Among others, Dandan Chen, acting country director of WB for Bangladesh and Bhutan; Prof Saleemul Huq, OBE, director, International Centre for Climate Change and Development; Runa Khan, executive director, Friendship NGO; Alex Harvey, team leader, Climate & Environment, Foreign, Commonwealth & Development Office, British High Commission; Folkert GJ de Jager, first secretary, Water Management & Food Security, Embassy of the Kingdom of the Netherlands; Sonia Bashir Kabir, founder, SBK Tech Ventures & SBK Foundation; Dr Abdul Hamid, director general, Department of Environment, and Abul Kalam Azad, former principal secretary to the prime minister, were present.

JP backtracks on

Raushan, who is considered to have a good relationship with the government, to put pressure on GM Quader for his recent sharp criticisms of the government.

The Quader-Raushan rift took a new turn when Raushan, on August 31, convened the party's 10th national council scheduled for November 26.

JP sources told this correspondent that the pro-Raushan faction has been planning to oust GM Quader from the party's helm in the council and take control of the main opposition party in parliament.

The conflict between pro-Raushan and GM Quader intensified as the JPPP on September 1 at a meeting decided to remove Raushan from the post and make GM Quader the opposition leader.

After that meeting, a letter signed by Opposition

Chief Whip Mashiur Rahman Ranga was submitted to the Speaker.

Ranga, however, on September 20, wrote another letter to the Speaker urging her to withdraw the previous one submitted on September 1.

The rift between Quader and Raushan elevated as the JP boss on October 28 relieved opposition lawmaker Ranga from the post of opposition chief whip for siding with Raushan and criticising Quader.

He was also expelled from the party, which created uncertainty regarding his membership in parliament.

There are 26 JP lawmakers in parliament. All MPs, except for three to four, are reportedly loyal to GM Quader. Yesterday, the law minister, while speaking on a bill, thanked JP for attending the parliament sitting.

appointed as Bangladesh high commissioner to the UK.

After retiring as a secretary, Sabih Uddin actively joined BNP politics and was appointed a foreign affairs advisor to the party chairperson.

Hearing the news of his death, BNP Secretary General Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir rushed to Sabih Uddin's Gulshan residence. He talked to the bereaved family members and conveyed his sympathy to them.

Fakhrul and Sabih Uddin Ahmed were students of the same batch and were close friends.

Party's acting chairman Tarique Rahman expressed deep shock at his death.
