Re-styling is an avant- garde fashion action

FROM CENTREFOLD

Changing the accessories you last wore with it or embellishing the sari with laces and mirrors, wearing it with a coat or a long blouse, kameezes turned into winter coats or day dresses — you can try so many options to give your old wardrobe a new look. Reduce, re-wear, re-sell, recycle, and repair; these are the new mantras of our fashion-conscious wardrobe.

Fast fashion brands push us to buy more but remember, no amount of purchasing and donating can ever solve our fashion crisis. Amidst the bombardment of advertisements and constant promotion of fast fashion; repeating, re-styling, repairing the old time and time again is one of the most avant-garde fashion actions you can ever take.
