Postogola Maha Shamshan to be modernised

DIPAN NANDY

Postogola Maha Shamshan (crematorium) is being modernised at a cost of around Tk 1 crore. Dhaka South City Corporation has taken this initiative to meet a long-time demand of the city's Hindu community. DSCC Mayor Sheikh Fazle Noor Taposh inaugurated the development work of the crematorium on November 9.

DSCC has directed contractor M/s Khorshed Enterprises to complete the work within the next 14 months.

The crematorium will be developed around 13 years ago in 2008, it has over an area of about 1.25 acres.

Postogola Maha Shamshan sees the highest number of cremations in the country. It was founded way back in 1876, when influential zamindar Babu Gobindra Chandra Datta donated a piece of his land for the purpose.

In 1993, an electric furnace for cremation was installed at the site, but that remained unused after its initial three-month-long operation. Although the furnace was

Leaders of the National Crematorium Committee have been calling for the crematorium's renovation and modernisation for a long time.

Around 80 bodies are cremated in this crematorium every month. Arrangements are there for those of the Hindu faith who have to be
