Stride with flair this wedding season

Fairy lights and festive vibes have taken over the streets of Dhaka – it's the wedding season after all! Winter brings with it many end-of-year festivities and the much-awaited wedding season, where we celebrate new beginnings and put on our best outfits. However, no look is complete without the right pair of shoes.

With brands like Moochie and Venturini from Apex, you can select from an array of elegant shoes to spruce up your wedding look this season.

Men can never go wrong with a formal outfit at weddings and Venturini men's formal dress shoe is the perfect pair to complement that look. Its sleek and stylish design will elevate your overall ensemble and add that elegant vibe.

The shiny black exterior makes for a bold look that you can pair with formal attire for weddings and parties. Pointed or round-toe, it comes in various designs so that you can make the right pick for yourself.

Alternatively, if you are in the mood to steal the show with some good old traditional wear but with a touch of royalty, then Venturini men's zardozi embroidered shoes are the perfect pair for you to flaunt. The velvet upper gives a luxe appeal and the royal golden zardozi embroidery work adds a regal element to it.

These are available in various shades and designs, such as subtle grey hues and royal blue tones. These are perfect to pair with ethnic attires such as sherwani or panjabi for a statement look that will make you look exclusive on the wedding day.

No matter how much they follow what is trending, women always prefer to stand out of the crowd, and Moochie square-toe heel sandals do just that! Its flared stiletto heel with stone embellishment will not only lift your height but also uplift your posture with elegance. The stylish square toe will provide added flair to your feet and the stone-embellished braided strap design allows for a standout style.

You can pair Moochie square-toe heel sandals in the shade maroon with black, white, or beige attires for a bold and striking look. But if you want something more versatile, then you can opt for the black rendition that has a silver, glittery, stone-embellished braided strap design, which can enhance the look of any outfit.

Black is a colour that never fails us and its versatility makes it well-suited with any ensemble.

The Moochie black velvet clutch is all you need this wedding season. The golden detailing on the edges and scintillating stone embellishment at the front and lock make it the perfect accoutrement to carry around.

While a black clutch adds a touch of boldness and sleekness to your choice of attire, golden screams chic and classy. The Moochie satin gold clutch is a simple yet elegant one, that will let you accessorise it with all kinds of outfits, be it a shalwar kameez or sari.

You can never go wrong with metallic shades to complement the sequins and glitter on wedding attires. Thus, the Moochie square-toe heel in the metallic gold shade is a must-have in your wardrobe this wedding season. It is a stylish and versatile pair that can complement everything from subtle shades to dark colours.

Alternatively, for something classier, you can go for the Moochie embellished transparent block heels. Its stone-embellished silver strap design can easily add flair to any outfit. The fashionable square toe and trendy transparent block heel will exude an urban fashionista vibe from within you.

This wedding season, take out those gorgeous wedding attires and uplift your fashion game. Do not worry about making a style statement with up-to-the-minute chic shoes and clutches to complete your look, because Apex has got that covered for you.
