Blinken backs 2-state solution

REUTERS, Jerusalem

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said yesterday he would urge Israelis and Palestinians to calm tensions as he visits the middle-east during the worst violence in years, and reaffirmed a long-stalled peace vision as the “only path” forward.

“There is no question that this is a very difficult moment,” Blinken told reporters in Cairo before departing for Tel Aviv. “We have seen, over many months, rising violence that is affecting so many.”

Blinken described Washington as “a stalwart believer in the negotiated two-state solution - the only path to a lasting resolution for the conflict”.

Meanwhile, Israeli troops killed a Palestinian man yesterday, Palestinian officials said, hours before US Secretary of State Antony Blinken arrives on a visit dominated by a deadly shooting near a Jerusalem synagogue and growing violence in the West Bank.

The Palestinian health ministry said 26-year-old Nassim Nayef Salman Abu Fouda was shot in the head by soldiers in Hebron, a southern city in the occupied West Bank, early in the morning.

BBC DOCU ON MODI

India’s top court to hear pleas challenging ban

REUTERS, New Delhi

India’s Supreme Court will consider petitions next week against a government order blocking the sharing of clips of a BBC documentary that questioned Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s leadership during riots in 2002 in the western state of Gujarat.

The government has dismissed as a biased “propaganda piece” the film released last week, titled “India: The Modi Question”, and blocked the sharing of any clips from it on social media.

The Supreme Court will take up the petitions next week, Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud said in court yesterday.

A New Delhi-based lawyer, M L Sharma, opposed the government’s move in one of the petitions to the Supreme Court.

A separate petition by lawyer Prashant Bhushan, journalist N. Ram and opposition politician Mahua Moitra focused on the order to take down social media links to the documentary.

In a Twitter comment on the second petition, Law Minister Kiren Rijiju said, “This is how they waste the precious time of the Honourable Supreme Court, where thousands of common citizens are waiting and seeking dates for justice.”

BATTLES IN EAST UKRAINE

Russia claims incremental gains

REUTERS, Kyiv

Russian forces claimed incremental gains in eastern Ukraine yesterday adding up to their biggest advances in months, after relentless battles that Kyiv described as human wave attacks which showed Moscow had no regard for the lives of its own men.

The administrator of Russian-controlled parts of Donetsk province, Denis Pushilin, claimed troops had secured a foothold in Vuhledar, a coal mining town whose ruins have been a Ukrainian bastion since the outset of the war.

A day earlier, the head of Russia’s Wagner mercenary force said his fighters had secured Blahodatne, a village just north of Bakhmut, a city that has been the focus of sustained Russian attacks for months.

Kyiv said it had repelled assaults on Blahodatne and Vuhledar. But the locations of the reported fighting indicated clear, though gradual, Russian gains after around two months in which front lines had largely been frozen in place.

“The situation is very tough. Bakhmut, Vuhledar and other sectors in Donetsk region - there are constant Russian attacks,” President Volodymyr Zelensky said in a video address late on Sunday.

“The enemy does not count its people and, despite numerous casualties, maintains a high intensity of attacks.”

Vuhledar sits south of Bakhmut, near where the eastern frontline protects Russian-controlled rail lines supplying Moscow’s forces in southern Ukraine. Mykola Salamakha, a Ukrainian colonel and military analyst, told Ukrainian Radio NV that Moscow’s assault there was coming at huge cost.

“As we enter the fourth year of the pandemic, there is no doubt we are in a far better situation now than we were a year ago...since the beginning of December, weekly reported deaths have been rising. In the past eight weeks, more than 170,000 people have lost their lives to Covid-19.”

Sister accuses pvt hospital of negligence of mistreatment and medical negligence were “completely false and fabricated”.

Tala, a dual citizen of Jordan and the US, said her brother was a healthy person. He went to Hazrat Shahjalal International Airport on the night of December 14 from his hotel in Dhaka.

He was admitted to United Hospital after suffering a heart attack during the immigration process.

Tala alleged her brother suffered three more heart attacks after he was admitted to the hospital at 5:30am. But no cardiologist attended him and proper treatment of his heart was not initiated.

“Even after an hour and twenty five minutes after the first cardiac arrest, they could not administer proper treatment to bring my brother back to consciousness. They could not even refer him to a cardiologist for proper consultation,” she said.

Mohammed Youssef Hassan Al Hendi lived in Bahrain with his wife and two children.

Tala alleged that the United Hospital authorities did not provide her brother’s medical information and documents when she sought those. Instead, the hospital’s CCTV footage and documents were tampered with, she said.

About Gulf Air, she said the Bahrain based airlines did not send any official to the hospital to perform the duty of the guardian in the absence of the family.

“Gulf Air did not appear to take any steps to ensure proper treatment for my brother,” she added.

United Hospital in the statement said Youssef was brought to the hospital in a critical condition around 4:45am on December 14. His colleagues said, as he was unconscious, CPR was given for four to five minutes at the airport.

“Around one and a half months after the incident, a woman identified herself as his sister and asked for CCTV footage from the day of the incident and medical records containing the patient’s personal details. As per the hospital’s rules, we have requested her to apply with proof of her identity and relationship with the patient to get the information. She has not contacted us since then,” the statement said.

Despite repeated attempts, officials of Gulf Air could not be reached over the phone.

withdraw his nomination papers and an independent candidate has been missing for three days. This is the current state of the election.

“The Awami League government has lost its ground. They are getting more and more disconnected from the people each day.”

Referring to Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina’s remark on Sunday that the Awami League never flees, Fakhrul said, “Everyone knows who fled the country after being arrested during the 1/11 [government].”

It was the BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia who did not leave the country at that time.

“She clearly said, ‘I have no place abroad. This is my country. I was born here... Even if I die, I will die here...’,” Fakhrul said, quoting Khaleda.

He also warned the ruling party against considering BNP’s peaceful programmes as “weakness”. “A strong resistance will be put up if our programme faces obstruction.”

In response to AL General Secretary Obaidul Quader’s remark about BNP’s “death march”, Fakhrul said the march was a “victory march of democracy.”

“This is our victory march to win back people’s rights.”

The BNP would achieve its ultimate victory by “ousting” the current government through peaceful programmes.

As part of its four-day programme, BNP leaders and activists marched yesterday from Jatrabari to Jurain to press home their 10-point demand, including holding the next general election under a nonpartisan caretaker government.
