

TEJGAON INDUSTRIAL AREA
HC seeks list of 435
plot owners

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday wanted a list of the owners of 435 plots in Tejgaon industrial area along with the details of present status of the plots including their photographs.

During hearing of a 11-year-old suo-moto (voluntary) rule, the HC bench of Justice Abu Taher Md Saifur Rahman and Justice AKM Rabiul Hassan ordered the ministry of housing and public works to submit the list before it by March 15. The bench also asked the ministry to produce a layout plan and the relevant land acquisition case documents. The court fixed March 15 for resuming further hearing of the rule.

Assistant Attorney General Mohammad Nazrul Islam Khandaker submitted a report from the housing and public works ministry to the HC bench, saying that a total of 435 plots have been allocated in the area since 1950.

Lawyer Manzill Murshid appeared for Human Rights and Peace for Bangladesh, which became an intervener of this case in 2019, to assist the court for its disposal.

Following a report published on Bangla daily Samakal on March 24, 2010, another HC bench on May 9, 2012 issued a rule upon the authorities to explain why the allocation of the plots should not be cancelled. According to the report, the BNP-led four-party alliance government allocated the plots to some former BNP state ministers and journalists in 2006 by violating a Rajuk plan of 1994.

‘Bangladeshis key
drivers of development’

Says Queen Mathilde, concludes her 3-day visit

DIPLMATIC CORRESPONDENT

UN Secretary General's SDG Advocate and Belgian Queen Mathilde yesterday concluded her three-day visit to Bangladesh, highlighting the importance of building resilient communities and leaving no one behind.

She mentioned that the people of Bangladesh are the main drivers of the country's development and that it is critical to build inclusive societies in the aftermath of the pandemic, recent global economic volatility and the devastating floods that hit the country in June last year.

In a statement yesterday, UN Resident Coordinator of Bangladesh Gwyn Lewis said the Queen's visit highlighted once again that progress towards the SDGs needs to be accelerated.

She added that the UN and its partners will spare no effort to support Bangladesh in reaching the SDGs by 2030.

During her visit, Queen Mathilde saw UN's programmatic work covering several sustainable development goals, including climate action, gender equality, decent work and economic growth, responsible consumption and production, and quality education.

She visited a garment factory in Narayanganj, a Unicef ability-based accelerated learning centre in Dhaka, and a water-treatment plant facility in Khulna's Sutarkhali union.

The Queen also went to Cox's Bazar to see the ongoing humanitarian response for the Rohingyas in Cox's Bazar, where she met with Rohingya women, men, and youths, and volunteers working in the camps. She also visited various facilities supported by the UNHCR and its partners.

In a statement, UNHCR Representative in Bangladesh Johannes van der Klaauw said the Queen's visit comes as the Rohingya crisis is well into its sixth year and against the backdrop of a serious decline in available funding.

LIVER TRANSPLANT AT BSMMU
Bogura's Monetzar
returns home

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Monetzar Rahman, 53, of Bogura returned home yesterday after a life-saving liver transplant at Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujib Medical University.

Monetzar's sister Shamima Akter, 43, donated 60 percent of her liver last month to save her brother while the cost of surgery was borne by the Prime Minister's Relief and Welfare Fund.

The Department of Hepatobiliary, Pancreatic and Liver Transplant Surgery of BSMMU confirmed the information yesterday morning.

Monetzar was admitted to BSMMU a few months ago. BSMMU surgeons performed the 15-hour-long complex surgery on January 1 supported by the Asian Institute of Gastroenterology and surgeons from India.

This is one of the only seven liver transplant surgeries performed in this country so far. The liver donor will gradually regenerate the liver. Earlier last month, donor Shamima was sent home.
