

VOLUME 22, ISSUE 35, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 2023
FALGUN 8, 1429 BS

Star LIFE Style

E-mail: lifestyle@star24.com
64-65 Kazi Nazimuddin Avenue, Dhaka-1215. A publication of The Daily Star

Forgotten tales of THE INKPOT

Inkpot has more or less disappeared from our homes, schools, and offices. All one needs now is a ballpoint pen and a piece of paper, or just the phone or laptop. Even this article was typed out on a keyboard! That's why we hope that we do not sound hypocritical as we are now about to look back into a world without these gadgets, even ballpoint pens -- a world where the inkpot reigned supreme whenever writing was concerned. First things first, have you ever used an inkpot in your life? You may have in your childhood, of which vague memories now remain. But ask your parents or grandparents, and they shall tell you all about inkpots, be it their favourite brands or personal anecdotes they fondly cherish.

READ THE FULL STORY ON PG 3

REMAINDERS OF A PAST P3
INKPOTS

INTO THE WORLD OF SCI-FI P5 AND C
PROFESSOR SHONKU

JINGLE ALL THE WAY P12
NURSERY RHYMES

PHOTO: SAZZAD IBNE SAYED, FROM THE COLLECTION OF NAZMUL HAQUE MONTU