An attempt to impede free journalism

GOLAM MORTOZA

In today's Bangladesh, issues come, issues go. Arav Khan stole the spotlight with a lot of noise, but his issue got buried soon. Then came Sultana Jasmine. She died in the custody of the Rapid Action Battalion (Rab) in Naogaon. She was picked up even though there was no case or allegation against her. A case was filed against her under the Digital Security Act (DSA) more than a day after she was picked up.

The current trending issue is about Prothom Alo journalist Samsuzzaman Shams. Five days after being picked up and then shown arrested under the DSA, Shams was released on bail on April 3. Prothom Alo Editor Matiur Rahman, who was also sued under the DSA, received six week's anticipatory bail.

What kind of a crime did Shams engage in that warranted three microbuses full of law enforcement members to show up at his doorstep at four in the morning?

While picking him up, some of the law enforcement members, identified themselves as officials of the Criminal Investigation Department (CID), told Shams' landlord, "The state has an objection about a report prepared by Shams, and hence he is being taken for questioning."

Shams prepared the report by talking to children, day labourers and others around the National Martyrs' Memorial in Savar. He wanted to know how the lowincome groups were faring amid undermine the independence with Tejgaon police station at the rising costs of essentials. He of Bangladesh on the great around 2am. The rapid pace of asked the questions just a day before our Independence Day.

In his report, day labourer Zakir Hossain was quoted as saying, "I want (the) freedom (right) of (enjoying) fish, meat and rice." Nine-year-old boy Sabuj Miah, who sells flowers around the Martyrs' Memorial, was quoted as saying, "I cannot enter the memorial now. Tomorrow I will be able to enter and sell a lot of flowers."

On Prothom Alo's Facebook page, Zakir's quote was published along with Sabuj's photograph in a post. Prothom Alo promptly addressed the issue, and within 17 minutes, the post was removed and the online report's title was updated.

Prothom Alo issued a disclaimer saying it was a mismatch, and made corrections as per the statement, "he tried accordingly. In journalistic terms, should we accept this as a "mismatch," or should we term it a "mistake" or a "crime"? If it was a crime, how severe was it?

government considered the post as a major crime. "Picking up" the reporter proves this.

On the other hand, the foreign ministry issued a statement on this issue, saying, "The said journalist was arrested because of child abuse and child exploitation, Repression Prevention Act, which as he offered ten taka to a 9-yearold boy and then expressed his own views in the name of that

Pessimism, indecisiveness: A worrisome

Independence Day." the statement

As per the statement, the main allegation against Shams is "child abuse" and "child exploitation." The second complaint is he tried to undermine our "independence" on Independence Day. Notably, to undermine," instead of "he undermined."

Here are some observations about how the event(s) unfolded:

1. When Shams was "picked It is evident that the up," the reason was "the state has objections regarding his report." 2. This allegation contradicts > with the statement issued by the foreign ministry. 3. An accused of child abuse should have been brought under the Women and Children didn't happen. 4. In the early hours of March 29, the first DSA case against Shams was lodged by Jubo League "Secondly, he tried to leader Syed Md Golam Kibria raises a lot of questions. Later on, another DSA case was filed under the DSA against Shams, Matiur Rahman, and others with Ramna

5. How could Shams be accused of child abuse? Firstly, the child's face is not fully visible in the photo. Secondly, he gave him Tk 10 as a token gesture. How can this paltry donation be compared with exploitation?

6. Allegedly, Shams "used" the child for his own purpose. The social media post in question was removed within 17 minutes of its upload. How can it "serve" someone's "purpose" in such a short window of time?

7. The foreign ministry said that as a party to the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC), the government would not tolerate any act of child abuse.

How realistic is this statement? Private organisation Drik published a report on the DSA (based on media reports), which says a total of 4,657 cases were

voung

the family decides not only "what" their progeny will study, but also the "grades" they are expected to deliver. Overbearing parents are often extremely negligent about the mental health of their children.

that they simply don't fit in their educational institutions or even in society. They hardly find anyone who might listen to them and guide them. What does all this negativity portend for the next generation when they hold the thoughts affect a student's life, academics, and career prospects immensely. It damages one's confidence, imagination, and determination to achieve life's goals when thoughts creep in that s/he will not succeed. Thousands of students drop out or leave the country every year to escape this cynical cycle. Even a student of high calibre can fall into the trap of cynicism, eventually feeling

It is time for our educational institutions to change. With proper and enlightened thinking and decisive action, change is possible. A first step is to deal with those (administrators, teachers, and students) who have held academia hostage for far too long. People's perspectives on what success means must also change.

Obsession with conventional career paths (e.g. civil service or medicine) is not what success is about for many students, draining their positive energy and determination silently and resolutely. They should be able to follow their heart instead of having someone else's decision imposed on them - a terrible

Fear of failure and negative reins of decision-making?

worthless.

Oftentimes, students feel generally

students

Families

discourage

the proceedings to pick Shams up filed under the DSA within three years of its inception. Among them, 20 children aged 13 to 17 years old from 12 districts were accused in 18 cases. Prothom Alo spoke to people connected with the 18 cases and found out that most of these cases were filed by the police, local Awami League > leaders and activists. 8. Bangladesh achieved independence through a lot of sacrifice, resilience, blood and sweat. This independence is not so shallow that a simple act of publishing a photo or mentioning that someone demands the right to enjoy rice, fish and meat can demean it. In spite of a lot of challenges, Bangladesh has moved ahead, but some of its citizens are still suffering. Shams' objective in his report was to highlight that. From this perspective, the Translated by Mohammed Ishtiaque Khan.

allegation of our independence being demeaned on Independence Day is totally irrelevant. The country belongs to the poor, 9. After being picked up, Shams' whereabouts were unknown for almost 20 hours. This is clearly a case of enforced disappearance. Some members of the law enforcement force and at least two ministers said they did not know anything. Then who picked Shams up? What mystery lies behind the midnight call from Shams' mobile phone?

Evidently, a negative propaganda is in circulation against Prothom Alo. Participants in this propaganda are trying to prove Prothom Alo and the report as "anti-independence" elements. They are portraying a mismatched photo and a very simple error as a "major crime." Though the foreign ministry clarified that Shams had been detained for child abuse, they continued to slam the report and Prothom Alo on the basis of some imaginary antiindependence allegations. Their stance regarding "picking up" a journalist and his 20-hour-long "enforced disappearance" is not transparent.

Even if the state has an objection against a citizen's activity, can they legally pick up that person? Almost every lawyer in the country has mentioned that there's no scope for that. Why did the government indulge in such an unlawful act, then? Such acts are creating a culture of fear, which is adversely affecting freedom of speech, as well as the scope of free journalism – and yet, none of this is being covered in those discussions.

It is said that when one can't win a competition fair and square, then an all-out effort to bring it down ensues. We are seeing this trend with Prothom Alo.

Government of the People's Republic of Bangladesh Ministry Of Health and Family Welfare Health Service Division Directorate General of Health Services Office of the Director MIS and Line Director HIS & e-Health Mohakhali, Dhaka-1212. www.dghs.gov.bd

Memo No.: DGHS-MIS/e-GP/2022-23/2302 Date: 03/04/2023

Corrigendum / Amendment Notice

SI. No.	Tender ID no./Ref. no.	Name of Tender
01	786424, DGHS-MIS/e-GP/2022-23/OP- GD-07/05/1	Procurement of Laptop Computer
02	785198, DGHS-MIS/e-GP/2022-23/OP- GD-06/04/1	Procurement of All-in-One Desktop Computer

Corrigendum/Amendment Given for above mentioned Tenders. Please Visit National e-GP portal for details. (https://www.eprocure.gov.bd). Further information and guidelines are available in the National e-GP System portal and from e-GP help desk.

(Prof. Dr. Md. Shahadat Hossain) Director, Management Information System (MIS) & Line Director, HIS & e-Health Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS) Mohakhali, Dhaka-1212

APIGE A

linedirector@mis.dghs.gov.bd

ISLAMIC ARABIC UNIVERSITY, DHAKA

House no: 124/90/3, Block-B, Road No: 02, West Dhanmondi, Bosila, Mohammadpur, Dhaka-1231

W W W.10	www.iau.cuu.ou
Invitation	for Tender

		711111101111111111111111111111111111111
01	Ministry	Ministry of Education
02	Agency	Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka
03	Procuring Entity Name	Deputy-Registrar, Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka
04	Procuring Entity Code	Not Applicable
05	Procuring Entity District	Dhaka
06	Invitation for	Procurement of Stationary Items.
07	Invitation Ref. No. & Date	IAU/Reg/Purchase/Stationary/2022-2023/ 400 Date :30/03/2023
Key	Information
08	Procurement Method	Open Tendering Method
Fund	ding Information
09	Budget and Source of Funds	Own Source of Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka
Part	icular Information
10	Tender Publication Date	04-04-2023
11	Tender Last Selling Date	02-05-2023
12	Tender Closing Date & Time	03-05-2023 Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka: 12:00 pm
13	Tender Opening Date & Time	03-05-2023 Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka: 12:30 pm
14	Selling Tender Documents	Director Office (Finance & Accounts), Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka & Registrar Office, Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka.
15	Receiving Tender Documents	Office of the Registrar, Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka
16	Place of Opening Tender Documents	Conference Room, Bhaban 03, Islamic Arabic University, Bochila, Dhaka.
Info	rmation for Tenderer
	1.1 The Tenderer will	have a minimum of 03 (Three) years of overall experience in the supply of goods and related services. The Tenderer will have a minimum of 01 (One) Year of specific experience in the of Tenderer supply of related goods. 18 Brief Description of Work Procurement of Stationary Items. Brief Description of Related Services Not Applicable

Tk. 500/= on-refundable, only payable in the form of Cash/DD/Pay order Price of Tender Documents 20 amount In favor of Registrar, Islamic Arabic University, Dhaka from any (Non Refundable) Branch of Agrani Bank Limited .

Lot No Duration of 21 Tender Security Amount (Tk.) Identification of 34,000/- (Thirty four thousand) Only Islamic Arabic Procurement of 120 (One hundred and 22 University, In favor of Registrar, Islamic Arabic Stationary Items twenty days) days Dhaka University, Dhaka 23 Name of Official Inviting Tender Dr. Md. Abu Hanifa 24 Designation of Official Inviting Tender Deputy-Registrar

Address of Official Inviting Tender Bosila, Mohammadpur, Dhaka-1231 26 | Contact Details of Official Inviting Tender Mobile: 01705408004, 01705408005, 01676505008 E-mail: purchase@jiau.edu.hd 27 The procuring entity reserves the right to accept or reject any or all tenders By order of the Vice-Chancellor (In-charge) Dr. Md. Abu Hanifa

House no: 124/90/3, Block-B, Road No: 02, West Dhanmondi,

Deputy-Registrar

Islamic Arabic University

state of university students

is distinguished professor emeritus at Pennsylvania State University in the US.

THE ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE PROJECT

former faculty member of the IBA, Dhaka University, and former vice-chancellor Fatima Nafsia Taslim completed her MBA from the IBA, Dhaka University.

SYED SAAD ANDALEEB and FATIMA NAFSIA TASLIM

Two of the characteristics students said either they don't of successful individuals are optimism and decisiveness. How does our youth population – the university students – fare on these two attributes?

A constant fear that there will be a negative outcome for any decision is pessimism, which, in turn, induces indecisiveness and leads to feelings of worthlessness and despair. No matter what the decision may be, fear of a negative outcome hinders the decisionmaking process.

Experts see pessimism and expect things to work out for them, or they feel that their future is hopeless. Success requires confidence and positivity - two traits that need to be strengthened in our student body.

The tendency of indecisiveness among the present generation of university students is also very high. According to our study, 61.3 percent of students are suffering somewhat from indecisiveness, 12 percent said that they have much greater difficulties in making decisions than they used to, and academic environment, where the teacher is the "all-knowing" and "all powerful" supremo in an from pursuing their preferred authoritarian role, they control academic subjects or professions. many aspects of a student's life. Oppressive pressure is felt when nethical and illicit behaviour is also not unheard of as teachers take advantage of their positions.

One can imagine what all this does to a student's enthusiasm and spirit of learning. And where rote learning still reigns supreme in determining one's success or failure, it ignores many other promising dimensions of an individual's potential.

Besides, lack of recognition and support of the institution leave the students grasping for straws in an ocean of neglect. Especially unfortunate is the educational institutions' failure to recognise the diverse talents of their students; instead of letting them flourish, students are kept leashed indecisiveness as part of a larger set of indicators that signify mental illness such as anxiety, stress, and depression. Our recent study of a sample of 586 university students revealed a rate of pessimism and indecisiveness in them that is alarming. In Bangladesh's conventional and impaired educational system, mental illness continues to be disregarded and ignored by those at the helm of affairs. Our research found that 54.6 percent of students and are somewhat pessimistic, if not entirely negative. What's more disturbing is that 28.7 percent of

Pessimism and indecisiveness are highly prevalent among the present generation of university students in Bangladesh. FILE PHOTO: SHEIKH MEHEDI MORSHED

to make any kind of decisions, reflecting a form of psychological vulnerability.

Where does all this negativity come from? Poor academic experiences, failure in exams, and the inability to build relationships with peers play a large role. Faculty members also earn the dubious distinction of impairing students' appalling spirit of marginalisation discouragement students through offensive and humiliating behaviour while heaping vitriol. In the traditional

Peer pressure can also misguide the students, prodding them into the realms of the unconventional, including drugs. Then there are accommodation and boarding difficulties, intimidation by peers

Being constantly surrounded by negativity elicits violence, human mental health: they display an rights abuses, abysmal treatment of women, political strife, and dwindling job opportunities among other consequences. It needs a strong spirit for an aspiring student to stay positive.

19.5 percent said they struggle to a bookish environment, bereft of the joy of discovery.

> burden to carry for a lifetime. A generation full of pessimism and indecisiveness will not a nation make. It is time to focus thinking in our educational in politics, and financial woes. institutions on how to create a generation of confident, positive, and equipped youth ready to take > > on the emerging world. This op-ed, the third of a four-part series, is the result of faculty-student collaboration designed to impact higher education in Bangladesh.