GOODBYE, GENTLE SOUL

MAHFUZ ANAM

On meeting Rokia Afzal Rahman for the first time, one would most likely be disarmed by her demeanour. But within minutes, one was also likely to be overwhelmed by the breadth of her views, the command over facts and the clarity of her arguments, especially those dealing with business and women's rights issues. An exceptional combination of charm and professional abilities made her a natural leader. She was a most sought-after collaborator for most business ventures. As her reputation spread, she was invited to join the board of many companies, but she chose the ones that gave priority to women and the socially disadvantaged. She was literally everywhere -- leading business groups, advising the youth on how to move forward, and helping struggling women entrepreneurs find their footing. She was the beacon of hope for women in business as a whole.

Then there was the Rokia Rahman who was relentless in empowering women. She knew that the most effective way to SEE PAGE 2 COL 2

Next budget to be 12pc bigger

REJAUL KARIM BYRON and MOHIUDDIN ALAMGIR

The government is set to present a 12 percent bigger budget for fiscal 2023-24, the last of the Awami League government's present tenure, as it looks to juggle austerity and growth ambitions.

"The proposed budget size for the upcoming fiscal year is not that big," Planning Minister MA Mannan told The Daily Star yesterday.

Were the economic conditions the same as in pre-pandemic years, the budget size would have been Tk 8-9 lakh crore

"But we are in a tight situation. So, the budget size has decreased.'

Besides, progressively bigger budgets are presented every year only for funds to remain unspent at the end of the fiscal year.

"We want to implement the budget fully," he added. Of the total budget of Tk 759,955 crore, the highest allocations have been kept for interest payment and subsidy expenditure, The Daily Star has learnt from finance ministry officials involved with the proceedings.

Two separate meetings of the Fiscal Coordination Council and Resource Committee were held yesterday to discuss the upcoming budget. Both meetings were presided over by Finance Minister AHM Mustafa Kamal.

The targets for revenue earning, budget deficit and social spending would be set in line with the International Monetary Fund's prescription. But the budget size and the others targets will be finalised by Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina. "They [IMF] have some recommendations as they are our friend and a think-tank. We think that what they are saying is for our good. They can ask us to reduce subsidies. But subsidy for some sectors like agriculture is very much needed for food security," Mannan said.

The target for GDP growth is likely to be 7.5 percent, much higher than the forecasts of multilateral lenders.

In the latest edition of the Asian Development Outlook, the Asian Development Bank said GDP growth is projected to slow to 5.3 percent this fiscal year and then edge back up to 6.5 percent in fiscal 2023-24.

Similarly, the World Bank in its latest publication 'South Asia Economic Focus, Expanding Opportunities: Toward Inclusive Growth' said real GDP growth in fiscal 2022-23 will decelerate to 5.2 percent and then bounce back to 6.2 percent next fiscal year.

The GDP growth target is achievable. We know many learned people are not agreeing with us. But we will not argue with them. There are challenges, but I think we have enough economic strength to face those," Mannan said. The inflation target for the next fiscal

A six-year-old city corporation initiative to build a 10-storey shopping mall at Bangabazar never saw the light of day because of disagreements between the shop owners and the corporation.

Despite the glaring lack of fire safety at the market filled with flammable goods, nothing was done about it.

After deciding to construct the building, Dhaka South City Corporation (DSCC) finalised a design and hired a contractor for the construction work.

But owners of shops at the threestorey building made of wood and corrugated iron sheets opposed the move because the then mayor Sayeed Khokon did not make a rehabilitation offer to them.

According to DSCC officials, the High Court issued a status quo order on the property after the traders filed two writ petitions in 2017.

Tuesday's devastating fire was not the first at Bangabazar Shopping Complex.

Russell Sabrin, chief estate officer at the DSCC.

The city corporation's plan was to accommodate the traders in the new building, he said.

But the traders were not willing to forgo their business during the construction of the building.

Belayet Hossain, vice-president of Bangabazar Unit-Ka Owners Association, said the shop owners always insisted that they would not leave unless they were rehabilitated. SMOULDERING DEBRIS

Firefighters were still working at the site vesterday to completely put out the fire. Smoke was still emitting from the piles of clothes at the site. Many roads in the area remained closed to traffic for the second day yesterday.

The fire that originated around 6:10am on Tuesday burned down at least 2,931 shops full of clothes and ruined the livelihood of several thousand traders just weeks before Eid.

Critical views against govt can't be termed 'antiestablishment'

Observes Indian SC

OUR CORRESPONDENT, New Delhi

India's Supreme Court today observed that critical views against the government cannot be termed as "antiestablishment" as an independent press is necessary for a robust democracy.

The court made the observation as it set aside the government's refusal of security clearance to a news channel, reports our New Delhi correspondent.

The SC bench, headed by Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud, quashed the Kerala High Court order which had upheld the Indian government's decision to ban Malayalam language news channel MediaOne's telecast on security grounds.

The top court said the Indian Home Ministry raised national security claims in "thin air" without facts.

The state cannot impose unreasonable restrictions on the press as it would have a chilling effect on the freedom of the media, the bench said adding "national security claims cannot be made out of thin air and there must be material facts backing it."

ELECTRIC VEHICLES Govt finally makes guideline for registration, operation

TUHIN SHUBHRA ADHIKARY

The government has finally approved a guideline for the registration and operation of electric vehicles.

It aims to have at least 30 percent vehicles electric by 2030, according to a Road Transport and Highways Division circular issued on Tuesday.

Electric Motor Vehicle Registration and Operation Guideline 2023 will come into effect after a gazette of the guideline is published in a few days, said Nur Mohammad Mazumder, chairman of Bangladesh Road Transport Authority. The development comes more than four years after a draft guideline was submitted to the division in November 2018. The division then sent a four-member delegation to India to gain experience. The guideline was formulated as per section 124 of the Road Transport Act 2018.

As per the guideline, electric vehicles are those that are run by one or more electric motors powered by electric charge or rechargeable batteries. Battery-run rickshaws, vans and bicycles are not in this category.

Moreover, the battery-run easy-bikes, which saw a sharp rise over the years, will be outside the purview of this guideline, said the BRTA chairman.

Only the models of vehicles approved by the government committee will be considered electric vehicles, he told The Daily Star yesterday. WHY THE GUIDELINE? The importance of electric vehicles is growing. Bangladesh, under Nationally Determined Contribution, has promised to reduce emission of 3.4 million tonnes of carbon dioxide from the transport sector by 2030, reads the guideline.

In this given situation, at least 30 percent motor vehicles will have to be electric ones by 2030, it added.

Currently, BRTA provides registration and receives fees from electric vehicles following an executive order by the Road Transport and Highways Division, said a SEE PAGE 10 COL 4

Officer's body recovered from family planning headquarters

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The body of a family planning officer, whose salary had been stopped for over two years, was found hanging in the accountant's room at the Directorate General of Family Planning headquarters in the capital.

Manowarul Islam, of Bogura, was a medical officer of the DGFP. He used to live in the capital's Narinda area with his wife, two daughters, and a son

A divisional enquiry was underway against him for an allegation of financial misappropriation when he was attached to Raipura upazila family planning office in Narsingdi, according to police.

The law enforcers recovered the body on Tuesday from room no 1201 on the 12th floor of the DGFP headquarters in Karwanbazar.

The body was sent to Shaheed Shuhrawardy Medical College Hospital for autopsy that night.

Shah Alam, inspector (investigation) of Tejgaon Police Station, said, "We primarily suspect it to be a death by suicide." He said they were investigating to see if it could be something else.

After autopsy, the body was handed over to the relatives yesterday, sources at the hospital said last night.

Manowarul's brother Monirul Haque, however, claimed that his brother was killed.

An unnatural death case was lodged with the police station, said the inspector.

The Daily Star could not reach DGFP officials for comments.

Terming the Bangabazar fire a very tragic incident, Hasina said it is too much to bear the suffering of so many businesspeople ahead of the Eid.

She said the government had taken up a project to construct a planned market at Bangabazar following the fires in 1995 and 2018. But some people obstructed the move and filed a writ petition with the High Court, which put a stay order in place, the PM added.

If the process was not halted at FROM PAGE 1 that time, the government could have built a good market there, and such a terrible accident would not have happened, Hasina added.

It was this Rokia Rahman that became the chairperson of the Mediaworld, the owning company of The Daily Star, in 2002, at the demise of her husband, Azimur Rahman, a highly respected business person and the founding chair of Mediaworld. The Daily Star got a new chair and I got a new guide and over time a committed fellow traveller for free media and a personal friend. As the company's chair.

With her extraordinary business expertise, she guided The Daily Star's revenue growth and made the paper financially strong. She insisted on the highest standard in accounting and strove to bring the most innovative business practices to the organisation. It would be a different kind of pride that she would exude while receiving the highest taxpayer award as the her 21 years of chairmanship was any question ever raised about the editorial position that the paper took.

Roki to her friends and Roki Bhabi to her admirers including me, she was the epitome of gentleness, care and courtesy. With the never-fading smile on her face, inexhaustible energy, and tremendous sensitivity to other people's feelings, she would lead business bodies, participate in Eternal Peace.

A trailblazer for women in business entrepreneurial prowess that left an indelible mark on the country's business community, inspiring others to pursue their dreams. She was determined to help women entrepreneurs break barriers and succeed in a male-dominated business world.

Rokia was the vice president of International Chamber of Commerce ICC, Bangladesh. She was the chairman of RR and Arlinks groups of companies. She was also the chairman of MIDAS Financing Limited.

She undertook initiatives in different sectors and left a lasting legacy in the media, insurance, real estate, and financial institute sectors. In 2001, she became an adviser to the caretaker government.

Rokia's career, however, started with a job at a commercial bank in 1962 – pre-independence period.

At the time, women working in banks was a rarity and Rokia became one of the very few female bankers. Within two years, she became the first woman bank manager of the country and also led the first femaleonly customer branch in Dhaka.

After a few years of banking Rokia took another bold decision: to leave the career she had worked so hard to build and look after her children.

But the entrepreneurial spirit that lay dormant in her could not be ignored for long.

In 1980, she ventured into the agro-based industry, setting up a cold storage in Munshiganj.

But the path to success was riddled with unexpected obstacles.

Remembering that time, she had said in an interview that she would have to cross a river on a public launch to visit her business.

"It was a three-hour journey from Dhaka, but it was a beautiful experience. I used to have jhaalmuri (spicy puffed rice) and other mouthwatering foods during the journey.

"However, I sometimes experienced storms. I would be terrified when the launch would sway to one side and everyone would rush to the doors so that they could jump into river in case the situation got worse."

Of the 15 cold storage owners in that area, she was the only woman.

"The villagers were eager to help me, but they wondered if a woman could actually run a business."

But soon enough they realised how serious and capable she was as they benefitted from her cold storage, which allowed them to store their produce all year round.

In 1982, she joined the board of MIDAS, which provides loans to SMEs.

Rokia helped the MIDAS board implement her idea of collateral-free loans for women entrepreneurs.

"In 1991, we launched a collateralfree loans project and we got tremendous response. Many women started to set up boutique businesses. We used to inspire the new loan takers by telling the success stories of others women," she said in an interview.

"Although many big businesses default on their loans, our recovery rate was almost 100 percent. A woman even came to pay her installment by rickshaw during a hartal."

Rokia also helped MIDAS introduce marketing assistance for women entrepreneurs by launching

MIDAS Mini Mart and MIDAS Trade Fair.

Apart from her achievements in business, she championed the cause of women by helping countless of them become self-reliant.

In 1994, the first Women Entrepreneurs Association was formed in Bangladesh with Rokia as the founder president. She was also the founder president of Bangladesh Federation of Women Entrepreneurs launched in 2006. She formed Women in Small Enterprises to further help women get a firm footing in small enterprises and industries.

For the women she helped succeed, she was a torchbearer and guardian angel.

Sadequa Hassan Sejuti, an entrepreneur who closely worked with Rokia for many years, said, "The women who came to get assistance from her were never turned away. When a new women entrepreneur would come to show their first products, she would collect most of the pieces as their first buyer.

"She would also leave no stone unturned to market and brand those products.'

Mentioning Rokia's innate humility when interacting with people despite having such a stellar career herself, Shejuti said, "We have lost an idol, a legend."

Her family members too said she would always keep in touch with the farmers she worked with and treated everyone equally, whether they were village farmers, top business leaders or government officials.

But for Rokia, there were more positions waiting for her to fill.

She was a staunch supporter of free media, serving the boards of the country's top two Bangla and English-language dailies.

She was the chairperson of Mediaworld Ltd, the owning company of The Daily Star, and a director of Mediastar Limited, the owning company of Prothom Alo.

She was a board member of MRDI, a leading media training organisation based in Dhaka, and a member of Brac's governing body.

"She always backed ethical journalism and encouraged women journalists," said Hasibur Rahman, executive director at MRDI.

In 1999, she was appointed director of Bangladesh Bank, becoming the first woman in South Asia to hold such a position. She was the president of the Bangladesh Employers Federation and was also a director of Reliance Insurance Ltd. She is the former president of Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce and Industries - MCCI, Dhaka.

Born in 1941 in a respectable Muslim family in Kolkata, she had her schooling in the Lorreto House. She then went to St Joseph's Convent School in Karachi, after which she graduated from St Joseph's College in 1962. Two years later, she received a diploma in banking from the Institute of Bankers of Pakistan. She then went onto studying management at Tufts University in the US in 1995.

Her father late Ali Afzal was a former secretary of the Bengal Legislative Assembly and joint secretary of the then Pakistan National Assembly. Her grandfather Khan Bahadur Fazle Rabbi was the Dewan of Murshidabad during the British rule.

In 1964, Rokia married Azimur Rahman, former chairman of Arlinks Group and founder chairman of Mediaworld Ltd and Mediastar Ltd.

He passed away in 2001.

Despite all her successes in the business world, at home she was a devoted mother and doting grandmother to her two grandsons and three granddaughters, with whom she shared a special bond.

She loved to cook, never failing to make her signature Kashmiri mango pickle and guava jelly every year and distribute them among relatives amid her busy schedule. She was modern and progressive in her outlook but also deeply religious.

Self-effacing and soft spoken, her demeanour belied the toughness of an astute business leader who has left a legacy of showing the world how enterprising and innovative women can be, if given the right opportunity and support.

Throughout her illustrious career, it is no surprise that Rokia received numerous awards, including the Leading women entrepreneurs of the world, Monte Carlo 1999; Businessperson of the Year-2003 by the American Chamber of Commerce in Bangladesh; the Privadarshani award in India, and the Deshbondhu Award for Women Empowerment Rokia Afzal Rahman's namaz-e janaza will be held in the capital's Gulshan Azad Masjid on Friday after Asr prayers. Her family has requested all her friends, family and well wishers to join. She will be laid to rest at the Banani graveyard the same day.

A Dua Mahfil was held at The Daily Star Centre yesterday evening to pray for the salvation of her soul.

Fire service to identify risky markets

DIPAN NANDY and SAJJAD HOSSAIN

Fire Service and Civil Defence will start a survey to identify risky market buildings in the capital from today, said its director general Brig Gen Md Main Uddin.

"We will survey as per Bangladesh National Building Code (BNBC)," he said vesterday.

"A market, building or an establishment is supposed to have enough exits and entrance points, and fire safety measures in proportion with the number of people who visit or stay there," he said while talking with reporters in front of the fire service headquarters, after visiting Bangabazar, which burnt to ashes in a devastating fire on Tuesday.

Main said fire service members, along with market owners, will conduct a survey and tell the market authorities about their next course of action.

He said, "We will start the survey from Gausia Market in the capital's New Market area, and Rajdhani Super Market in Tikatuli, as we think those may be vulnerable to fire."

In reply to a query, the fire official said they have a list of risky markets and buildings, but he could not immediately say how many are on the list.

"Fire-hydrant systems exist in all developed cities. But these mechanisms only exist in some Dhaka factories," he added.

In a building, a fire-hydrant system is a safety measure or emergency equipment that provides a source of water to assist firefighters during a fire, according to fire service officials.

Bangladesh needs between $1.53 billion and $1.71 billion of annual investment from 2024 to 2041 to meet the ambitious target of producing 40 percent of power from clean energy sources by 2041.

The Institute for Energy Economics and Financial Analysis (IEEFA) yesterday estimated the figure in a study, saying that the country's existing power system can incorporate 1,700 megawatts (MW) to 3,400 MW of solar power and 2,500 to 4,000 MW of wind power. However, the total cost did not include the cost for grid modernisation and storage facilities. The study, titled "Charting an Electricity Sector Transition Pathway for Bangladesh", also mentioned that the country could manage such investments with the help of funding channels, including local resources international sources like and multilateral agencies, climate funds and global pension, private equity and infrastructure funds.

"The government should translate the renewable-energy policy target into a year-wise action plan, backed by a monitoring mechanism to track its progress," said the study's author Shafiqul Alam, energy finance analyst at IEEFA.

Last year, high prices of fossil fuel and increased power generation costs led to a subsidy burden of $2.82 billion, a steep rise of 152 percent from the previous year, and 301 percent from fiscal 2019-20.

Damaged embankment threatens croplands

MD AMINUL ISLAM, Netrakona

Hundreds of farmers in Netrakona's Kalmakanda and Barhatta upazilas are facing a serious threat, as several damaged parts of the 10-kilometrelong flood-protection embankment, stretching from Ambari to Hirakanda of Kalmakanda's Pogla union, are yet to be completely repaired. Funded by Japan International Cooperative Agency (Jica), the embankment was built under the supervision of Local Government Engineering Department (LGED), spending Tk 1.84 crore in 2019, to protect boro fields from flash floods. However, about one and a half kilometres of the dam, stretching from Charulia to Pathanpara area, suffered a serious blow during last year's flood, locals said.

The embankment got damaged at different points as several holes developed on it due to heavy rainfall, they added.

However, Jica stopped releasing funds for the repair work, following а conflict among members Dashdar Ranigaon Water of Management Cooperative Samity, local farmers alleged.

upcoming Although the monsoon is much closer, the broken portions are yet to be completely repaired. Farmers fear that their standing boro fields might get affected by the flash flood this year. Farmer Ashraf Ali of Ranigaon village said it is quite unfortunate as they are gradually becoming victims of personal feuds among members of the cooperative society.

The cooperative society was formed so that farmers could benefits through proper get monitoring, but now they are worried about whether they will be able to harvest their crops or not.

Boro is the main crop of people living in the haor areas, and they will lose everything if a flash flood affects their boro fields. Pogla Union Parishad (UP)

Chairman Mozammel Haque said if the embankment is not repaired immediately, boro fields on about 1,500 acres of land in different haor areas, including Manduria, Pitua, Chatigaon, Biarbanda and Dogra Beel, might get badly affected during the monsoon.

During a recent visit to the area, local lawmaker Manu Majumder talked to the farmers and locals and assured them of repairing the structure as soon as possible, the chairman said.

Residents said members of the cooperative society are divided into two groups for their personal interest.

Injured PUST students handed over to families BCL, proctor allege them of being involved with Shibir

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Pabna

At last three injured students of Pabna University of Science and Technology (PUST), who were allegedly tortured by BCL activists, were handed over to their families.

BCL men allegedly tortured the three students at a residential hall on Tuesday night and early Wednesday, on allegations against the three being involved with Chhatra Shibir.

Golam The three injured are Rahman Joy, a master's student of public administration; Asadul Islam, a senioryear student of English; and Azizul Haque, a third-year student of engineering.

According to sources, a group of BCL men suddenly charged the three students when they were at Shaheed Minar compound on Tuesday night.

They then took the three to Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman Hall and allegedly tortured them.

Around 3:00am, the proctor called the police and handed the injured over to them. SEE PAGE 4 COL 7

TK 10 LAKH BRIBE Rajshahi income tax officer sent to jail

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Rajshahi

A Rajshahi court yesterday sent an income tax official to jail over receiving Tk 10-lakh bribe from a physician.

The court of Rajshahi metropolitan sessions judge rejected the bail prayer of the official, Mohibul Islam Bhuiyan, and ordered to send him to jail, said Amir Hossain, an additional director of the Anti-Corruption Commission (ACC).

Earlier in a raid at the income tax commissioner's office on Tuesday, ACC of Rajshahi arrested Bhuiyan.

The ACC team caught him red-handed when he was taking Tk 10 lakh from Fatima Siddika, a physician. A nine-member ACC team conducted the raid, and staffers of the office scuffled with the team at that time.

Later, Aminul Islam, a deputy director of the divisional office of ACC, filed a case against Bhuiyan with the integrated district office of Rajshahi ACC.

Describing the case, ACC's Amir said Bhuiyan called Fatima at his office a month ago and demanded Tk 8 lakh in exchange for reducing her income tax.

When Fatima declined to pay, Bhuiyan threatened her of reopening and reevaluating five years of her tax files.

As Fatima ignored the threats, he reopened five years of her files and demanded Tk 2 crore bribe to settle the matter.

On March 29, Fatima contacted ACC in Dhaka.

With knowledge of the ACC officials, Fatima continued bargaining with Bhuiyan, who agreed to settle for Tk 50 lakh.

She went to Bhuiyan's office on Tuesday and paid him Tk 10 lakh, and ACC officials caught Bhuivan.

ACC placed Bhuiyan before the metropolitan sessions judge's court yesterday noon.

A Natore court vesterday sentenced six people to death and four to life imprisonment for abducting and raping a college student over 10 years ago.

The court also fined each one of the convicts Tk 1 lakh.

Those who got death penalty are -- Md Sabbir Ahmed, Md Rezaunul Rabbi, Md Nazmul Md Rajibul Haque, Hasan, Md Ripon and Md Shahidul.

Md Monirul Islam, Md Khairul Islam, Md Átaul Islam Ataur and Md Rezaul Karim received life-term imprisonment on the day.

Judge Muhammad Abdur Rahim of Natore Women and Child Abuse Prevention Tribunal gave the verdict.

According to case documents, on October 19, 2012, the victim left for college for urgent work and met Sabbir Ahmed on the way.

Later that same day, the convicts took the girl to the Eidgaon field of the district's Mirzapur area, and then raped her multiple times.

Locals then rescued the girl in an unconscious state, and police arrested the group.

On October 20 that year, the girl's father filed a case with Singra police station.

Court's Special Public Prosecutor (SPP) Advocate Anisur Rahman said that after almost 10 years of investigation and evidence gathering, the court finally gave the verdict.

Besides, the court acquitted a person, as he was not involved in this incident.

JAYA AHSAN'S love letter from Japan

The gorgeous Jaya Ahsan has transcended the boundaries of Bangladesh and India with her powerful performances on the silver screen. The actress who is a travel enthusiast by heart, has arrived in Japan for the first time and is fully enchanted by the scenic beauties and big landscapes. Straight from Japan, the 'Debi' actress tells her own account and how she fell in love with the enamouring Cherry flowers.

SHAH ALAM SHAZU

It's a magical time in Japan as Cherry Blossoms are blooming all over the country. You are drawn towards the pink blossoms which captivate your visions. This is the first time that I have come to Japan with my family and I am completely engrossed by the fragrance of Cherry flowers.

For a long time, I have heard stories about Japan, the land of the rising sun, where people are the most benevolent. Although I have been to many countries, there is something about

Japan which is making me excitedly travel from one city to another. I have a strong desire to

On the evening of March 25, 2017, two grenades exploded around 400 metres away from Atia Mahal when the drive was going on. Seven people, including Rab's intelligence wing director Lt Col Abul Kalam Azad and two police officers, died in the attack.

Later, Rab, SWAT and Bangladesh Army took part in the operation.

After the army-led "Operation Twilight", bodies of four people, including a woman, were recovered from inside the building.

Three cases were filed with Moglabazar Police Station after the operation. One was lodged under the Anti-Terrorism Act and two others in connections with bomb blast and murder

Initially investigated by the police, the cases were later transferred to Police Bureau of Investigation for further investigation.

On July 14, 2019, PBI filed the final report with the court in two cases related to bomb blast and murder, and requested it to dismiss the cases.

On September 7 that year, PBI submitted charge sheet of the case filed under the Anti-Terrorism Act to the court, accusing three people.

astronomers' understanding of the early universe.

In two studies published in the Nature Astronomy journal, astronomers revealed they have "unambiguously detected" the four most distant galaxies ever observed.

The galaxies date from 300 to 500 million years after the Big Bang more than 13 billion years ago, when the universe was just two percent of its current age.

That means the galaxies are from what is called "the epoch of reionisation," a period when the first stars are believed to have emerged.

"We want a fair election. America also wants that. We don't disagree with that. We have already made necessary institutional arrangements to ensure a free and fair election," Momen added.

The epoch came directly after the cosmic dark ages brought about by the Big Bang.

Stephane Charlot, a researcher at and co-author of the two new studies, told AFP that the farthest galaxy called JADES-GS-z13-0 -- formed 320 million years after the Big Bang.

That is the greatest distance ever observed by astronomers, he said.

The Webb telescope also confirmed the existence of JADES-GS-z10-0, which dates from 450 million years after the Big Bang and had previously been spotted by the Hubble Space Telescope.

"But instead of appearing before the committee, she sent an email that she is abroad," added the Biman boss.

The aviation regulator did not even taken permission from Rajuk to fill the around 30-acre pond, which had long been used as a water retention pond for Ashkona, Uttarkhan and Dakshinkhan areas.

However, Caab Chairman Air Vice Marshal M Mafidur Rahman had told The Daily Star that they were implementing the project without affecting the environment.

According to a 2019 study by the Bangladesh Institute of Planners (BIP), the central Dhaka area lost 3,440 acres out of 9,556 acres of its flood flow zones, water retention areas, and water bodies since the publication of Dhaka's DAP in 2010.

Urban planning expert Adil Mohammad Khan said water bodies are supposed to cover Dhaka city's 12 to 15 percent area considering its population but the coverage in central Dhaka area is only around five percent.

"We didn't feel the necessity of protecting area-based ponds even though different structures have been constructed filling ponds over the years. We have also built roads and box culverts on canals destroying the water network," he said.

Ponds should be protected not only in the capital but also in other cities and towns, and the government will have to take necessary immediate steps in this regard, said Adil, also a former general secretary of BIP.

"A new provision has been incorporated in the DAP-2022 for transfer of development rights. Using these rights, we can even protect private ponds," he said.

Iqbal Habib, joint secretary of Bangladesh Paribesh Andolon, said a pond or an alternative hydrant system is a must in a particular area, but unfortunately there is no hydrant system in the capital and the ponds are also being filled.

Since wetland protection act-2000 came into force, there is no scope for filling a single pond or water body, but the law is not enforced, he added.

Shafiul vowed that they would follow due process. "Good governance must be established in Biman. We will bring everything on track."

Even though Sadia said she has left the country, a number of sources in the carrier told this newspaper that she was actually in Bangladesh.

Meanwhile, a section of Biman officials was critical of CAAB for seeking an explanation from the carrier for appointing Captain Ishtiaque Hossain as chief of planning and scheduling.

"CAAB has nothing to do with this appointment. A competent person like Capt Ishtiaque is very necessary for Biman," said a senior pilot of Biman.

year would be 6 percent, up from this fiscal year's target of 5.6 percent.

Both the ADB and the WB forecasted inflation to be upwards of 6 percent next fiscal year. The WB's projection is 6.5 percent and the ADB's is 6.6 percent.

The budget for the annual development programme would be Tk 263,000 crore, up 6.9 percent from this year's allocation.

The allocation for interest payment will be 27 percent more at Tk 102,376 crore on the back of the depreciation of the taka.

"For the same reason, the allocation for interest payment rose by Tk 9,638 crore in this year's revised budget," said a finance ministry official.

Subsidy expenditure was also increased in the revised budget and will increase in the upcoming budget

In the original budget for this year, Tk 81,000 crore was kept for subsidy expenditure; it was topped up by Tk 21,000 in the revised budget.

In fiscal 2023-24, subsidy expenses would take up Tk 100,134 crore.

The total revenue collection target would be Tk 500,000 crore, which is 5 percent more than this fiscal year's.

Of the sum, the National Board of Revenue has been tasked with fetching Tk 430,000 crore, which is 16.2 percent more than this year.

BOOK REVIEW: FICTION

Love and caste collide

'Pyre' by Perumal Murugan, trans. Aniruddhan Vasudevan (Pushkin Press, 2022), longlisted for the International Booker Prize 2023

SHAHRIAR SHAAMS

Coming from a family that boasts numerous elopements spanning generations, perhaps I am uniquely suited to talk about Perumal Murugan's Pyre. I have seen, first-hand, the shake-ups of loyalty, the attempts to disinherit one's own and the clear revulsion that stories of runaway love bring. Murugan's novel is, in this regard, a familiar read that takes on these issues with memorable simplicity. Translated from the Tamil by where social taboos regarding sex are relaxed. The literary merits of the book failed to surpass right-wing propaganda, as is usually the case, and the book came under fire for being "controversial". Murugan, in dramatic fashion, even quit writing. In a Facebook post, he said, "Perumal Murugan the writer is dead. As he is no God, he is not going to resurrect himself. He also has no faith in rebirth. An ordinary teacher, he will live as P. Murugan. Leave him alone."

Fortunately, after a High Court ruling that

DESIGN: HRISHIK ROY

Aniruddhan Vasudevan, Pyre is a love story that is a thrill in the vein of Murugan's contemporary, Vivek Shangbhag's Kannada novel, Ghachar Ghochar (2015), though it is darker, far more serious and nerve-racking in how it accelerates toward its mordant end.

It is the story of young lovers, Kumaresan and Saroja, who get secretly married and run away to Kumaresan's village to start a new life. Murugan has written before about the intricate tragedies of domestic life and how they bring about the worst of our community. In his novel One Part Woman (2010), through which I first discovered the author, a couple is unable to have children, a predicament that leads them to consider going to the festival of an androgynous god dismissed any need for him to apologise or withdraw his book, he did resurrect.

Pyre's beauty lies in the gradually ascending intensity of its story. Kumaresan's mother, a widow since the age of 20, claims victimhood for this act of "betrayal" her son has committed. Her actions mimic pitch-perfectly how some mothers react to situations of this order in the sub-continent: "I had thought my son would earn some money and walk with his head held high among the people here. But he has thrown fire on me. If he had been killed in a road accident somewhere, I would've written it off as my destiny," she cries, "What did you do to bewitch my son?"

Kumaresan comforts his wife that the hostilities are temporary. "For a few days," he advises her, "take off your ears and keep them aside. Put them back on only while talking to me....everything will be all right.'

Yet, that is often easier said than done. Kumerasan's naivety soon catches up on him and he starts to drink, frustrating Saroja even more, who feels as if "all her certainties [are] collapsing." Her dependence on Kumerasan worries her, though she continues to believe in his advice.

Meanwhile, casteism colours the villagers' ability to accept the new couple. It affects every decision in their village. Kumaresan himself had been barred as a child from working with the day-labourers, for he would be mixing with men from other castes. Murugan deftly renders the inhumanness of caste discrimination through Saroja's ordeal. We are never told which castes they belong to, though it is certain they are from the South. The ambiguity helps Murugan's realist take on the issue of caste; eschewing any ray of hope, he settles for despair. As Saroja faces the village's snark daily, we see her wait for the better times culminating in a pastoral savagery that is hauntingly biblical.

The singeing heat, the "vast expanses of arid land," the large rock that dominates the landscape of the book all simulate the tone of Saroja's helplessness in her new environment. Murugan is essentially a writer of great sentimental talent, possessing a realism found in the likes of Bibhutibhushan. That is Pyre's gift to literature: Murugan's adeptness in marrying the psychological anguish of his characters with the social realism of familial bonds. Aniruddhan Vasudevan's English version has excelled in sifting up the story's humanist, regional essence (from soda shops to kuzhambu dishes) from the usual contextual entanglements of translation.

Melancholy and brutal, one wonders if Saroja's jam started the moment she decided on the need for obedience as a way of navigating through her new community. Perhaps she should have held her ground from the start. Perhaps, to crack the boulder of caste, class, and colour, one mustn't tap light in hopes of chipping it away incrementally but to take a hammer and swing at it with violence in mind.

BOOK REVIEW: NONFICTION BADRUDDIN UMAR: The life and works of a revolutionary

'Badruddin Umarer Jibon o Kaj: Nivedita Prabandhabali' ed. CR Abrar, Omar Tarek Chowdhury, Golam Mustafa, Chowdhury Mufad Ahmad (Bangla Gobeshona Prokashona, 2022)

PRIYAM PRITIM PAUL

Badruddin Umar-a prominent writer, thinker, historian, and political visionary, who turned 91 years old in 2022. This book was published on this occasion to commemorate his eventful life and works. As the editors rightly mention, it took such a long time to attempt this book because a section of our society, who grabbed power and position of the state for years, are uncomfortable with the candour in Umar's writings and opinions.

Badruddin Umar studied Philosophy at Dhaka University, and Philosophy, Politics and Economics at Oxford University, resigning from Rajshahi University as a faculty member to be an active leftist political activist in 1968 when he was just 37 years old. Before his resignation, he wrote three remarkable books, Sampradayikata (1966), Sangskritir Sangkat (1974), and Sangskritik Sampradayikata (1975), which shook the limits and narrowness of the ideology of then Pakistan.

His writings awakened a large section of the budding educated youth to achieve a broader perspective of thinking. This produced much tension among the military and civil bureaucracy of East Pakistan, and Monayem Khan put pressure upon the Vice Chancellor of Rajshahi University to keep Umar silent. Besides, Umar's books on the language movement have been established as classics for years, in which he delineates the entire movement through a Marxist perspective. His is a lifelong method to perceive the problems of society and nation. Badruddin Umarer Jibon o Kai is an excellent collection of essays, articles and recollections about Umar written by many renowned national and international scholars. It starts with a review of Sampradayikata by prominent critic and dramatist Kazi Abdul Wadud, who greets Umar's essays with a critical mind when he mentions that, in the golden age of Hinduism and Islam, religions were not perceived as being so overwhelmingly divine as they are now. This short review signifies a great literary savant who was able to properly recognise a young genius of the new age who would lead the intellectual endeavour of this land for decades. Although Umar has been famous for his unabashed positions on Marxist analysis, his three books played a crucial role in forming Bengali nationalist thought in the Pakistan period based on an anti-communal attitude. as Professor Sanat Kumar Saha states in the book. Umar put importance in acknowledging Chandidas, Vidyashagor, Bankim Chandra, Micheal Madhushudhan, Tagore, Sharat Chandra, Atulprasad, and Abanindra as integral parts of our culture and conveyed that until we recognise that, our cultural heritage will not be forceful enough to create something worthwhile. Professor Shahidul Islam, in the book, draws an effective comment in this regard. He notes that although Awami League has gained momentum through Bangladeshi nationalism, his generation had learned about it from the writings of Umar, even in his awareness of the limitations of nationalism. Umar's arguments and judgements have been grounded in the truth of history, and he has held the rare capacity to be honest and sincere in his long course of political and social life. Thus Professor Serajul Islam Chowdhury rightly argues that Umar has the audacity to reject according to his own class's attitude, desire, or fascination, and these rejections have served the purposes of making an egalitarian society. Apart from his critical analysis of class, Umar was much aware of the environmental issues when this topic was not familiar in this land. Professor Khaliquzzam Elias states that the journey of the Bangali Musalman has not matured even after witnessing the creation of two states-this has been a core of Umar's writing. This book has been a genuine effort to commemorate the lifelong revolutionary behind such ideas.

'The Divining Thread' by Anjum N Chowdhury (HarperCollins, 2022) creates an original, immersive new world

SABRINA FATMA AHMAD

Over the past ten years or so, a confluence of factors such as the rise of social media 'societies' like Bookstagram and Booktok, and the popularity of events like the Dhaka Lit Fest, have created ideal conditions for Bangladeshi writers writing in English to publish, share and sell their work in an unprecedented way. This has allowed for a whole slew of bold, fresh material to arise from this region, across all genres, challenging existing notions of what Bangladeshi literature should look like.

The return of the DLF allowed me to discover a bunch of these voices, and Anjum N Choudhury's The Divining Thread was one such treasure. It is a tiny novella that unfolds like one of those enchanting papercraft dioramas. Zarene is the daughter of a wealthy merchant, betrothed to a prince. On her way to her wedding, she spots a village girl wearing the most exquisite ghagra. Zarene, who has something of an obsession with handloom fabrics, is so enchanted by the outfit that it costs her her marriage, and sets her out on a journey filled with adventures, discoveries and self-realisation.

"The thing about fairy tales is that they're all about morality," Anjum has said of her inspiration for The Divining Thread, continuing, "One the annual Sehri Tales challenge.

Even after 52 years of Bangladesh's independence, many memories and incidents of the Liberation War remain undocumented. A lot of these stories are being recorded through individual initiatives, uncovering previously unknown chapters of the war. An individual who has witnessed many such incidents is Md. Enamul Haque, a freedom fighter naval commando who participated in several operations of the war, including Operation Jackpot.

Operation Jackpot was first-and the allegedly bestcampaign of naval commandos during the Liberation War of 1971, a deadly blow against the Pakistani invasion forces carried out on August 16, 1971, at Chittagong and Mongla sea ports Chandpur and Narayanganj and river ports simultaneously. Twenty five ships carrying food and oil from different countries were sunk, including arms-laden ships from Pakistan.

Haque's book, Operation Jackpot: Ek Noucommandor Ohonkar (Nymphea Publications, 2023) discusses his experiences as a freedom fighter, as well as his personal life, the background of the War, the inspiring figure of Bangabandhu, and his display of patriotism through dangerous and often life threatening operations during the Liberation War.

Speaking about his experiences during the war, Haque recalled, "One day, a few Indian officers in the camp called some of us and asked if anyone among us had swum in the sea. I raised my hand. They asked if anyone had swum in large rivers and a few others raised their hands. They selected 17 of us and took us to another camp, where a captain spoke to each of us. He said, 'This is a suicidal squad – death is certain here. Instead, you should return to the previous camp and train yourself for fighting inside the country."

"I said to him that I am aware that death is certain in war, which is why I was there. I wanted to give my life for the country's independence.", he said.

Writer Selina

Hossain has written in the book's introduction, "While this is Enam's first attempt at writing prose and there are a few limitations because of it, the publication will be widely read due to the subject matter. The book shows that Enamul Haque's involvement in operation this made the movement of the Pakistani invasion forces uncertain. It introduced Bangladesh's liberation war and freedom fighters to the whole world. Such audacity is rarely seen in wars across history. As a result, the book in question is similar to a historical document, thanks to the author's anecdotes.'

"However", she added, "I think the quality of editing required for this type of book has to be maintained. It is the responsibility of the publisher as well as the author."

Padma rail service closer than ever Trial run of first train marks key step in connecting Dhaka with Jashore

We are delighted to see the successful trial run of a special train from Faridpur's Bhanga area to Munshiganj's Mawa area via the Padma Bridge, the first train to cross the mighty river after about nine months of the inauguration of the road section of the bridge. With that, the 6.15km-long multipurpose bridge project, with a four-lane highway on the upper deck and a single-track railway on the lower deck, reaches an important milestone. Commercial operation will not begin until September, when the prime minister is expected to inaugurate the 82km-long Dhaka-Bhanga rail line via the bridge. By June next year, the planned 169km-long rail line connecting Dhaka with Jashore is expected to be finished.

It brings us immense joy to know we're inching closer to that goal and the possibility that it holds. Reportedly, the first train journey was conducted in a festive manner, with the railways minister and the local lawmaker in attendance. People were seen greeting the passengers with cheers on the way. Many stood near their houses or railway tracks and captured the scene on mobile phones. School children were also seen waving to train passengers. Speaking to journalists after inaugurating the trial run of the first train, the railways minister said: "With this journey, Padma Bridge has reached full fruition."

The Tk-39,247-crore Padma Bridge Rail Link Project is an important part of the vision surrounding the Padma Bridge. Once the entire 169km-long rail line with its 20 stations is opened to the public, the distance from Dhaka to Jashore would decrease by 200km, and the travel time would be halved - from about 10 hours to five. Together with the newly established highway connectivity, it will lead to not just much faster communication between the capital and the 21 southwestern districts of Bangladesh, it will also expedite the economic transformation of this region, which is already underway. As an expert has mentioned, economic activities - i.e. fish trade, food processing, tourism, trade of jute and other agricultural products, etc. - will increase more due to the reduced cost of doing business. The government will also need to establish industrial zones, and ensure sufficient supply of electricity, gas and other resources to encourage the establishment of garments, leather goods, cement, pharmaceuticals and textile industries, which will open up employment opportunities for millions of people and reduce poverty in the region.

However, without building the necessary industries and supportive infrastructure to take advantage of the increasing connectivity, the Padma Bridge, which is only 40km away from Dhaka, cannot reach its full potential. We, therefore, urge the authorities to take appropriate steps in this connection to support our vision for the southwest, which demands greater policy support in terms of economic and administrative expansions. Moreover, they should ensure that the rail link project is completed on time and within budget.

laws. For one, the Globally Harmonized System (GHS) of Classification and Labelling of Chemicals is not mandatory in Bangladesh. Such failure to label every stored unit of dangerous chemical should be punishable by law. There are too many gaps when it comes to the safe handling of chemicals in Bangladesh. In fertiliser factories, for instance, where there is an abundance rules and regulations are not part of our gap in our laws regarding the safe transportation of hazardous materials. The haphazard way in which the drivers and staff of vehicles carrying chemicals or gas cylinders handle the goods also sparks concern as to how adequately trained they are for the job.

When a business sets out to work with hazardous chemicals, there are at least 20 or so regulatory organisations which must first provide clearance on individual authorities to enforce fire safety measures, no amount of awareness will be enough to prevent these tragedies.

Among the recent fire incidents, we have also seen a prevalence of explosions or blasts (such as in the Gulistan blast of March 7), which multiplies the impacts of a fire. It must be kept in mind that whenever gases or chemicals are involved, there is a very high chance of an explosion occurring. In people's homes, gas leakages and subsequent accumulation of gas can easily result in a blast and fire incident. Allowing adequate air circulation can prevent this from happening. However, this is made difficult by compact spaces in newer buildings and the fact that mercaptan (an odorous establishments, in older buildings chemical added to gas to make leaks of hazardous ammonia, the products stored require defined methods of handling. But process safety - which focuses on preventing fires, explosions, and chemical accidents in facilities dealing with hazardous chemicals or materials - is markedly absent from our laws. These facilities having the clearance of all regulatory authorities means very little in terms of explosion or fire prevention.

Another issue of concern is that, when an explosion does occur at a facility storing hazardous chemicals, the firefighters who respond to these incidents are never equipped with information on whether dangerous chemicals are involved or not and in what types or quantities. This makes emergency management of fires deathly dangerous for firefighters. The of businesses which are manufacturing or importing chemicals, where these chemicals are being stored, and how they are being used.

to said business. However, when a massive explosion or fire incident occurs involving the business, none of these regulatory authorities accept any responsibility. Given this reality, when it comes to the safe handling and usage of hazardous chemicals, the need for a single regulatory body cannot be stressed enough.

Moreover, Bangladesh's import of chemicals has been increasing year by year thanks to the growth of the RMG and pharmaceutical industries. But how and where are these huge quantities and varieties of chemicals stored? There must be a separate authority overseeing the registration, handling, and storage of these chemicals in order to ensure safety.

Keeping in mind Bangladesh's imminent graduation out of the least developed countries (LDC) status, it would be fruitful to use whatever subsidies we are granted (while still being an LDC) to progress the sustainable management of chemicals nationwide.

They are forcing patients to pay almost double the usual fare

At a time when people are finding it difficult to bear even regular healthcare expenses due to the extremely high cost of living, it is disheartening to know that a syndicate of ambulance operators is holding patients hostage at public hospitals by forcing them to use their service, often with double the usual fare. According to a report by this daily, members of two ambulance owners' associations have combined to form the syndicate that operates in every public hospital of the country to make sure that no ambulance from outside their network can take patients to their destinations.

For instance, when patients from Dhaka Medical College and Hospital (DMCH) want to go back to their respective districts, they are forced to use the services of these two associations, paying extra money. If an ambulance from outside the capital somehow carries any patient out of a hospital in Dhaka, the syndicate takes half the fare as its cut. This has become the general practice, with the hospital authorities turning a blind eye.

An ambulance owner from Kushtia told our correspondent that as soon as patients are taken inside DMCH from ambulances, they are driven out of the hospital premises by the syndicate members to eliminate competition. And a patient's father, who was trying to hire an ambulance to go back to Noakhali from DMCH, said that while an ambulance from Noakhali would cost him Tk 3,000 for the ride back home, the ambulances available in DMCH would charge him around Tk 6,000. This is nothing but extortion. At a time when people are already left high and dry by their increasing medical bills, the syndicate is just worsening their misery.

It should be noted that over the last decade, people's outof-pocket spending on healthcare has increased significantly. According to the Bangladesh National Health Accounts (BNHA) 1997-2020 data, such expenditure rose from 62 percent in 2012 to 68.5 percent in 2020. This is in addition to the astronomical prices of nearly every commodity, food item, utility or service that people are forced to pay. Unfortunately, the government's effort in this regard has been nothing short of disappointing. Even though the government promised to bring down out-of-pocket healthcare expenditure to 32 percent by 2032, it is most likely to remain a pipe dream given the present reality.

The ambulance menace is just an example of how mismanaged and poorly governed the public health sector is. The question is, why would people have to struggle even to access basic healthcare? Why would they have to sell their assets or borrow money to come to the capital for treatment? Why can't patients get healthcare at affordable prices in their own districts? Clearly, the government has a lot to do to ensure that the middle and low income people can afford healthcare.

As regards the cartel of ambulance associations, we urge the public hospital authorities to take effective steps against them so that they cannot exploit patients. Patients must be spared the extra financial burden during these difficult times.

and newly-constructed ones. Do these newer buildings have adequate fire safety measures in place, such as fire alarms and regular fire drills? More importantly, have our laws made enough room for fire safety to be adequately ensured? After all, fire safety awareness must have a top-down approach. If the relevant chemical storage factories or facilities,

NO EVMS IN GENERAL POLLS Can ballots ensure free and fair elections?

THE STREET VIEW

Mohammad Al-Masum Molla is chief reporter at The Daily Star

MOHAMMAD AL-MASUM MOLLA

The Election Commission has done an about-face on their previously resolute decision to use Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) in the parliamentary 12th upcoming elections of Bangladesh, citing "a lack of funds" from the government and strong reservations from some of the political parties as reasons for doing so. Until this sudden change of heart, the commission had appeared rather adamant on using the technology in the elections. According to media reports, the EC meeting on Monday did not dwell much on the sensitivities around EVMs. In fact, when asked if there was a political dimension behind this sudden change of mind, the EC secretary failed - wittingly or not – to shed light on the matter.

EVMs are an eventuality; sooner or later, elections in Bangladesh, with nearly 100 million voters, will have no option but to resort to using electronic voting methods. However, there should be little doubt that, for the moment. the Election Commission's decision to not use EVMs is a good move in the context of the existing national polity. This change in course warrants some examination, though, to ascertain if it is for the right reasons.

The Election Commission did not pay heed to the political parties previously when they expressed strong reservations about the use of EVMs during their dialogues last year. However, the latest decision, commendable as it may be, has come late and fails to address the core challenge this commission faces credibility with the political parties especially since the change of heart has not been explained elaborately. Had the commission taken this same decision immediately after their dialogues with the parties, they would have earned more trust, which remains a major impediment for the electoral authority to hold an inclusive election. The commission had, in fact, mentioned in their roadmap that gaining trust was a major challenge. Unfortunately, they missed an opportunity with EVMs.

The change of course regarding EVM use has not been able to sway

BNP, in the slightest. The party said it was least bothered about EVMs and concerned only about the nature of the election-time government. And in this particular issue, the Election Commission has nothing to do really. Despite its limitations, the EC invited the BNP and its like-minded parties for informal talks, which the BNP rejected, calling it "meaningless." Now, we have to see how the other political parties react to the EC invitation in light of its new decision, which certainly provides some food for thought for the parties.

It seems that the Election Commission is giving an impression of becoming increasingly pliable, apparently with some flexibility for the political parties, in order to hold an inclusive election. But is it too little, too late to reduce the distance with the political parties?

If anyone is wondering whether this EVM decision will sway things in the Election Commission's favour, they are in for a rude awakening. It won't. EVMs were used in six constituencies during the 11th parliamentary elections in 2018, and paper ballots were used in the rest. We all know what happened.

The Election Commission has also said that although EVMs will not be deployed during the general polls, they will be used in all five city corporation elections, the biggest elections before the general elections.

the main political opposition camp, If the commission had decided to use paper ballots in those polls as well, it would provide a good opportunity to see how things would pan out and what possible challenges could emerge.

According to the US Department of State's 2022 Country Reports on Human Rights Practices, the 2018 elections were neither free nor fair, because they were marred by serious irregularities, including ballot box stuffing and intimidation of opposition polling agents and voters.

There are also reports that ballots were stuffed even before the election day. We can remember that Jatiya Party (JaPa) General Secretary Mujibul Haque Chunnu, during a dialogue with the Election Commission on July 31 last year, said, "We are proposing that the ballot paper be delivered on the morning of the election. This way, there would not be any issue of stuffing ballot boxes the night before. What can I say, even I have allowed such activities. It is not right."

A genuinely inclusive election depends on a wide range of factors, many of which the Election Commission cannot even begin to address. The decision not to use EVMs is a good start, but it will certainly not be enough. The commission needs to do much more. For now, though, they have earned the ability to at least claim that they are being sincere about getting all quarters to participate in the elections.

TRIBUTE TO ROKIA AFZAL RAHMAN

My dearest

Shahnaz Rahman is the chairperson and managing director of Transcom Group.

SHAHNAZ RAHMAN

On April 5, 2023, I lost my dearest friend, confidant, and someone who was family to my husband and I: Rokia Afzal. Known to me, fondly, as Roki.

My husband, Shamim (Latifur Rahman) and I, were extremely fond of both Roki and Harun bhai. Our strong bond was formed over the years as we went through some of the most wonderful times together while also standing strong by each other during the most trying times.

Over the years, Roki did not simply remain my closest friend, but was also a sister to both my husband and myself. I always admired her amiability, coupled with her drive to make an impact. I had the honour of serving on multiple boards with Roki, from The Daily Star (where she was chairman), Reliance Insurance Ltd, Prothom Alo, and Bangladesh Lamps Ltd. Roki's presence across both my personal and professional lives was nothing short of an absolute pleasure; it felt good to go through it all together.

As I think of Roki, her infectious smile, glowing energy, and caring nature flood my mind with beautiful memories. From all the times we travelled with the ICC delegation, to our first safari together in South Africa, to when Roki was one of the few selected speakers at Shamim and my 50th anniversary. I feel blessed to have shared all those moments with her. Roki was not just a friend; she was family.

We had lost Harun bhai too soon, and it was then that Shamim and I had the privilege of standing by Roki. I feel that she found comfort and strength in us that helped move her forward. Little did I know that decades later, when I was to lose my husband, I in turn would lean on Roki as my crutch.

During a time when I felt more comfortable limiting social interactions, it was Roki's compassion, empathy, and unstinting support that gave me comfort. It was only Roki and Didi (Anita Chowdhury) whom I found some solace in speaking to after my husband's passing. I never imagined I'd lose them both so soon one after another.

I dearly miss Roki's presence and the light she brought into every room she entered. When I spoke to her recently, she was being cautious about visitors. But in the same breath, she said, "Joyu, when you get back to Dhaka, I will see you."

That was my relationship with Roki, nothing could come between us

I, along with many others, will miss Roki terribly. Her warmth and kindness will never be forgotten. Lots of my love and affection to my dear Roki, until we meet again in the hereafter.

A Life Well-Lived

A torchbearer for women's economic empowerment

Mahbubur Rahman is president of the International Chamber of Commerce Bangladesh, and chairman and CEO of ETBL Holdings Limited.

MAHBUBUR RAHMAN

I am deeply shocked and grieved at the sad demise of ICC Bangladesh Vice-President Rokia Afzal Rahman, an illustrious business personality in Bangladesh and a former adviser to the caretaker government. She was the president of the Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Dhaka (MCCI) for two consecutive terms in 2013 and 2014. She was the founder president of the Bangladesh Federation of Women Entrepreneurs (BFWE).

I knew Rokia Bhabi, as I used to call her, and her husband Harun Bhai for a long time. Harun Bhai was a prominent businessman in the then East Pakistan among Bangalee entrepreneurs.

Rokia Afzal Rahman was one of the most famous icons of women empowerment in Bangladesh. In postliberation Bangladesh, she played a big role in developing agriculture and industry. Over 15,000 farmers in Munshiganj have worked with her. With MIDAS Financing Limited, she endeavoured to create women entrepreneurs, and in the process played an instrumental role in Bangladesh's economy

She reflected on her journey of becoming the first woman bank manager of the country in 1964 to becoming a well-known entrepreneur, all the while paving the way for women with drive and determination.

In 1980, when she started a cold storage business for potatoes in Munshiganj, local farmers were initially apprehensive as she was a woman. Her persistence led the farmers to take a chance, and eventually the business flourished. Rokia remains the sole woman in the region to own and operate a cold storage.

She joined the board of MIDAS Financing Limited In 1982, where she advocated to raise the borrowing cap without any mortgage from Tk 2 lakh to Tk 25 lakh. The benefits of MIDAS' borrowing schemes have benefited women across generations.

Her firm commitment to affect substantive social change led her to become an adviser to the caretaker government of received the Priyadarshani Award in India.

the country, in charge of the Ministry of Women and Children's Affairs, Ministry of Labour and Employment, Ministry of Social Welfare, and Ministry of Culture.

With time, Rokia made her mark in diverse sectors including media, insurance, real estate, and power. She was the chairperson of Mediaworld Limited, which publishes The Daily Star.

Rokia maintained a strong collaboration with the Ministry of Planning, and associations like the Women Entrepreneurs' Association (WEA), Women in Small Enterprises (WISE), Bangladesh Federation of Women Entrepreneurs (BFWE), and several other renowned NGOs where she was a board member. She was also the founder chairman of Presidency University and former chairperson of Asian University for Women.

Her notable presence in international development platforms includes her membership of the Business Advisory Council at the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP), and her membership of the South Asia Women's Network (SWAN). In 1991, she was recognised as one of the Leading Women Entrepreneurs of the World in Monte Carlo. In 2003, she was recognised as the Businessperson of the Year by the American Chamber; she also from the rest was her focus on building institutions to assist women to become economically independent. She believed that women's emancipation lay in their economic solvency. To this end, she set up the Women Entrepreneurs Association (WEA) in 1994. WEA's primary objective was to build skills of micro and small women entrepreneurs to manage their business better to make maximum profits. Thousands of women received training on financial management, book-keeping and sound business practices through the WEA.

She also founded the Women in Small Enterprises (WISE) to further upgrade and promote women in small enterprises and business. She would travel to remote villages to meet women to help them come out of their cycle of poverty and attain economic independence. She encouraged women to speak out about their problems in running their businesses. Being well-connected in the business world, Rokia Afzal also initiated a number of policy changes for women to get easy access to credit and much needed skills development.

In August 2006, she founded the Bangladesh Federation of Women Entrepreneurs (BFWE). The BFWE works with five million women, most of whom are in small towns and rural areas. This was a major step forward in bringing a large number of women into small businesses. The proliferation and success of women's small enterprises all over Bangladesh today can be largely credited to the pioneering effort of Rokia Afzal Rahman.

With her demise, Bangladesh has lost one of its leading women entrepreneurs who not only promoted her own business, but worked relentlessly to make others, especially women, self-reliant. She dreamt of a Bangladesh with less inequality, where everyone would live with dignity. She also believed in regional cooperation and built close relationships with many across the region. She was an active member of the South Asia Women's Network (SWAN) and was loved and admired as a beloved SWAN sister.

Roki Apa, you will be missed, but your legacy of empowering women economically will live on. You have left behind institutions that will carry forward your wonderful work. At a personal level, my family and I will miss your affection, your care and your ever smiling beautiful face. Rest in peace, Apa. You lived a life of principle, of giving and sharing.

Her grace was talked about in social MIDAS. circles. We often wondered how she always managed to look so elegant, so properly attired for every occasion. To many of us, she was an inspiration, a mentor who embodied the values and traditions of a South Asian woman, and at the same time was so modern, progressive and forwardlooking.

Rokia Afzal Rahman, lovingly known as Roki Apa, passed away peacefully in the early morning of April 5, leaving so many of us shocked and dismayed. It will take a long time to really fathom the loss and void created by her demise. In a world fractured by self-interest and intense rivalry, she stood out as a unifying force, bringing divergent groups and opinions together to come to consensus on issues that were closest to her heart, one of which was women's economic empowerment.

Rokia Afzal started her career as a banking professional in 1962 when few women ventured into the profession. She became the first female bank manager in Bangladesh in 1964. She later entered the world of business and rose in stature to become one of the most respected entrepreneurs in the country, heading 11 different companies. Trump attacks hush money case in Mar-a-Lago speech

AFP, Washington

Donald Trump offered a full-throated defense of his conduct Tuesday in his first public remarks since being charged over hush money payments to a porn star, blasting the criminal prosecution as "an insult to our country."

Hours earlier the 76-year-old former US president pleaded not guilty to 34 felony counts in a dramatic hearing in New York that transfixed the nation -- and began the countdown to the first ever criminal trial of an American president.

"I never thought anything like this could happen in America -- never thought it could happen," Trump told an audience of several hundred donors, political allies and other supporters after returning to Mar-a-Lago, his beachfront mansion in southern Florida.

"The only crime that I've committed is to fearlessly defend our nation from those who seek to destroy it ... It's an insult to our country," he said.

"Our country is going to hell".

Trump -- the frontrunner in the race for the 2024 Republican nomination -- said from a stage festooned with American flags in an opulent gold-and-cream ballroom that "radical left" prosecutors were out to get him "at any cost." The bizarrely celebratory mood in the room seemed at odds with the gravity of the day's events in Manhattan.

Says President Zelensky

REUTERS, Kyiv

President Volodymyr Zelensky vesterday thanked Poland for its "historic" help in rallying Western support for Ukraine during a visit to Warsaw and said Ukrainian troops were still fighting for Bakhmut in the east but could withdraw if they risked being cut off.

Poland has provided vital weaponry to Kyiv since Russia's invasion and taken in millions of Ukrainian refugees. During Zelensky's visit, Warsaw announced it would send 10 more MiG fighter jets to Kyiv on top of four provided earlier.

Zelensky said Ukrainian troops faced a really difficult situation in Bakhmut and Kyiv would take "corresponding" decisions to protect them if they risk being cut off by Russian invasion forces.

Bakhmut, in Ukraine's mainly Russianoccupied Donetsk province, has proven one of the bloodiest and longest battles of Russia's invasion, now in its 14th month.

French President Emmanuel Macron. meanwhile, was visiting China.

Both Macron and European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen, due in Beijing shortly after him, have said they want to persuade China to use its influence over Russia to bring peace in Ukraine, or to at least deter Beijing from directly supporting Moscow in the conflict.

Biden eyes AI dangers

REUTERS, WASHINGTON

US President Joe Biden said on Tuesday it remains to be seen whether artificial intelligence (AI) is dangerous, but underscored that technology companies had a responsibility to ensure their products were safe before making them public. Biden told science and technology advisers that AI could help in addressing disease and climate change, but it was also important to address potential risks to society, national security and the economy.

"Tech companies have a responsibility, in my view, to make sure their products are safe before making them public," he said at the start of a meeting of the President's Council of Advisors on Science and Technology (PCAST).

When asked if AI was dangerous, he said, "It remains to be seen. It could be."

China has 'major role' to play: Macron

AFP, Beijing

French President Emmanuel Macron said yesterday that China had a "major role" to play in finding a path to peace in Ukraine, as he kicked off a three-day visit to Beijing.

Speaking at a gathering of the French community in Beijing ahead of a meeting with Chinese leader Xi Jinping today, Macron said France would seek to work with China "in this shared responsibility for peace and stability" in Ukraine.

"China, with its close relationship with Russia, which has been reaffirmed in recent days, can play a major role," he said, noting Beijing's stated opposition to the use of nuclear weapons in Ukraine as well

Israeli police entered Jerusalem's efforts underway to de-escalate Al-Aqsa mosque in force before the situation, tensions appeared dawn yesterday and clashed to have calmed in Al-Aqsa, where worshippers, drawing with large crowds of worshippers spent from condemnation the night as is common during Arab countries and a furious reaction Ramadan. in the occupied West Bank and crossborder strikes in Gaza. said 12 Palestinians had sustained

The incident, during the wounds during the raid, including Muslim holy month of Ramadan from and on the eve of the Jewish and beatings, in clashes with Passover, came amid fears that tensions built up during a year of escalating Israeli-Palestinian violence could be unleashed at the Al-Aqsa mosque, known to Jews as the Temple Mount.

Palestinian militants fired at east nine rockets from Gaza into compound, amid fears of possible As day broke, with international clashes with Jewish visitors to the site, which they revere as the Temple Mount, the site of Judaism's two ancient Temples.

Under the longstanding "status quo" arrangement governing the area, which Israel says it maintains, non-Muslims can visit but only Muslims are allowed to worship in the mosque compound. Jewish visitors have increasingly prayed more or less openly at the site in defiance of the rules.

The Waqf, the Jordanianappointed Islamic organisation that manages the complex, considered the third holiest site in the Muslim world, described the police actions as a "flagrant assault n the identity and the function of the mosque as a place of worship for Muslims alone".

YEMEN CONFLICT Iran welcomes US call to back peace process

AFP, Tehran

Iran yesterday welcomed a US call to help end the long-running conflict in Yemen by backing a peace process, one year after a United Nations-brokered truce dramatically reduced fighting.

Diplomatic efforts to resolve the conflict have multiplied since the Yemeni government's main foreign backer Saudi Arabia signed a Chinese-brokered deal to restore relations with Iran last month.

US special envoy Yemen Timothy for Lenderking said Tuesday that Washington "would like to see the Iranians show support for the political process that we

NEW ZEALAND PARLIAMENT Ardern delivers final speech

AFP, Wellington

Former New Zealand Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern bowed out of parliament yesterday, making an impassioned plea during her tearful final speech to "please take the politics out of climate change".

Ardern shocked New Zealand earlier this year when she announced she was stepping down as prime minister and retiring from politics, saying she no longer had "enough in the tank".

Draped in a korowai -- a traditional Maori feather cloak Ardern recalled her humble beginnings in a working class family, and how she never expected to lead the country.

"It was a cross between a sense of duty to steer a moving freight train... and being hit by one," she quipped during her valedictory address.

"And that's probably because my internal reluctance to lead was matched only by a huge sense of responsibility."

Ardern steered New Zealand through natural disasters, the Covid-19 pandemic and the 2019 Christchurch mosque massacre -- in which a white supremacist gunman killed 51 Muslim worshippers.

But she singled out the climate crisis as the defining issue of her time in politics.

"Climate change is a crisis. It is upon us," she said.

"And so one of the very few things I will ask of this house on my departure is that you please take the politics out of climate change.'

The 42-year-old, once the youngest woman leader in the world, choked up at several points during the speech, which she started and finished in the Maori language.

FISHING BOAT OFF MALTA 440 migrants rescued: MSF

AFP, Rome

More than 400 migrants have been rescued from a boat off Malta after an 11-hour operation, Doctors Without Borders (MSF) said yesterday after its ship responded to a distress alert. While heading to shelter in the Mediterranean due to bad weather, MSF's rescue ship the Geo Barents received the distress signal, the charity tweeted. The Geo Barents finally reached the boat at 4:00 am Tuesday "after more than 10 hours of navigation in a stormy sea", MSF said. "Unfortunately, the weather did not allow our team to directly perform the rescue, which could have endangered the lives of the people and those of the MSF team," it said.

Israel overnight, prompting air strikes from Israel which hit what it said were weapon production sites for the Islamist group Hamas, which controls the blockaded coastal enclave.

Hamas did not claim responsibility for the rocket attacks but said these were in response to the Israeli raid on Al-Aqsa, where clashes in 2021 set off a 10-day war with Gaza.

As ground-shaking explosions from the airstrikes rocked Gaza, witnesses said Israeli tanks also shelled Hamas positions. "We are inside were arrested and removed. not interested in an escalation, but we are ready for any scenario," IDF

Japan to fund overseas defence projects

REUTERS, TOKYO

Japan yesterday said it plans to offer countries financial assistance to help them bolster their defences, marking its first unambiguous departure from rules that forbid the use of international aid for military purposes.

Japan's Overseas Security Assistance (OSA) will be managed separately from the Overseas Development Assistance (ODA) programme that for decades has funded roads, dams and other civilian infrastructure, Chief Cabinet Secretary Hirokazu Matsuno said at a regular news conference.

"By enhancing their security and deterrence capabilities, OSA aims to deepen our security cooperation with the countries, to create a desirable security environment for Japan," the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said in a statement.

The change comes as Japan undertakes its biggest military build-up since World War Two in a marked shift away the pacifism that is set out in its constitution and has dominated its political discourse for decades.

Any aid under the new arrangement will not be used to buy lethal weapons that recipients could use in conflicts with other countries in accordance with three principles that govern arms exports, the foreign ministry said.

Specific projects are expected to include satellite communication and radio systems for maritime surveillance, and preparations are underway for the first aid to be finalised within this fiscal year, the ministry said. The first recipients will likely be the Philippines, Malaysia, Bangladesh, or Fiji.

US, S Korea hold air drills

AFP, Seoul

South Korea and the United States yesterday staged joint air drills involving at least one US nuclearcapable B-52H strategic bomber, Seoul's military said.

North Korea views such exercises as rehearsals for invasion, and has responded to other recent drills with a spate of increasingly provocative banned weapons tests.

In recent weeks it has tested what state media described as an underwater nuclear-capable drone. and carried out the launch of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Officials in Seoul and Washington have warned since early 2022 that North Korea may conduct its seventh nuclear test.

The United States and South, have ramped up defence cooperation in light of the growing threats.

Crisis man Mushfiqur delivers yet again

SPORTS REPORTER

A display of sheer determination and focus from Mushfiqur Rahim underlined why the experienced wicketkeeper-batter is still rated as one of the best Bangladeshi batters in the longest format of the game.

Mushfiqur yet again emerged as the crisis man for the Tigers when the hosts found themselves in a spot of bother after resuming the second day of the lone Test against Ireland. But the 36-year-old stood strong and registered a magnificent century to help Bangladesh take a healthy firstinnings lead and eye a win by the end of the third day.

dependable Mushfiqur The registered his tenth Test hundred with a mix of composure and aggression.

After losing Mominul Haque early in the day, the hosts were struggling on 40 for three. Mushfiqur and skipper Shakib Al Hasan then steadied the ship for Bangladesh. Although Shakib played the role of the aggressor, Mushfiqur was rock solid at the other end with his temperament and bided his time.

However, he also made sure to dispatch deliveries according to the merit of the ball. Whether it was an on-drive to pacer Mark Adair or his sweeps and reverse sweeps to disrupt the rhythm of the spinners --Mushfiqur showed an array of strokes across the ground.

While Shakib missed out his hundred and was dismissed for 87, Mushfigur went on to reach his century off 135 deliveries.

"It was amazing. Again, we were in a little bit of trouble with him at the other end and, Mushy generally comes good when the chips are down. He sticks in there and makes sure he gets his call for us and got the score going nicely," Bangladesh batting coach Jamie Siddons said yesterday.

"Again, he was aggressive when it was required. When the bad ball there, he put it away. But ver

Tigers happy about progressing game quicker

SPORTS REPORTER

Taking the game forward or progressing the game quicker was the idea and Bangladesh put a strong foot forward in that regard on the second day of the oneoff Test against Ireland.

The Tigers have been looking to make an impact with aggression in all three formats and the Ireland Test provided them with a platform to go forward with that line of thinking in Tests following forays in ODIs and T20Is.

The combination tried to have a positive impact in said approach, picking six batters and three spinners along with three pacers. Mehedi Hasan Miraz at number seven allowed the team management to try the combination and three spinners allowed them to take advantage of the conditions in Mirpur without overlooking the effect of providing pacers with Test experience on home surfaces. Shakib Al Hasan, Mushfiqur Rahim, Liton Das and Mehedi appeared to embody the approach of scoring runs quickly. A155-run lead following a first innings total of 369 put Bangladesh in a commanding position to go and win the match on the third day, having already picked up four wickets on day two. When Mominul Haque was uncharacteristically bowled down his leg side in the 12th over, there was a bit of bother but Bangladesh appeared to take on the challenge through the intent they were trying to portray.

SCORES IN BRIEF

Bangladesh vs Ireland Only Test, Day 2

IRELAND: First innings 214 and second innings -27 for four in 17 overs (Moor 10 not out; Shakib 2-11, Taijul 2-7)

BANGLADESH: First Innings-369 all out in 80.3 overs (Mushfiqur 126, Shakib 87; McBrine 6-118, Adair 2-64) ground in a picturesque shot. He reached his fifty off just 45 deliveries, playing some brilliant shots, helped by Ireland's inexperienced attack which gave him room.

and did so successfully to pick up his 10th Test ton. Liton's approach was closer to Shakib's and he missed out on what would have been a quickfire fifty.

PHOTO:

In particular, Shakib and Mushfiqur's counter-attacking approach proved the catalyst for progression and that aggressive approach.

Asked to remark on the approach from the batters, Siddons was careful in separating fast scoring from the loss of wickets, especially the last five wickets falling for less than 50.

'Yeah, pretty aggressive I thought. We were served up a few bad balls so it was good that the boys were really involved to put them away. The scoring rate went up quickly, which took the game forward pretty fast. Happy with the way we batted. One got a hundred but four players

Mashrafe Bin Mortaza yesterday became the first cricketer from Bangladesh to be handed honorary lifetime membership by the prestigious Marylebone Cricket Club (MCC), the custodians of the game's laws.

The honour had previously been bestowed on former BCB president Saber Hossain Chowdhury and former BCB general secretary Raisuddin Ahmed.

Prominent former cricketers such as MS Dhoni, Eoin Morgan, Kevin Pietersen, Yuvraj Singh, Dale Steyn and Ross Taylor were named in the new list. "Mashrafe Mortaza enjoyed a 19-year career with Bangladesh as an impactful bowling all-rounder," MCC quoted in the press release.

The Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) also congratulated the former captain for being the 'first international cricketer of the country to have been bestowed with the privilege."

Mashrafe posted on Facebook that it was one of his greatest achievements.

"MCC's honorary lifetime membership is one of my greatest achievements in cricket," the speedster who is still going strong in domestic cricket, wrote. "Being in the same list as Dhoni, Kevin Pietersen, Yuvraj Singh, Dale Steyn, Ross Taylor and Eoin Morgan is a matter of great happiness. It is also recognition for Bangladesh cricket. I hope everyone will pray that I can uphold Bangladesh cricket's values in the future as well."

19 cricketers were named on this year's list, including representatives from eight of the 12 Test-playing nations. "The names that have been announced today are some of the greatest international players of modern times, and we are privileged to now count them as valued members of our club," the MCC statement read.

disciplined around his defence and his leaving game. So, I was really happy with that. In Test cricket, we need to have that." Mushfigur made sure the Tigers had taken a substantial lead and gained a measure of control on the visitors before being dismissed for a 166-ball 126 that featured 15 fours and a six.

It was Mushfiqur's third hundred in the last year. With ten centuries, he now equals Tamim Iqbal as the Bangladeshi with the second-most centuries in Tests. If he continues to perform in this manner, it is only a matter of time before Mushfiqur surpasses Mominul's eleven hundreds in Tests.

Shakib dispatched the very first ball through the covers, one knee on the

"He scored quickly but he didn't hit the ball in the air a lot. I thought he was the pick of our batsmen today. He was very disciplined and when we lost three wickets, he held up really well and put a big partnership together which put us in a really good position at the end of the day," batting coach Jamie Siddons said of Shakib's innings yesterday.

Shakib tried a reckless sweep from well outside his off stump to be denied his ton. While Mushfiqur Rahim stuck to his approach, he too tied to dictate terms probably should have.

"Five for fifty in the last session probably the only downer on the day," he said.

Asked to comment on the roles of the six batters, Siddons reminded that Mehedi is now a 'proper all-rounder'. "As an allrounder, he's sitting beautifully at number seven. I think that's what's happening underneath that makes that look little bit thin.'

That means the tail needed to wag more to validate the approach. "We need to get better, Taijul [Islam] needs to be a better player than that if we're going to only play seven batsman," he said about the longer tail. But in terms of progressing the game, Tigers will find merits in being able to dominate proceedings.

REUTERS, New Delhi

Kolkata Knight Riders have signed England opener Jason Roy for the ongoing Indian Premier League (IPL), the organisers said on Wednesday, to bolster their batting lineup weakened by the absence of Shreyas Iyer and Shakib Al Hasan.

Kolkata captain Iyer has been ruled out of entire IPL with a lower back injury which would require surgery and keep him out of the World Test Championship final against Australia in June as well.

All-rounder Shakib, currently leading Bangladesh in a one-off test against Ireland in Mirpur, has also conveyed his unavailability citing national team commitments.

Kolkata spent $341,671 to buy Roy, who played the 2021 season for Sunrisers Hyderabad, the IPL organisers said in a statement.

'History repeats itself' as Lukaku racially abused

AFP, MILAN

Romelu Lukaku said Wednesday that history was repeating itself in Italian football after the Inter Milan striker was subjected to monkey chants by Juventus fans during the two teams' stormy cup clash.

Lukaku scored a stoppage-time penalty which secured Inter a 1-1 draw in Tuesday's first leg of the semifinal between Italy's most widely supported clubs, a game that ended with three players sent off and the two teams at each other's throats.

One of those red cards was for an incredulous Lukaku, who was dismissed for a second booking for his celebrations following his dramatic equaliser, before which he was abused by a small number of home supporters.

The Belgium striker held his finger to his mouth as he has after scoring for his country and told Juve supporters to "shut up" while being mobbed by his joyous teammates.

On Wednesday Lukaku said on Instagram: "History repeats itself. Been through it in 2019... and 2023 again...", referring to when threeand-a-half years ago Inter's hardcore ultras told him that monkey chants directed at him by Cagliari fans were not racist.

A star-studded list of names from across the globe have come out in support of Lukaku, sending him their best and offering messages of general support.

It was not initially clear that he had been abused and neither Inter coach Simone Inzaghi nor his Juve counterpart Massimiliano Allegri mentioned racist chanting while discussing a post-match row which led to Samir Handanovic and Juan Cuadrado also being dismissed and continued as the players headed into the tunnel.

That led to Juve goalkeeper Mattia Perin labelling Lukaku's shushing of the Bianconeri supporters behind the goal as a mark of disrespect.

."We have to be the first to set an example, but in these games it's difficult to hold back," Perin told Sky Sport Italia. "It's a lack of respect to celebrate under the Curva of the opposing team."

However, Michael Yormark, the president of Roc Nation Sports International who represent Lukaku, demanded late on Tuesday an apology from Juve for "hostile and disgusting racist abuse" the 29-year-old received from some home supporters "before, during and after the penalty".

Juve said they were working with police to "identify those responsible" while Serie A put out a statement condemning "all instances of racism" after yet another weekend featuring offensive chanting from supporters.

Lionel Messi, who returned to Paris Saint-Germain training yesterday ahead of their away fixture against Nice on Saturday, has the media busy speculating on whether he would move out of PSG next season. The Argentine was jeered by home fans in PSG's 1-0 defeat to Lyon in their last game on Monday, leading to French World Cup-winner Emmanuel Petit advising Messi to "get out" of the Parisian club, while compatriot Thierry Henry said, "Messi should return to Barcelona and finish his career there."

SULTANA'S DEATH They must act to protect rights, liberty of people

Says HC on law enforcers, orders withdrawal of Rab members involved in detaining her

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Ordering the formation of a committee to probe the detention of Sultana Jasmine by Rab, the High Court yesterday said law enforcers must act to protect the people's fundamental rights and personal liberty.

The constitution, which is the supreme law of the country, has guaranteed "right to protection of law"; "protection of right to life and personal liberty"; and "safeguards as to arrest and detention", said the bench of Justice Farah Mahbub and Justice Muhammad Mahbub Ul Islam. These fundamental rights of the citizens cannot be breached in any manner, it said.

The bench made the observations during the hearing on a writ petition that challenged the legality of Rab picking up Sultana of Naogaon when she was not accused in any case.
