Cattle raiders on started from Faridpur and ended in Munshiganj via Chandpur. Finally, the robbers surrendered as the police managed to surround them.

Out of the seven arrestees, two were ring leaders - Tazul and Siddiqur. The gang members hailed from Chandpur, Sharitpur, and Munshiganj districts.

River police chief Shafiqul Islam said they have already increased vigilance and patrolling in the rivers to prevent robbery activities from taking place. The robbers use local people on land to collect information about the cattle traders before the cattle market, and the police are trying to get the names of these informers.

They will submit an investigation report with proper evidence to ensure that these notorious criminals receive punishment during the trial, he added.

River police had earlier detained seven robbers on August 12 of last year. They detained 13 more robbers on December 26 of that year. Every time, local firearms were recovered from their possessions.

Journalism is not

The programme began with a video screening that contained comments from diplomats of the MFC.

"Journalism is not a crime. I repeat journalism is not a crime. Journalists should not be punished or face criminal charges just for doing their job," US Embassy Charge De Affaires Helen LaFave said.

Journalists play a critical role in exposing human rights abuses and promoting accountability. For example, in Bangladesh, journalists have exposed government corruption, environmental abuses, and human rights violations, she said.

"When we see opposition newspapers banned, journalists or their family members attacked or arrested, or editors sued over violations of a flawed law, we are gravely concerned that press freedom, and democracy, is at stake."

Helen LaFave also said to have a free and fair election, journalists must be able to fully inform the public. This means that they must be able to cover events without fear of harassment, intimidation, or violence.

Canadian High Commissioner Lily Nicholls said the number of countries regarded as safe where journalists can work in complete security, continues to decline.

Prothom Alo Special Correspondent Rozina Islam urged the government to ensure safety and security of journalists and to respect freedom of press.

Australian High Commissioner Jeremy Bruer, Dutch Ambassador Anne van Leeuwen and UN Resident Coordinator Gwyn Lewis were also present at the event.

Don't want dev at cost

Besides, Brotee Bangladesh, a non-government organisation, issued a memorandum to the secretary of the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, as well as the CEO of DSCC, expressing concerns over this issue.

Sharmeen Murshid, chief executive officer of Brotee, said the residents of Dhanmondi do not oppose development but are opposed to the destruction of the environment and tree felling in the name of development.

Contacted, DSCC chief engineer Saleh Ahmed said, "The geometric dimension of the space requires that we double the size of the medians. In our plan, we have kept designated spaces to plant new trees on these medians."

Misuse of DSA must of Journalists Manjurul Ahsan Bulbul claimed that they went to the parliamentary standing committee with their demands regarding DSA.

"The day this Act was passed by the National Parliament, the then information minister said all the demands of the journalists were met. However, that was far from being the case," he said.

"The journalists told the minister that the law needs to be reviewed, bail clauses need to be increased, and its misuse needs to be stopped. The law minister said if the law is misused against any journalist, he will stand as a lawyer free of charge. But there have been many incidents of misuse ever since, and the minister was not available as an advocate," he added.

President of Jatiya Press Club Farida Yasmin said journalists are being harassed under the Digital Security Act.

"There is no denying that digital security laws are needed to nab cyber criminals. We demand that journalists are not harassed under the law," she said.

role in the circulation of news and information, the report said in its fact-file on Bangladesh.

The densely populated private sector media landscape includes 3,000 print media outlets, 30 radio stations, 30 TV channels and several hundred news websites.

The two leading dailies, the Bangla-language Prothom Alo and English-language The Daily Star, manage to maintain a certain editorial independence, the report said. It also termed the controversial Digital Security Act "draconian", and said, "In this legislative environment, editors routinely censor themselves."

to punish colleagues on behalf of the ruling class," said the teachers' platform in their statement, signed by 51 teachers from different public and private universities.

have been jailed under the DSA. It demanded withdrawal of all cases under the act, immediate release of all convicted prisoners, compensation for all victims, and punishment for those who framed the accused in these cases. It also demanded transparency and accountability on the state's end regarding these repressive and restrictive laws.
