Govt on alert after data leak from birth, death registration website

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Office of the Registrar General, Birth and Death Registration has been asked to resolve issues regarding application programming interface (API) on its website.

They are directed to address these concerns within the next seven days and submit a detailed report to the Digital Security Agency, aiming to fully activate the website by the beginning of October.

API is a set of rules and protocols that empower different software programmes to communicate and interact, allowing them to share data and functionality seamlessly.

The directives were made at a review meeting at ICT Division yesterday.

Led by Chief Information Commissioner Dr Abdul Malek, the four-member delegation included Information Commissioners – Shahidul Alam Jhinuk and Masuda Bhatti, and ICB Secretary Zubeda Nasreen.

Rain paralyses north

Farmers worry over financial loss; two killed by lightning

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Dinaipur

Residents of Rangpur and Dinaipur have been besieged by heavy rainfall accompanied by frequent lightning strikes since last Wednesday. This has particularly affected the day labourers, who are struggling to make ends meet amidst the calamity.

Take the case of Aminul Islam, a rickshaw driver in Rangpur’s Babukhan area, who had to spend almost all that he earned on Saturday and Sunday to pay for the rent of his rickshaw.

“Due to incessant rains since Saturday, people hardly moved outside. But if I stay home for a day, I fail to feed my family and pay rent for the rickshaw,” he said.

In the past 24 hours till yesterday, Dinaipur witnessed the highest 159mm rainfall in the division, followed by Saidpur in Nilphamari with 108mm rainfall.

Low-lying areas, farmlands, towns, paddy fields and agricultural plantations were inundated as water levels of all the rivers in Rangpur and Dinaipur regions rose after the rainfall.

Countless farmers are worried of potential financial losses as their croplands went under water. Crops like cauliflower, cabbage, beans, and other winter vegetable varieties have suffered significant damage.

Fish from ponds were also washed away in many areas.

Obaidur Rahman Mandal, deputy director of Department of Agricultural Extension in Rangpur, said the last few days’ rains may be beneficial for the paddy, but if it continues longer then it will adversely affect vegetable plantations. The extent of damage will be assessed after the water goes down, he added.

The adverse weather conditions have also disrupted inter-district and long-distance traffic, while traders could not open their shops.

Sumon, who runs a vegetable shop in Rangpur city’s Munsipara area, said it was not possible to open the shop amid rainfall, for the whole day.

Swapna Rani of Kukrul area said people are suffering a lot due to waterlogging in the low-lying areas, as it has been raining heavily.

Almost all areas in Rangpur city have Residents of Rangpur and Dinaipur have been in distress since the past week due to severe waterlogging following rains. While many paddy fields and roads in the areas were submerged, many had to lose homesteads to storms.

been waterlogged since Saturday.

This correspondent visited Kamal Kachna, Mahiganj, Botla, New Jummapara, East Jummapara, Tajhat, Babupara, Kamarpara, Adarshpara, Nagar Mirganj, Shalbon, Mistripara, Kalabari Darshana, Mordan intersection, Munsipara, Hanuman Tala and several other areas yesterday and found those under ankle to knee-deep water.

The situation is similar in Dinaipur town, where the absence of a proper drainage system has worsened the situation.

Dinaipur Deputy Commissioner Shakil Ahmed said, “Low lying area of Dinaipur town is submerged under water. Arrangement has been made to provide relief to the affected people.”

“Rice and dried food have been distributed on Sunday among those affected,” he added.

Meanwhile, a man was killed by lighting yesterday morning in Chirirbandar upazila of Dinaipur. The deceased was identified as Rashidul Islam of Sahapur village.

In another incident, an 18-year-old boy was killed in a lightning strike while he was erecting an enclosure to protect the fish of a pond in Nawabganj upazila of Dinaipur yesterday evening.

The identity of the deceased could not be known immediately.
