Transparency vital

Song Yang, economic and commercial counsellor of Chinese embassy in Dhaka, said China will soon be the largest foreign direct investor in Bangladesh.

CA Executive Director Prof Dr Imtiaz Ahmed said Chinese infrastructure projects are linked to stability.

"Whenever BRI projects are considered, there should be an extra focus on the benefits for locals and how quickly and efficiently the receiving country can meet the repayment conditions," he said.

He also said there should be more interaction with civil society bodies, to make them aware of the pros and cons of the projects, so that no group can politicise it for their own interests.

"The only way to debunk the 'debt trap theory' is by making BRI investments demonstrably helpful and profitable to the people of the receiving country," Prof Imtiaz said.

He noted that Bangladesh can be an ideal place for ushering cooperation between BRI and US' Indo-Pacific Strategy members.

Prof Rashed Al Mahmud Titumir of the Department of Development Studies at Dhaka University said in the context of global powers competing in the Indo-Pacific region, all need to be careful so that there is no zero-sum game.

"China will have to ensure that political, civil and human rights are respected as it comes up with more investments under BRI," Prof Titumir said.

As there is growing nationalism in the major Asian powers, China has to practice more internationalism as it goes ahead with the global plan of development and peace, he added.

DU International Relations Prof ASM Ashraf Ali said it is time to see how BRI projects are planned and implemented, if the cost-benefit analysis is done, how transparent the bidding process is and if there is corruption.

"Ensuring good governance is a must for the success of BRI," he said.

SOHEL CHY'S MURDER

Judge cites reasons for failure to finish trial

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A tribunal judge has informed the Supreme Court that the trial proceedings of the case, filed over the murder of film actor Sohel Chowdhury 25 years ago, have not been finished due to six reasons.

"The failure of the prosecution to produce witnesses can be identified as one of the main reasons for the delay," M Ali Ahmed, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-2 of Dhaka, said in a written explanation during hearing of a petition yesterday.

On December 18, 1998, Sohel Chowdhury was shot dead at Trumps Club in Abedin Tower, in Banani.

On October 29 this year, the SC issued a show cause notice upon the judge of the tribunal asking him to explain why his court could not finish the trial proceedings.

On February 7 this year, the SC directed the lower court concerned to finish within six months the case's trial proceedings. Yesterday, the apex court ordered the tribunal judge to finish it in the next six months.

Butcher shop employee hacked to death in Dhaka

UNB, Dhaka

Miscreants hacked a butcher shop employee to death in Adam Ali Market of Dhaka's Dakkhinkhan area early yesterday, said police.

The deceased was identified as Khairul Islam, 27, of the capital's Badda area.

Siddiqui Rahaman, officer-in-charge of Dakkhinkhan Police Station, said there were several injury marks on his body.

Excessive bleeding might led to his death, he added.

The body was sent to the Surawardhy Medical College Hospital morgue for an autopsy.

The OC also said no one has so far been detained in this connection. He said they have collected CCTV footage of the area to identify the killers.

'He paid each person Tk 150 for sabotage'

Says DB about Janata Adhikar Party chairman after arrest

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Detective Branch of police on Sunday arrested Tarekul Islam, chairman of unregistered Janata Adhikar Party, for his alleged involvement in sabotage, vandalism, and attacks on law enforcers during BNP's October 28 rally.

Cyber and Special Crime Division (north) of DB police arrested Tareq, 35, from the capital's Ramna area after analysing CCTV footage.

Harun Or Rashid, additional commissioner (DB) of DMP, confirmed the arrest while addressing reporters at the capital's Minto Road yesterday.

"While analysing video footage during investigation, Tareq was seen leading the attacks on police, vandalising, and setting fire to vehicles," he said.

Tareq used to contest polls in different areas of the country, said Harun.

Tareq contested as an independent candidate from Feni-1 constituency in 2018 national polls, in mayoral election of Feni municipality in 2020, and as an independent candidate in the by-polls of Dhaka-17 constituency this year, said the DB chief.

"Tareq used to hire people for Tk 150 each for vandalising. He presented them as party leaders and activists. He also paid them Tk 100 for food allowance," said Harun.

Tareq used to play an active role in various programmes with BNP senior leaders, he said.

Later, Tareq carried out pre-planned sabotage activities like attacks on the police, attacks on the chief justice's residence, bus, government establishments, and arson of police boxes, said police.

Referring to the preliminary interrogation, Harun said many senior leaders of BNP and affiliated organisations have close relations with Tareq.

As part of pre-planning with the BNP leaders, they divided into small groups and led sabotage activities at various places, he said.

Appeal for help

STAR REPORT

Rexona Begum, 52, from Gopalganj, is fighting for life after she suffered two brain strokes, said a press release.

Currently, she is undergoing treatment at the National Institute of Neurosciences and Hospital in Dhaka.

Earlier, she received treatment at Khulna Medical College Hospital.

According to the suggestion of the doctors at the national institute, she should be operated on immediately, which would cost more than Tk 5 lakh.

But, the family alone cannot afford the treatment as Rexona's husband is a rickshaw-van puller.

Therefore, they have requested the well-off of the society to come forward with financial help.

Aid can be sent to SM Hasibul Haque (patient's in-law), Savings Account No 0123001002563, Sonali Bank, Sonargaon Hotel Branch, Dhaka; or bKash No 01717438961.
