PATIENTS WITH SPINAL CORD INJURY

Not enough facilities to address their woes

Speakers tell conference, stress for strengthening services

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Patients with acute spinal cord injury remain widely neglected due to lack of facilities in the country, said speakers at an international conference yesterday.

"The acute SCI (spinal cord injury) patients remain neglected as there are only a few centres to provide services to them. If any accidents happen, often there are no transportation services to take them to nearby hospitals. Even government hospitals do not have adequate facilities to accommodate and rehabilitate them," said Fazlul Hoque, spine surgeon and also founder convener of the Asian Spinal Cord Network (ASCoN).

He said this while addressing the opening session of three-day 22nd ASCoN Conference.

Dr Fazlul urged the director general of the Directorate General of Health Services to take steps to arrange facilities at government hospitals and specialised hospitals for patients with spinal cord injury.

Speaking as the chief guest, Prof Dr Sharafuddin Ahmed, vice-chancellor of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujib Medical University, pledged to initiate arrangements at BSMU to provide services and rehabilitation for such patients.

Need multi-pronged steps to control dengue: speakers

PMO urged to take the lead

Integrated steps are needed to prevent the spread of dengue fever, said Prof Dr Meerjady Sabrina Flora, director of the National Institute of Preventive and Social Medicine (NIPSOM), yesterday.

"Today, dengue is our national problem, like it was in the case of Covid-19. We controlled the Covid-19 pandemic. While there are many stockholders of this success, I think we have succeeded in fighting Covid-19 because of political will. If the Prime Minister's Office didn't take the leading position, I think it would have been tough to integrate the ministries to work to this end," she said at a seminar arranged by Epidemiological Association of Bangladesh (EPAB) at the NIPSOM auditorium.

"The number of fatalities and effects of this year surpassed the cumulative dengue-related fatalities recorded over the past 22 years, since the disease's outbreak in the country in 2000," said public health expert Dr Mushtaq Hussain.

"The average temperature between 2000-2010 was in collaboration with The Daily Star organised the event at The Daily Star Centre yesterday.

Presenting the keynote speech, Supreme Court lawyer Ashraf Ali delved into the various sections of the law and said, "There is a fundamental distinction between conflict and crime. Not all conflicts are crimes. However, the majority of the provisions in this criminal law are aimed at resolving conflicts."

Citing Section 6 of the act, Ashraf said, "If any document is proven to be prepared through fraud or forgery, the court concerned shall send a copy of the judgement to the deputy commissioner concerned."

"But as we know, land records fall under the purview of the sub-registry office, and they would take steps to cancel such documents or implement other measures in such cases. DC offices have no jurisdiction over this," he clarified.

Talking about another section of the law, he said, "No other law
