

ANIME

ANIME TO LOOK OUT FOR IN 2024

MD. NAYEEM HAIDER

Kaiju No.8

The story takes place in a world where monsters, known as kaijus, wreak havoc on humanity. The protagonist, Kafka Hibino, following the loss of his hometown to these monsters, vows to join the specially equipped force combatting the horrors these creatures perpetually unleash. But it is only after he gains the power of a kaiju himself that he can truly move forward with the aspiration of eradicating the fearsome kaijus.

Solo Levelling

Solo Levelling, adapted from the hugely popular Korean web novel of the same name, needs no introduction. It follows Jin-woo, an infamously weak hunter, in a world where hunters with supernatural powers battle monsters and clear dungeons to protect humanity. Following the loss of nearly his entire party in the dungeons, Jin-woo is mysteriously bestowed with the ability to grow more powerful without restraint or limitation. Longtime fans and new viewers alike will hope that the adaptation can capture the magic of the original.

Dandadan

Adapted from the popular manga of the same name, Dandadan looks to be a whimsical, action-packed ride filled to the rim with fun. The characters look quirky and lovable, the choreography of the action is thrill-inducing, and the comedy will probably get one in stitches laughing. Being a bizarre story threading together ghosts, aliens, supernatural powers, and the relationship between two contrasting teenagers as they navigate it all together, it is highly probable that Dandadan will be worth keeping one's eyes peeled for.

Blue Box

As far as slice-of-life anime go, this may well offer more than just the complete package. The music used in the trailer really drew me in, and I find the detailed art style nothing short of picturesque and breathtaking. This one blends together a heartfelt passion for sports with the flavours of romantic longing and teenage love. The overwhelmingly positive reception for its manga suggests that, if executed correctly, this mix is certain to be a fine delicacy that tugs at more than a few heartstrings.
