Will carbofuran usage finally stop?

Govt orders to destroy the toxic pesticide; halts its sale

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

In a move to rid the country of the highly hazardous pesticide carbofuran, the government has issued directives to destroy all of its stocks and halt its advertisement, sale, and use with immediate effect.

The plant protection wing under the Department of Agricultural Extension sent out letters on February 19 to district and upazila agriculture officials, importers, and traders, instructing them to comply with the order and report back.

"We have no field-level officials, so we sought help from the local agriculture officials to take necessary actions against carbofuran," said Md Ashraf Uddin, director of plant protection wing.

"The officials were instructed that carbofuran's advertisement, sale, and use must be stopped strictly," he added.

While importers claim they have no remaining stocks, small quantities may still be present at dealer and farmer levels, company owners said.

M Sayeduzzaman, president of Bangladesh Crop Protection Association, who also received the letter, said companies have no stock of carbofuran.

He said there might be some stock at the dealer and customer level, but the companies have already stopped importing and distributing it.

Atiqul said, "We are taking a zero tolerance policy to reclaim the canal. There will be no structures permitted along its boundaries."

Resolving clashes through councils

AL mulls reorganising party in the wake of infighting; central leaders to tour districts

ASHIK ABDULLAH APU

With incidents of clashes, shootouts, and murders, the ruling Awami League has been reeling from infighting since January's national polls.

Faced with the consequences of allowing its members to run as independents against party nominees, AL has launched several initiatives to mend divisions and resolve internal feuds.

According to a report by Human Rights Support Society, at least five people were killed, 60 shot, and over 450 injured in infighting between AL leaders and activists in at least 39 districts between January 7 and January 17.

Party President Sheikh Hasina called for unity, urging leaders to immediately convene councils across districts, upazilas, and city

"The party is being reorganised from the grassroots level. This is an ongoing process. It was halted due to the national election and now it has been resumed."

AL Joint General Secretary AFM Bahauddin Nasim

The aim is to reconstitute the party at the grassroots, ensuring revitalised organisational activities.

Central leaders will travel to troubled districts later this month, tasked with mediating disputes and overseeing the formation of new committees in units where leadership has expired.

During a recent joint meeting at the AL central office on Bangabandhu Avenue, these decisions were communicated to the party's joint general secretaries and organising secretaries who are in charge of eight divisions.

At the meeting, AL General Secretary Obaidul Quader emphasised the need to address party conflicts and conduct overdue councils for various AL units and affiliated bodies.

units. The party supremo has also instructed to hold councils of its associated bodies whose committees have expired.

She also directed the formation of complete committees in areas where councils were convened but committees were not fully formed.

MOHADEO RIVER HC stays leasing of Balumahal

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court has stayed all the tender proceedings for leasing out the Balumahal (designated sand quarry) at Mohadeo river in Netrokona for a month.

Mohadeo stems from hilly areas of Meghalaya in India and enters Bangladesh through Kalmakanda upazila of Netrakona. Rural areas including local markets, mosque, temples and arable lands have been severely damaged due to the sand mining in this river.

On Sunday, the HC also directed the Bangladesh Inland Water Development Authority to conduct a hydrographic survey on the river and to submit the report though the deputy commissioner of Netrokona.

The HC bench of Justice Mustafa Zaman Islam and Justice Md Atabullah passed the order following a petition filed by the Bangladesh Environmental Lawyers Association.

According to the petition, Netrokona district administration floated fresh tenders on January 28 this year for leasing out the Balumahal of Mohadeo River in violation of the Balumahal and Mati Byabosthapana Ain, 2010.

On June 13, 2022, following a writ petition filed by BELA, the HC issued a rule asking the authorities of government to explain why their failure to protect Mohadeo river and its adjacent homesteads, local markets, arable lands and religious sites should not be declared illegal and against the interest of people.

It also directed the authorities to submit an assessment report on the river's condition soon.
