

RMG workers block highway in Gazipur for arrears

OUR CORRESPONDENT,
Gazipur

Garment workers blocked the Dhaka Mymensingh highway in Gazipur for two hours yesterday morning, demanding salaries under the new payment structure. Workers of Dutch Bangla Spinning Mills in Sreepur upazila blocked the highway from around 6:00am.

The protesting workers said that they have been demanding salary under the new structure for the last three months. But there was no response from the authorities.

protesters also said that they did not get their salary timely in the last few months.

Gazipur Industrial Police Inspector Ariful Islam said traffic movement resumed around 8:00am.

During the protest, the workers were seen throwing brickbats at the police. In return, the law enforcers threw five sound grenades to bring the situation under control, Ariful Islam said.

Despite multiple attempts, The Daily Star failed to get Dutch Bangla Spinning Mill's authorities' comments in this regard.

alongside recovering Tk 6 lakh of ransom money and a handcuff, said the DB chief.

"The arrestees Lavli and Syma are mother and daughter," he said.

"On the day, Liton was asked to meet Lavli at her Demra residence. Syma received him on the way from his Brahmanbaria home. Soon after Liton went there, Juwel and three others confined Liton," he also said.

Juwel called Liton's family and asked for Tk 10 lakh as ransom through cryptocurrency, said the investigators, and provided contact of one Mohammad Ali Rifat, who is now in Dubai, to pay the ransom through dollar to him, said Harun. The family then paid US$ 8,000 to Rifat to convert those into cryptocurrency in exchange for Tk 10 lakh.

Detectives are now looking for Rifat and other members of the syndicate. Juwel, who is wanted in at least 24 cases including murder, robbery, abduction, and pornography, also took a total of Tk 66 lakh as ransom by abducting two other persons previously, Harun added.

need of sustainable approach in organisations to build a diverse and inclusive workplace and culture.

"Alongside hiring more female workers who are talented and promising, they must be properly mentored, trained and developed. Retention of this process is necessary for the flourishing of female leadership in organisations," she said.

A strong network, designed prioritising women and their stance at strategic places, is essential, she added.

BORSHIJORA ECOPARK

A Tk 100cr project gone wrong

MINTU DESHWARA, Moulvibazar

To harness the untapped potential of ecotourism in the region, the Borshijora Ecopark was set up in 2006 across a vast expanse of natural reserve forest in Moulvibazar's Sadar upazila.

Nearly two decades on, the eco-park could not even be fully opened due to a lack of manpower, adequate security measures, and necessary eco-friendly facilities.

Visiting the eco-park recently, this correspondent found only three persons were employed for the management and security of its entire 887-acre forest area.

According to the Wildlife Management and Nature Conservation Department, Borshijora Ecopark was set up in the protected forest area to preserve its biodiversity and attract tourists, at a cost of around Tk 100 crore.

Initially, two double room cottages, four picnic spots, two observation towers, four security outposts, five public toilets, a ticket counter, and an archway were constructed in 2006-07 for tourists.

Seldom tourists visited the park after it was launched. Till today, it largely failed to grasp the interest of tourists, said Shaheen Alam, a junior wildlife scout of the Wildlife Management and Nature Conservation Department.

He blamed lack of security, maintenance and an acute manpower crisis for the failure.

Over the years, the cottages and other infrastructure in the eco-park have become unusable. The park is largely unprotected. With no boundary wall and manpower to protect it, people trespass the area at will.

Locals were seen freely moving through paths in the eco park's Karali Tila, Hiron Kuchi, and Goalabari areas, where there were dense forest covers of Eucalyptus, Sal, and various other trees. Several trees were found felled by the forest department in the Hiron Kuchi area. Many dead skylarks were also seen there, suggesting that those died when the trees were felled.

The iron staircase leading to the observation tower was found broken.

According to the Sylhet divisional office of the department, a project titled "Forestry and Eco-tourism Development in Lawachhara-Satchhari National Park and Borshijora Ecopark" was submitted to the Forest Department in 2022.

The project recommended setting up eco-tourism facilities in the forest areas to attract tourists to add to the local economy and also help the wildlife and biodiversity to thrive, the region's economy. It, however, did not progress further.

"With settlements around the eco-park, it is not possible to ensure security with only three staffers. There is no boundary wall. People use the paths through the park all day and night. The manpower needs to be increased as well as security infrastructure," said Abu Naem Md Nurunnabi, beat officer at Borshijora Ecopark.

"Long-term planning is needed. A master plan is being worked on to that end," said Jahangir Alam, divisional forest officer in Sylhet.

Ensure fair competition in market Plastic

employment and induce economic growth, he said. He added that in this case the regulator should be careful so that big conglomerates cannot occupy the market and create a monopoly.

Fair competition expands the market and benefits the consumers, said AK Enamul Haque, dean of faculty of business and economics at East West University.

"So, the regulator should be cautious about unfair practice by big conglomerates. Otherwise, good and real manufacturers may quit the market facing unfair competition, which will eventually affect the economy," he said.

He suggested not to abuse the law against manufacturers, and rather find out the actual reason behind price increase.

According to him, there is no provision to punish the entrepreneurs for forming syndicate or cartel in the market without proper evidence.

Hamidul Mishbah, founder of Bangladesh IP Forum, said while syndicate is not always bad, however, if syndicates are formed with the aim to create artificial crisis in the market, then it is a punishable offence.

Practically there is no clause for market syndicate in any law in the world including Bangladesh, he added.

Moderating the dialogue, Bazlur Rahman called for creating public awareness about the competition law and the competition commission's actions in controlling the product prices.

Gawher Nayeem Wahra, writer and researcher, and MS Siddique, adviser to the Bangladesh Competition Commission, also spoke among others.

Refuting the allegations, Morshedul Alam Chowdhury, deputy chief conservancy officer of CCC, said the workers regularly clean up the canal, but the situation does not improve as locals and traders at make-shift kitchen markets in Chawkbazar Dhunir Pool to Phultala continue to dump waste into canals at nights.

Abul Bashar Mohammad Fakhruzzaman, deputy commissioner of Chattogram, said, "Due to important engagements, including the national polls, we could not conduct mobile courts till January. The drives have resumed."

C-section: When and maternal health specialist and deputy country director of Save the Children in Bangladesh, told The Daily Star.

A TEST CASE

This correspondent has recently visited different hospitals in town and villages in Manikganj and talked to dozens of people, including hospital owners, patients and doctors.

It was found that multiple syndicates of doctors, hospital owners, field-level health workers and brokers are active in the district to misguide expecting women to undergo C-sections.

Of the 28,606 children who were born in Manikganj in 2022, 49 percent were delivered through C-section, and 88 percent of the Caesarean deliveries were conducted in private hospitals, according to data from the district's civil surgeon's office, two hospitals, and district family planning office.

During his visits, our correspondent found that a host of clinics - Monno Medical College Hospital, Doyal Clinic, Apollo Hospital, Doctors' Clinic, Islami Bank Community Hospital, United Hospital, Medilab Hospital, Zamzang Hospital and Surjer Hashi Clinic - are each conducting over 100 C-sections monthly.

Most of these hospital owners declined to comment on the issue.

Some of them, wishing anonymity, said they have to spend huge sums to run their hospitals and C-section is a major income source for them.

"Caesarean patients are the main source of our income. If we don't get a sufficient number of C-section patients, we will be compelled to shut our hospitals," said a hospital owner wishing anonymity.

Meanwhile, Delwar Hossain, Chairman of City Hospital, said, "Several brokers and health workers are engaged in bringing C-section patients to our hospital. We pay Tk 1,500 to 2,000 to a health worker for each patient."

Swapna Mushtari Ima and Piya Akhter of Shibaboy upazila, Shilpi Akhter of Hariampur upazila, and Lamia Akhter of Sadar upazila underwent C-section at Chashir Hashi clinic in Manikganj in September last year.

All of them were brought to the clinic by its health workers. They had to pay Tk 12,000 for the procedures. Of which, Tk 2,000 was given to the brokers.

"There are 20 cabins in my clinic. I get a good number of C-section patients each month. I pay at least Tk 2,000 to health workers for bringing each C-section patient," said the clinic's owner Harun-Ar-Rashid.

Dr Moazzem Ali Khan, civil surgeon of Manikganj, said, "We always encourage normal delivery. However, we suggest a C-section if the patient faces health complexities. Also, many women themselves want to go through C-sections."

THE RISKS

"A C-section procedure not only requires a family to spend a huge amount of money but also poses different types of health hazards to mother and baby," said Dr Mannan of Save the Children.

"Immediately after a caesarean delivery, the newborn is kept away from the mother for some time. During this time, the baby cannot be breastfed, although it is very crucial for the newborn at that moment," he added.

"Unnecessary C-section can also cause mutilation, excessive bleeding, infection, complexity in having more babies for mothers and other health complexities," he said.

On October 12, 2023, the High Court directed the health ministry to take necessary measures so that all government and private hospitals follow proper guidelines in conducting C-sections.

Prof Harun-ur-Rashid, president of Kidney Foundation, said people over 40 should get regular screening for kidney problems, because people often do not suffer symptoms until 80 to 85 percent of the kidneys are damaged.

Anwar Hossain, professor of paediatric nephrology, said 16.2 percent babies were born prematurely in the country, and these preterm babies were at risk of kidney diseases.
