

PAKISTAN JUDICIARY

Take notice of allegations of interference

Over 300 lawyers call on Supreme Court

DAWN ONLINE

Over 300 lawyers yesterday urged the Pakistan Supreme Court (SC) to take notice of allegations of interference in the judiciary by the intelligence apparatus under Article 184(3) of the Constitution, adding that any government-led commission "would be bereft of necessary independence and powers" to probe the claims.

Article 184(3) of the Constitution sets out the SC's original jurisdiction and enables it to assume jurisdiction in matters involving a question of "public importance" with reference to the "enforcement of any of the fundamental rights" of Pakistan's citizens.

On Tuesday, six Islamabad High Court

PM Sharif and CJP Isa decided to form a commission to probe concerns of interference in judicial affairs.

judges — out of a total strength of eight — wrote a startling letter to the Supreme Judicial Council (SJC) members, regarding attempts to pressure judges through abduction and torture of their relatives as well as secret surveillance inside their homes.

A day later, calls emerged from various quarters for a probe into the investigation, amid which Chief Justice of Pakistan (CJP) Qazi Faez Isa summoned a full court meeting of the SC judges.

On Thursday, Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif met CJP Isa, where the two decided to form a commission to investigate the concerns of interference in judicial affairs following the cabinet's approval.

On Saturday, the federal cabinet approved the constitution of an inquiry commission headed by former CJP Tassaduq Hussain Jilani to probe the allegations and decide whether these are true or otherwise.

Gaza children fly kites to escape horrors of offensive

AFP, Rafah

Metres away from the concrete and steel fence separating the Gaza Strip from Egypt, 11-year-old Malak Ayad flies a paper kite high in the sky — a welcome distraction from the horrors of Israeli offensive.

"Every day I play with my brothers and cousins with kites next to the Egyptian border," said the Palestinian girl, displaced from Gaza City with her family to the southern city of Rafah.

"When I do, I feel free and safe," she added, gently manoeuvring her kite, which she calls "Butterfly", back and forth across the border with a white string.

Her cousins and friends run along the fence trying, in vain, to get their kites to take flight, but a loud explosion in the distance makes them stop in their tracks. "Quickly, the (Israeli) bombardment is getting closer," said Malak's uncle Mohammed Ayad, 24, urging the children to leave the area.

Malak quickly obeys, reeling in her kite and folding it, then rushes back to a tent where her family is taking shelter in the nearby Khir area.

"Playtime is over. When air strikes begin we run back home," Malak said, trembling with fear.

Israel's campaign to destroy Hamas has killed at least 32,782 people, mostly women and children, according to the Gaza health ministry.

Malak Ayad and her family are among 1.5 million people, most of them displaced by the offensive, now living in Rafah, where Israel has vowed to carry a ground offensive as it pursues its campaign against Hamas.

Despite the offensive and the fear that grips her, Malak seems to be happy to fly her kite and dreams of life as it was before the offensive broke out on October 7. "My kite flies to Egypt everyday while we are here trapped in Gaza," said Malak, who wears a bracelet featuring the Palestinian flag.

"I don't know when we will be able to return home," she said, adding that her mother told her that her school has been hit by the Israeli army and "destroyed".

CYBER FRAUD SCHEMES

India rescuing citizens forced into work in Cambodia

REUTERS, New Delhi

The Indian government said it was rescuing its citizens who were lured into employment in Cambodia and were being forced to participate in cyber fraud schemes. The Indian embassy in Cambodia is working with Cambodian authorities and has rescued and repatriated about 250 Indians, including 75 in the last three months, India's Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said in a statement on Saturday. Jaiswal was responding to Indian news reports that stated more than 5,000 Indians are trapped in Cambodia and being forced to carry out cyber frauds on people back home. "We are also working with Cambodian authorities and with agencies in India to crack down on those responsible for these fraudulent schemes," Jaiswal said. The Indian government and its embassy in Cambodia have issued several advisories informing them about such scams, the spokesperson said. The Cambodian embassy in India did not respond immediately to a request for comment yesterday.

8 killed, 23 hurt in car blast in Syrian town

AFP, Azaz

A bomb exploded in a shopping area in a northern Syrian city held by pro-Turkish forces yesterday, killing eight people and wounding more than 20, a war monitor said. The blast in Azaz, Aleppo province, occurred not long after midnight as crowds were out shopping late during the Muslim holy fasting month of Ramadan, an AFP correspondent said. The group Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said that "eight people were killed and 23 others wounded" when "a car bomb exploded in the middle of a popular market". The Britain-based Observatory, which has a network of sources inside Syria, said the blast caused "significant damage" and sparked a fire. Bombings and other security incidents are common in areas held by pro-Turkish forces in northern Syria.

Russia hits energy, gas infrastructure in Ukraine

France to send armoured vehicles, missiles to Kyiv

REUTERS, Moscow

The Russian air force has conducted a massive strike on objects of energy infrastructure and the gas industry in Ukraine, Russian defence ministry said yesterday.

The ministry said that it used "high-precision long-range air-based weapons" and drones.

"As a result of this strike, the operation of defence industry enterprises involved in the manufacture and repair of weapons, equipment and ammunition has been disrupted. All the goals of the strike have been achieved. The assigned objects were hit," the ministry said.

Meanwhile, France will deliver hundreds of old armoured vehicles and new surface-to-air missiles to Ukraine in its war against Russia, French Defence Minister Sebastien Lecornu said.

In an interview with La Tribune Dimanche, Lecornu said that President Emmanuel Macron, following talks with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky, had asked him to prepare a new aid package, which will include old but still functional French equipment.

"The Ukrainian army needs to defend a very long front line, which requires armoured vehicles; this is absolutely crucial for troop mobility and is part of the Ukrainian requests," he said.

He said France was looking at providing hundreds of VAB (Véhicule de l'Avant Blindé) troop carriers in 2024 and early 2025.

BCL, protesters face off over ban on politics

Student politics was banned on Buet campus after the murder of second-year student Abrar Fahad by some BCL men at the university's Sher-e-Bangla Hall on October 7, 2019.

Since Friday, Buet students have been demanding expulsion of Imtiaz from the university and removal of Prof Mizanur Rahman from the post of director of the Directorate of Students' Welfare for what they said was his failure to keep the campus free from politics, an allegation Prof Mizanur refutes.

BCL RALLY Saddam said the death of Abrar was tragic, but certain evil forces are trying to establish fundamentalism on the campus by taking undue advantage of the situation.

"As a citizen of Bangladesh, I have the right to go anywhere ... From whom do we need to seek permission? We have the right to go to any university in the world, not just Buet.

"You [Buet] have restricted students' right to freely express their opinion and prevented them from expressing their political thoughts and ideas. In the name of banning [student politics], you have started cultivating the politics of darkness there."

Stating that Buet has a "cancel culture", he said students involved in politics cannot socialise, those who observed the birth anniversary of Bangabandhu and the Independence Day were boycotted.

The ban on politics is like a "black law", he said.

"Student politics may have some negative aspects ... but better politics can replace the negative aspects. The general students themselves will decide the structure of student politics at Buet. We want Buet to show the path for student politics in Bangladesh."

Cadres of banned Islamist outfit Hizbut Tahrir send emails to Buet students, inviting them to be involved in terrorism, he added.

"Thirty-four students are involved in anti state activities. [Demonstrating] Buet students are not saying anything about them. From where have you learned this selective justice?"

WHAT BUET STUDENTS SAY Demonstrating Buet students did not mention their names at the press conference.

One of them said the protesters did not hold their sit-in programme because they were feeling insecure amid continuous loudspeaker announcements around campus, threats received over the phone, and rumours spread on social media.

Except for one student, the entire 20th batch spontaneously boycotted the exams, said another speaker, adding that this showed the collective moral stance against the resumption of student politics at Buet.

The students want a safe campus where someone's pursuit of power does not jeopardise everyone's safety and the educational environment becomes a hostage to greed, said the demonstrator.

Regarding the allegation that Islamist outfit Hizbut Tahrir was active at Buet, the protester said that as per security camera footage, outsiders put up the posters and distributed the flyers of the banned organisation.

The students informed the director and sought appropriate measures after they received an email in their institutional email ID, said the protester.

Thirty-four students, including 24 from Buet, were arrested on charges of "conspiring" against the government during a trip to Sunamganj's Tanguar Haor in July last year.

There was not enough evidence about the incident that occurred outside Buet, said the demonstrator, adding that the matter was pending with the court.

"If there is proof, we will seek expulsion of those found involved with Chhatra Shibir."

Engaging in political activities, forming committees, staging showdowns, and organising public gatherings are violations of a decision that was aimed at keeping the campus free from politics.
