

Having said all this, let's also remember that not long ago when the internet had not taken over the world, and the world was not considered a united global stage. Our mothers donned Rajshahi silk saree, Tangail tant, and Dhakai Jamdani on almost all occasions. Today, thanks to technology a lot has changed, the borders almost do not exist. But let's use this as an inspiration to improve our products rather than moving to consuming foreign products only. To cater to not only our own but also the global clients. And the entire process can only begin when we truly fall in love with our work and take pride in it.
