Library with 15,000 books on verge of collapse

Renovation stalled due to lack of fund

S DILIP ROY, Lalmonirhat

A village with its own library, that too with a collection of around 15,000 books, is a wonderful, yet rare feat in our country's context.

Tiparbazar in Lalmonirhat's Aitmari upazila is one such rare village. Local youths, led by Jamal Hossain, established Sarpukur Youth Forum Library with only 10 books in 2014.

Back then, Jamal was just a schoolboy. He felt the need for a library in the village for helping the youth excel in their studies. The Daily Star published a report on it in 2017.

The library was set up in a small, tin-shed house on land owned by RDRS Bangladesh, a non-government organisation.

The founders, who are now studying in different colleges and universities now, still continue to oversee the library's affairs.

However, over the years, the hut that houses the library has become dilapidated and is now in urgent need of renovation. A new structure is also necessary to keep the more than 15,000 books inside the library. Unfortunately, the members of the library's committee are unable to bear the cost of the renovation work as all of them are still students.

Visiting the library recently, this correspondent saw the corrugated iron roofing has become rusty with holes, leaking rainwater inside the library. The walls and bamboo poles supporting the hut have become fragile and may collapse any time.

Niramoy Kumar Roy, a schoolboy studying in the library, and Sujam Mia, a college-goer, echoed the same.

Shyamal Chandra Roy, a school teacher, said, "The library played an important role in spreading the light of education in the village and its neighbouring ones over the years. Its renovation is necessary."

Shamsul Haque, 58, a farmer in the village, said many farmers, including himself, come to this library to read books on agriculture, and they have been greatly benefitted from it.

"The farmers would cooperate in repairing the library house," he added.

Jamal Hossain, founder president of the library, said, "The renovation work is being discussed. Everyone in the village is ready to contribute to this end. Hopefully it will be repaired soon."

Anwara was born in Kolkata on July 2, 1938 and her family was from Satkania, Chattogram.

X-ray machine

Tangail and Sherpur come to this clinic seeking free treatment for chest-related complications.

"I came here to avail of the free treatment while also for the ease of access, but now I am being referred to BRAC centre and other hospitals for tests," said Abul Hossain, 42, from Paranganj in Mymensingh Sadar upazila.

Abdul Kashem, 58, another patient, echoed the same.

Advocate Nazrul Islam Chunnun, convener of a citizens' platform Jonouddogh Mymensingh, said, "It is sheer negligence of the clinic authorities in performing their assigned duties towards the patients."

Dr Muhammad Nasir Uddin, a junior consultant at the clinic, admitted that the clinic urgently needs to install the X-ray machine and arrange for other diagnostic facilities.

Dr Md Nazrul Islam, civil surgeon of Mymensingh, claimed that he wrote to the higher authorities concerned for a secured room to install the machine after he joined there three years ago.

"The Health Engineering Department recently informed us that they would build the X-ray room this year," he also said.

Prof Dr Mazharul Islam, director (health) of Mymensingh division, said the prevailing problems at the clinic should be mitigated soon.

Appreciating Bangladesh's stable economy and growing market, he expressed Canada's institutional investors' interest in investment in Bangladesh.

The foreign secretary welcomed the decision of the Canadian government to appoint Thoppil as the

The blood river

they jumped into the Bhadra river in a largely futile attempt to flee the carnage.

On that day, more than 10,000 people, mostly belonging to the Hindu community, were slain by the Pakistan army at Chuknagar in only six hours, according to "Bangladesher Shadhinota Juddho: Dalilpatro".

The Pakistan army started the massacre at 11:00am and stopped at 5:00pm on May 20 only due to the fact that they ran out of ammunition. Most of the bodies were dumped into the Bhadra.

The survivors were left grappling with a trauma that would scar them for life. Abul Kalam Mohiuddin, is one of them.

"There were so many bodies all around the field that it was impossible to bury them or burn them in accordance with the ritual," he said.

"So, the bazar committee decided to dispose of the bodies into the river as the nearby Bhadra river was quite torrential. People of Chuknagar and the nearby villages became so frightened that they never ventured near these rivers for the rest of the war," he said.

Shankar Kumar Mallick, Trustee of the 1971 Genocide Torture Archive and Museum in Khulna, said, "While 1,500 people died in the Mai Lai massacre in Vietnam, over 10,000 were killed in the Chuknagar genocide. However, the day is still underrepresented in history."

In 2005, the government purchased 78 decimals of land, and in 2006, a 32-decimal portion of it was used to build the Chuknagar Shaheed Smritishoudho memorial to honour the victims.
