

The strength of a woman

What she has seen is unsurpassable,
And yet they say it's every woman's journey.
Cage her, contain her, drain her of her worth,
Yet she comes back, twice as strong.
Bent but not broken,
shaken but not shattered.
She is resilient!
Rising above a ruined city – she once called home,
Like a phoenix in all her power,
unrestricted, optimistic, and self-assured.
