

Eid-ul-Azha — A time for reflection, sacrifice, and celebration

Eid is not only a religious experience but also an occasion to celebrate. Preparing for Eid-ul-Azha may not be as elaborate a process as Eid-ul-Fitr — the prominence of the occasion shifts to the ritual sacrifice. However, that does not mean one should shy away from socialising during this festive time. As we mingle with family and friends for luncheons or dinners, there is a need to look in our festive best.

This week, Star Lifestyle attempts to present some styling ideas for the coming Eid. Keeping in mind that the sacred occasion coincides with a sweltering summer, we present a style guide for your comfort.

For fashionistas, sarees are no longer the primary concern, it is the blouse that steals the limelight. For that reason alone, we suggest some styling ideas to make you stand apart on social occasions. We also suggest makeup tips to round up your entire look for the day.

As a concluding note, we request our readers to adhere to civic responsibilities and maintain the strictest hygiene conditions while carrying out your religious duties. Remember, cleanliness is part of the faith.
