

'PM to take responsibility of their families'

Says Quader on people who died in recent unrest

BSS, Dhaka

Awami League General Secretary Obaidul Quader yesterday said Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina will take responsibility of the families of the people killed in the recent nationwide unrest.

"A committee has been formed for investigation and every culprit will be brought to book," he said while addressing a coordination meeting with the ward leaders of AL Dhaka north unit at AL district office in the capital's Tejgaon.

The minister said BNP-Jamaat carried out the arson centring the quota reform movement.

He said AL will stand beside the families of the deceased and injured.

"The foreigners became astonished to see the nationwide destructive activities carried out by BNP-Jamaat. They carried out the vandalism after bringing their terrorists, like in 2014," he added.

GRAMEEN KALYAN HC verdict on two petitions July 30

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday fixed July 30 for delivering verdicts on two separate writ petitions that challenged the NBR orders over the reassessment of around Tk 600 crore as income tax from Grameen Kalyan for different tax years.

Grameen Kalyan is a non-profitable and charitable organisation founded by Nobel laureate Professor Muhammad Yunus.

Yesterday, the HC bench of Justice Muhammad Khurshid Alam Sarkar and Justice SM Maniruzzaman set July 30 as the date for delivering judgement after concluding the hearing on the matters.

Senior lawyer Sarder Jinnat Ali appeared for Grameen Kalyan while Assistant Attorney General Tahmina Poly argued for the state.

With the curfew being relaxed for seven hours, Dhaka continues to see the usual gridlock on most of its major roads. The photo was taken near Nabisco Mor in Tejgaon yesterday.

people, who died at point blank shooting or at their own home or rooftop, who were not in the protest he held accountable.

"On the other hand, the judicial commission will only investigate the six death incidents that happened on July 16. So, are the rest of the lives worthless? Should we accept dying by bullets at home and accept it as regular normal events?" TIB executive director added.

He also questioned the recent arrests and charges against the protesters and called upon the government not to turn it into a "festivity" of arrest and harassing people.

Citing media reports, TIB said the students who participated in the peaceful quota reform protests are constantly under the fear of arrest, abduction, and physical-mental torture.

"The responsible ones of the government, including the ministers, have admitted that no student has been involved in any atrocities. Despite this, illegal abduction of the students by the law enforcement agencies is nothing but a total disregard for the constitutional right to civilian protest and movement," said

Iftekharuzzaman.

The anti-corruption watchdog also called upon the government to immediately stop repressive measures against the students and announce acceptance of all the students' legitimate demands.

In addition, TIB called for holding a dialogue with the full group of coordinators of the student movement to develop a mutually agreed road map for enforcement of the government's commitments.

He also said the shutting down of internet to repress the movement is a suicidal decision. TIB urged the government to immediately resume the internet service of mobile and broadband in full swing to revive trade and commerce and ensure the free flow of information.

The organisation said the arson attacks, which took place at important government establishments, raised questions on the respective government institutions' capabilities, preparedness, and integrity in safeguarding those establishments.

The TIB called upon the government to take corrective lessons from the prevailing crisis.

patients at DMCH from July 19 to July 21.

Dr Rezvan, who worked with Rhythm Blood Centre at DMCH, said, "Bullet-hit patients experience acute blood loss due to external bleeding and internal hemorrhage. Even to this date, many patients are in need of blood transfusion at DMCH.

Due to excessive need of blood from July 19 to July 21, blood transfusion of previously admitted patients could not be done on time."

Now, blood transfusion of regular patients, which have been rescheduled, and those with bullet-injuries, who have recently gone through surgeries, are being done, said officials.

A long queue of blood donors and relatives of patients was seen in front of DMCH's blood bank and blood transfusion centre in the last couple of days. To tackle the crisis, the hospital authority has opened blood exchange provision for the patients in need of blood.

A notice in front of the blood transfusion centre reads, "To ensure availability of blood for all patients, according to the directives of the director of DMCH, we would like to inform that from 16/07/24, if you do not find donors that match your patient's blood group, you can collect blood for your patient from the blood bank by donating a bag of blood of any group."

A duty doctor at the transfusion centre said, "Thanks to the donors and volunteers, we don't have a blood crisis anymore. But we are going through an excessive workload. We are working day and night to serve our patients."

Madrasa teacher Mohammed Osman is one such victim.

A bullet hit him while he was seeking shelter in a warehouse to escape the violence around 6:30pm on Friday at Rowshan's boarding area in Chattogram. "Cops shot me while I was running away from them," Osman claimed.

He was on his way to a mosque from his house for prayers.

Mukleshur Rahman, deputy commissioner of Chattogram Metropolitan Police (north division), told The Daily Star that he was not aware of such an incident. "There was no instruction to open fire during clashes," he claimed.

Another injured victim, Mohammed Akash, was shot while he was going to work from his home after lunch on Friday, July 19.

The 17-year-old is still having difficulties speaking due to a bullet wound in his abdomen. "We are a low-income family and do not have enough money to bear the expenses of my son's treatment," his father, Mohammed Anam, said.

He claimed that he was not receiving all the necessary medicine from the hospital. "I have to buy medicine from a shop to treat my son," he added.

However, Brig Gen Taslim Uddin, director of CMCH, said they are providing all facilities, including medicine, to victims of quota reform protests as instructed by the health department.

Inter-district bus and launch services continued to operate during the curfew break yesterday.

"We operated buses from 9:00am to 6:00pm on long route," said Mosharref Hossain, general manager of Hanif Paribahan.

Fakhrul demands international probe into deaths

UNB, Dhaka

BNP Secretary General Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir yesterday demanded an international probe into the casualties centring the students' quota reform protests, saying that the judicial investigation formed by the government is an attempt to cover up the bloodshed.

In a statement, he also demanded proper compensation for the families of those who were killed, including members of the police and Ansar.

The statement was issued condemning the arrest of opposition leaders, including Bangladesh Jatiyo Party Chairman and former MP Andaleev Rahman Partho. Fakhrul alleged that innocent BNP leaders and activists have been arrested, and their houses raided by law enforcers as part of the government's "evil efforts" to cover up state-sponsored terrorism and shift the blame onto BNP.

Fakhrul said a judicial inquiry committee was formed at the behest of the government solely to investigate the killings of six people.

"It's tantamount to concealing all the killings. So, the people demanded an international investigation into all the incidents of violence and murders," he added. He expressed grief over the killings of members of the policemen and Ansar and conveyed deep sympathy to their family members.

All saboteurs to be brought to book

Says home minister

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Dinaipur

Terming the nationwide arson and violence centring the quota reform protests shocking, Home Minister Asaduzzaman Khan Kamal yesterday said every person behind the attacks will be identified and brought to book.

"It's a reminder of past tragedies in the country. The nation is stunned and surprised," he said, adding that all the attacks were carried out by a vested group in a pre-planned manner but law enforcers successfully thwarted their efforts.

The ongoing operation against the saboteurs will continue until all of them are identified, he said while addressing a meeting with law enforcement members and local representatives, arranged at Rangpur Shilpakala Academy.

The minister warned local Awami League leaders and activists to stay alert to foil any kind of anti-state activity.

He further pointed out the weakness of ruling party leaders and activists behind their failure to stop the anarchy and destruction carried out by miscreants.
