

Harris holds slight edge nationally over Trump: poll

AFP, Washington

Kamala Harris has taken a slim lead over Donald Trump in their bitterly contested US presidential race, according to a new poll released Tuesday which shows the Democrat gaining support among Republican voters.

With four weeks to go before election day on November 5, Vice President Harris and former president Trump are essentially deadlocked as they scramble to get out the vote and reach the sliver of Americans who remain undecided.

The national poll conducted by Siena College and The New York Times found Harris ahead by 49 percent to 46 percent, with registered voters crediting the Democratic nominee more than Trump with representing change and caring about people like themselves, but giving the edge to Trump on who is the stronger leader.

The rivals were tied at 47 percent in a mid-September Times/Siena poll shortly after the two clashed in their presidential debate.

The overall result is largely in line with an aggregate of national polling collated by RealClearPolitics.com, which has Harris ahead by two percentage points.

Warns head of UNRWA as Israel carries out new strikes; 60 Palestinians killed in 24 hrs

REUTERS, Cairo

An Israeli military operation in northern Gaza is leaving at least 400,000 Palestinians trapped in the area, the head of the UN agency for Palestinian refugees (UNRWA) said yesterday.

"Recent evacuation orders from the Israeli Authorities are forcing people to flee again & again, especially from Jabalia Camp. Many are refusing because they know too well that no place anywhere in #Gaza is safe," Philippe Lazzarini, the head of UNRWA, posted on X.

Lazzarini said some UNRWA shelters and services were being forced to shut down for the first time since the offensive began and that with almost no basic supplies available, hunger was spreading again in northern Gaza.

"This recent military operation also threatens the implementation of the second phase of the #polio vaccination campaign for children," he said.

At least 60 people were killed in Israeli military strikes in the past 24 hours, Palestinian medics said yesterday, as Israeli forces pressed on with a raid on the Jabalia refugee camp in the enclave's north.

The Israeli military says the raid, now in its fifth day, is intended to stop Hamas fighters staging further attacks from Jabalia and to prevent them regrouping.

Japan's new PM dissolves House for snap polls

AFP, Tokyo

New Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba yesterday dissolved parliament ahead of October 27 snap polls, banking on his honeymoon popularity and a fragmented opposition to lead his scandal-tainted party to victory.

Ishiba's Liberal Democratic Party has governed Japan almost uninterrupted for decades and is almost certain to be re-elected. "We want to face this election fairly and sincerely, so as for this government to obtain (public) trust," Ishiba said.

dictatorship, capturing the administration, executive branch, and judiciary. Thousands of cases were filed to create a reign of oppression."

He emphasised that a shadow cabinet under the leader of the opposition should be institutionalised.

The Jamaat said that the system to register political parties, introduced in 2008, is conflicting with the constitution and must be repealed to ensure participatory elections.

The party also stressed the need for the separation of the judiciary from the executive.

"To ensure justice, the judiciary must be reformed," Taher said, adding that civil cases should be disposed of within five years and criminal cases within three years.

The Jamaat demanded the permanent reinstatement of the caretaker government system for national elections, accusing the Awami League of dismantling the electoral process.

"The party destroyed the electoral system by abolishing the caretaker government system," the Jamaat said.

The party called for reforms in police laws, proposing the creation of an independent commission for transfers and promotions to eliminate political interference.

Taher advocated for incorporating religious and moral lessons into police training and reducing the use of lethal weapons.

On government employment, the Jamaat recommended that job applications should be free of charge.

It also wants the maximum age limit for entry into government jobs to be raised to 35 years for the next two years and then set permanently at 33 years, with the retirement age at 62.

The party demanded the cancellation of appointments obtained through leaked examination papers or corruption.

Another key recommendation was to strengthen the Anti-Corruption Commission and allow it to operate independently.

The Jamaat proposed a two-term limit for anyone holding the office of the prime minister.

It also wants a balance of power between the prime minister and the president.

The party suggested reforms in the cultural and educational sectors, recommending the inclusion of lessons about Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) at all levels.

The Jamaat suggested the nationalisation of at least one Kamil madrasa in each district.

It also recommended that scriptures must focus on nature and the country's heritage rather than on animal figures.

The party proposed that all controversial books must be banned, and their publication stopped.

Besides, he amassed movable assets worth Tk 17.03 crore.

The statement added that Kamal accumulated wealth worth Tk 19.61 crore, although his income tax return files from fiscal year 1995-96 to 2023-24 show that his total legal income was only Tk 6.1 crore.

Filing of the cases by the ACC against Kamal is the first after the graft watchdog launched probes against several lawmakers following the fall of the Awami League government.

US PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

determine the election outcome, the race is even tighter.

Democrat Harris, the new poll also showed, has begun making inroads with the rival party, with nine percent of Republicans saying they planned to support her, up from five percent last month.

She touched on the issue Tuesday during an appearance on popular ABC television show "The View," where she talked about campaigning recently with Republican former congresswoman Liz Cheney.

There are more than 200 former officials from past Republican presidents George W Bush and George H W Bush, as well as officials tied to Republican heavyweights John McCain and Mitt Romney, who have endorsed her, Harris said.

"We really are building a coalition around some very fundamental issues, including that we love our country and that we have to put country before party," she said.

She also accused Trump of "full-time perpetuating lies and misinformation," and said voters have grown "exhausted" with the strategy.

Trump has presented an increasingly aggressive posture, slamming Harris Tuesday as "completely inept" in her previous night's interview on news program "60 Minutes."

Soldier killed after abduction in India's J&K

AFP, Srinagar

A soldier was abducted by suspected militants and killed in Indian-administered Jammu and Kashmir (J&K), police said yesterday, hours after results were announced for the disputed region's first local elections in a decade.

Muslim-majority Kashmir has been divided between rivals India and Pakistan since their independence from British rule in 1947, and is home to a long-running insurgency.

Two soldiers were kidnapped on Tuesday evening in Anantnag district, a police officer told AFP.

"One of the soldiers managed to escape. He has two bullet wounds and is undergoing treatment," said the officer, who spoke on condition of anonymity as he was not authorised to speak to media.
