

Fraudster steals from family of martyred student CID arrests one

SHARIFUL ISLAM

Nuruzzaman's son, Sifat Ullah, was killed during the anti-discrimination student movement on August 5 in Gazipur's Mauna. Recently, the family became victims of fraud, losing over Tk 1.5 lakh.

Nuruzzaman, a madrasa teacher from Pakundia in Kishoreganj, had received around Tk 3 lakh as donations from two political parties.

This financial support helped him treat his wife and daughter, who fell ill after Sifat's death, with the remaining amount deposited with his elder brother.

On October 6, while visiting a local bazar, Nuruzzaman received a phone call from a man claiming to be from the finance ministry. The caller said the government had decided to donate Tk 5 lakh to each martyr's family and asked for his bank details and a picture of his ATM card.

Since Nuruzzaman did not have a bank account, he passed the call to his elder brother, Aminul Haque, who, in good faith, provided his account details and ATM card information.

The family trusted the caller claiming to be a government representative because the display picture on his WhatsApp number showed the logo of the finance ministry.

The fraudster then called again,

Paddy fields buried under sand

Post-flood silt deposits render Feni croplands unfit for cultivation

MOSTAFA SHABUI, back from Feni

Thousands of farmers across Feni were devastated by the recent flood between August 16-26 following heavy rains and onrush of upstream water from India's Tripura.

Even though the floodwaters receded in a few days, its aftermath is likely to leave a prolonged impact on the district's agriculture as a deep layer of sand and silt got deposited across vast stretches of croplands, a problem never witnessed by the farmers there before.

Visiting different areas under Parshuram upazila of the district recently, this correspondent saw around 1,500 bighas of Aman paddy fields buried under several feet of sand and silt.

According to the upazila agriculture office, sand and silt got deposited across more than 4,000 hectares of agricultural lands with different crops in Parshuram, as well as numerous ponds and waterbodies, hundreds of fish farms, roads and houses.

"My 10 bighas of cropland went under five feet deep layer of sand deposited by floodwaters after the Muhuri river embankment broke," said Solaiman Ali, 55, of Aloka village in the upazila.

According to Bangladesh Water Development Board in Feni, three kilometres of total 122km embankments on Muhuri, Kohua, and Silonia rivers

Lalon was against discrimination Says adviser Farida

BSS, Kushtia

Fisheries and Livestock Adviser Farida Akhter yesterday underscored the importance of preserving the songs of Fakir Lalon Shah.

She said these songs are essential for future generations to understand and appreciate his teachings.

"This Bengali philosopher and Baul saint [Lalon] had spoken against all sorts of discrimination 134 years ago," said the adviser.

She was speaking as chief guest at the Lalon Festival at the Lalon Akhra in Chheuriya of Kushtia's Kumarkhali, marking the 134th death anniversary of Fakir Lalon Shah.

The adviser urged the Lalon Academy to preserve and conduct research on all the speeches of Lalon Shah so that the next generation can know him properly. Lalon Academy organised the festival in collaboration with the Ministry of Cultural Affairs and District Administration.

NABAGANGA RIVER IN NARAIL

Bridge work drags on for six years

PARTHA CHAKRABORTTY, Bagerhat

The construction of Barai Para Bridge on Nabaganga river in Narail's Kalia upazila has been dragging on since 2018.

The Roads and Highways Department initiated construction of the 651.83-metre-long and 10.25-metre wide concrete girder bridge to enhance road connectivity between Narail and other neighbouring districts including Khulna, Bagerhat and Gopalganj.

However, after extension of deadline twice, alongside multiple setbacks, as well as a revision of the original plan, the project remains incomplete even after more than six years, while the cost escalated from Tk 72 crore to Tk 135 crore.

After the construction work began, it continued at a slow pace until it remained halted amid the pandemic. Till then, only 15 pillars and 11 spans were installed.

Once the work resumed, a major design flaw came to the light, thereby requiring a revision of the original plan. This eventually led to substantial delay to the project.

The work also faced multiple setbacks, including collision of a barge with the ninth pillar in June 2020 and a recurrence of the same event in September 2021. The incidents led to severe damages to the pillars, causing further delays.

As the contractors tasked with the construction work, Jamil Iqbal and Moinuddin Bashi, could not complete the project, the work was handed over to Concrete and Steel Technologists Ltd.

Meanwhile, the project's deadline was extended twice, with the latest deadline being set for June 30, 2025.

The remaining work includes installing three spans and reinforcing the pillars. Process is currently underway to import a massive 86.73-metre-long steel arch span from abroad.

The delay in implementing the project has frustrated the locals.

"If completed in time, the bridge would have eased a lot of our troubles with commute, alongside better access to the neighbouring districts," said Moynal Sheikh, a local resident.

Ruhul Amin, another local, said as the bridge remains incomplete, it has been difficult to commute between the two sides of the river, especially in case of emergency situations.

Md Nazrul Islam, executive engineer of RHD, said the delay was partly due to a reclassification of Nabaganga river, which led to the change of original plan.

"The BIWTA initially classified the river in 'C' grade, but later we found that it is a big river. As such, significant design changes were required for the bridge," he said.

"The revised design was approved by Ecneec in 2023. We expect the construction work to be completed by June 30, 2025 under the new contractor," he added.
