PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

Need policy-driven solutions for their inclusion in job sector

Speakers tell seminar

Hawa Islam, a graduate with hearing and speech disabilities, endured discrimination and disrespect while working in several job sectors in Bangladesh. Eventually, she ended up without a job and is currently struggling financially. "I have worked hard to develop my skills to earn a living, but my disabilities became major obstacles. Employers don't assess my abilities; instead, they exclude me as soon as they learn about my situation. I've applied for 25 jobs but haven't received a single call for an interview," said Hawa.

The remarks came during an event titled "Building a Disability-Inclusive and Supportive Workplace Culture in Bangladesh," jointly organised by The Daily Star and Access Bangladesh Foundation at The Daily Star Centre yesterday.

Another speaker, Akash Rahman, who has cerebral palsy, recounted the struggles he faced before securing a job and having his own family.

Nazmus Sakib, diversity and inclusion officer of UNDP, said,

"Disability is not a homogeneous group. They have the capacity and skills to go into employment, but our social conditions and ecosystem do not support it," he added.

Nazma Ara Begum Poppy, national project support officer at UN Women Bangladesh, said no separate studies are done to assess the barriers women with disabilities face, so there are no solutions.

These women are also more likely to be sexually harassed at work, she added.

"Our roads are not disability-friendly. We require help from other people to move around. The existing disability act does not mention any special facilities for women either," she said.

Both Nazmus and Nazma are persons with visual disabilities.

Govt to phase out outdated vehicles

Ministry sits with stakeholders today

TUHIN SHUBHRA ADHIKARY

The government is going to take measures to remove outdated vehicles from Dhaka city, aiming to reduce air pollution.

The road transport and bridges ministry is going to hold a meeting today with the stakeholders to devise a plan on how to drive out the vehicles from the streets, an official said.

The move came at a time when the number of outdated vehicles rose to over 75,000 across the country, according to Bangladesh Road Transport Authority (BRTA) data.

Besides, the environment ministry has already written to BRTA to remove buses and minibuses older than 20 years and trucks and lorries older than 25 years from the roads.

Air pollution, a major issue for the capital, is one of the greatest environmental risks to health. With over two crore residents, Dhaka often tops the list of cities with the poorest air quality, according to Air Quality Index (AQI) data.

According to BRTA, 28,761 registered buses and minibuses are over 20 years old. Of them, 10,556 are in Dhaka. A total of 46,481 registered trucks, lorries, and other heavy vehicles have crossed 25 years. Of them, 14,683 are in Dhaka.

Older vehicles tend to emit more toxic gases due to incomplete combustion of fuel. The older the vehicle, the more pollution it causes, experts said.

Besides, the old and unfit vehicles are considered one of

SC lawyer again files petition challenging Article 70

STAR REPORT

A Supreme Court lawyer filed a petition with the High Court yesterday challenging legality of Article 70 of the constitution which deals with cancellation of membership of a lawmaker for voting against his or her political party.

Lawyer Md Eunus Ali Akond, in the petition, said an Appellate Division bench led by the then chief justice Surendra Kumar Saha observed in the constitution's 16th amendment case in 2017 that Article 70 of the Constitution is contradictory to the constitution, which has been upheld by the apex court recently.

"So, this article should be scrapped, and I have again filed the petition challenging its legality. The petition's hearing may be held next week," he said.

On August 18, 2018, the High Court rejected Eunus Ali's petition that challenged legality of Article 70.

On that day, the HC bench of Justice Abu Taher Md Saifur Rahman passed the order saying that the court cannot interfere in Article 70 as this provision has been incorporated in the original constitution of 1972.

DENGUE OUTBREAK

October deadliest month so far this year

HELEMUL ALAM

Despite seven days still remaining before the end of the month, October has already become the deadliest month this year in terms of deaths and cases from dengue.

With seven more deaths reported in the 24 hours till yesterday morning, the total death toll this year has now risen to 264.

Of the deaths, 108 were recorded in the first 23 days of October.

Dengue claimed 80 lives in September, according to Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS).

Out of a total of 53,196 cases this year, over 20,000 people were infected in this month alone, the data show.

Experts have attributed the surge in dengue fatalities this year to the nationwide lack of mosquito control measures by the relevant authorities.

Besides, late hospitalisation, multiple infections, and false detection are also blamed for the rise.

GM Saifur Rahman, an entomologist at National University, said this year the two Dhaka city corporations did not take adequate measures to identify and destroy active clusters of Aedes mosquitoes and their larvae.

Moreover, the absence of surveillance in the district towns has been a major reason behind the outbreak, he said.

"The government should have effective surveillance to identify dengue hotspots. This will enable local government departments, community organisations, and educational institutions to conduct targeted interventions," he said.

AL has no right to engage in politics

Says Adviser Nahid

JU CORRESPONDENT

Nahid Islam, adviser to the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, yesterday at a discussion said the Awami League has no right to engage in politics.

"There should be no doubt about whether the Awami League's political activities should be banned. In a democratic state, no fascist party has the right to engage in politics," said Nahid.

He said this while speaking at an event "The Government of the Mass Uprising: Expectations and Achievements", at Jahangirnagar University.

Nahid said, "The Awami government carried out a massacre to politically suppress our rightful quota movement. Over the past 16 years, neither our constitution nor human rights have been respected. Instead, a tyrannical and fascist regime was established. Generally, a caretaker government

'If needed we'll form revolutionary govt'

Says Chhatra Odhikar Parishad

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Demanding the immediate resignation of President Mohammed Shahabuddin, Bangladesh Chhatra Odhikar Parishad President Bin Yamin Mollah yesterday said they will form a revolutionary government if necessary.

He made the comment at a press conference at the Madhur Canteen in Dhaka University.

"Students and people have no trust in Mohammad Shahabuddin as he made the controversial comment on Sheikh Hasina's resignation. We want to give a two-day ultimatum to the president to resign from his post. After his resignation, if necessary, we will form a revolutionary government," said Bin Yamin Mollah.

Chhatra Odhikar Parishad held the press conference demanding the resignation of the president and the banning of Awami League and its associate organisations.
