Chairman
Board of Trustees
Southeast University Trust

It is an immense pleasure to witness this auspicious day of the 8th convocation of Southeast University. After many hurdles and difficulties, especially the July Uprising, and having the burden of martyrs on our shoulders, we finally are able to manifest all the youthful energy and arrange the important event of convocation after a gap of a few years. I would like to extend my heartfelt congratulations to all the graduates who are going to be awarded degrees in this ceremony and start their journey in today's new world.

Southeast University commenced its journey in 2002 with a handful of students and today, with a satisfactory sense of achievement, I am pleased to announce that we have produced over 35,000 graduates in the last two decades. Our students have chosen different paths for themselves in multinational companies, NGOs, government and other private sectors. Also, many of our students are studying in different countries to pursue higher education to imprint in academia. It is also pertinent to say that many of the students are also successful in becoming entrepreneurs and creating job opportunities for others. I am led to believe that those who are graduating today will also follow a path of favorable outcomes as have their forerunners.

Today's outcome is a result of the altruistic approach of the members of the Board of Trustees, as a humanitarian service for the society and the country. Southeast University not only strives to offer quality education but also offers modern infrastructures in the classrooms of the new and permanent campus providing an environment to help the students to master their skills to meet the challenges of modern times with vigor and confidence.

With great contentment and gratification, I again would like to congratulate today's graduates who earned their degrees successfully. I wish them luck and urge them to maintain the connection with their respective departments, and their Alma Mater as a whole. In the future, I also urge them to reinforce Southeast University to help it reach its goals in every possible way.
