STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Ctg

Police yesterday detained seven youths at the home of former education minister Mohibul Hasan Chowdhury Nowfel in Sholoshohor of Chattogram.

Mohammad Solaiman, officer in-charge of Panchlaish Police Station, told journalists that police acted on a tip-off suggesting that banned Chhatra League and Jubo League members were staying in Nowfel's residence. "After verification, police will decide the next course of action...", he said.

Nowfel is the son of late ABM Mohiuddin Chowdhury, former mayor of Chattogram City Corporation and senior Awami League leader. Police sources said the Chowdhury family owns a restaurant that was shut down after the fall of the AL government last year. The restaurant staff had continued supplying food online through delivery platforms and were reportedly guarding the house.

Hospitals overwhelmed with children suffering from bronchiolitis, pneumonia

ARUN BIKASH DEY, Ctg

Shubhechcha Ghosh, from the Askar Dighir Par area of Chattogram city, brought her five-year old son, who had a fever and cough, to a doctor, who prescribed a course of antibiotics after examination. The worried mother said her child had caught a cold even though winter had not yet set in.

Like her son, numerous children in the port city have fallen ill with cold-borne diseases such as pneumonia and bronchiolitis.

Prof Dr Mohammad Musa, head of the Child Health Ward at Chattogram Medical College Hospital (CMCH), said infants and children are particularly vulnerable to such cold-borne diseases during late autumn and winter.

At CMCH, two units of the 140-bed paediatric ward were overwhelmed with 381 patients undergoing treatment on Tuesday.

Asma Akter was seen using a nebuliser on her eight-month-old daughter that afternoon to help ease her breathing discomfort. "I don't know what happened to my daughter... she is unable to breathe normally," she said.

Dr Musa urged parents to immediately seek treatment for infants who experience breathing difficulties. He stressed the importance of keeping children in smoke-free places, adding that vaccination and proper personal hygiene are essential for preventing diseases.

A similar situation prevailed at Chattogram Ma O Shishu General Hospital.

Dr Fahim Hasan Reza, associate professor in the hospital's Paediatrics Department, said, "The number of patients increased from the usual 80-100 to 422 today [Tuesday], with the majority having pneumonia. All 41 NICU beds are currently occupied. Of them, 35 patients have pneumonia."

"Many parents arrive late when the illness worsens. Parents should not take any breathing problems of their child lightly," he added.

Dr Rezaul Karim, former head of CMCH's Paediatric Department, said bronchiolitis is a respiratory disease requiring oxygen treatment, which cannot be administered at home.

He too urged parents to hospitalise children showing rapid breathing or breathing discomfort.

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

After three and a half months of treatment at the National Institute of Burn and Plastic Surgery, twin sisters Sarina Jahan Sayra and Saiba Jahan Sayma, students of Milestone School and College, have finally returned home.

They were among those injured when an Air Force training aircraft crashed into their school building in Uttara on July 21, killing at least 36 people and injuring around 150 others.

Sayra suffered burns on 30 percent of her body, while Sayma sustained burns on 15 percent.

The institute's director Dr Mohammad Nasir Uddin, along with doctors, nurses, and staff, bid farewell to the children as they were discharged.

A total of 57 victims of the Milestone tragedy had received treatment at the institute. Among them, 20 died, three others remain under treatment, though all are now out of danger, hospital sources said.

"Thanks to the government's support and the dedicated efforts of our medical team, the patients have recovered," Dr Nasir Uddin said, adding that the hospital continues to provide follow-up care to the survivors.

The twins' mother, Aklima Akhter, expressed heartfelt gratitude to the hospital authorities and the government for their support throughout the long recovery process. "We are happy that they have finally recovered. My daughters went through an immense ordeal," she said.
