

Pubali Bank Credit Card – Now Just a Click Away!

- Apply online from your comfort zone
- Instantly check your credit score and credit limit in real time
- Simple process, trusted service

A Smart Choice for a Smarter Life – Pubali Credit Card
https://applycreditcard.pubalibankbd.com or Scan QR Code

পূবালী ব্যাংক পিএলসি
PUBALI BANK PLC.

ISO/IEC
27001:2022

Open your Account
from anywhere

PI Banking-
a Pubali Bank apps

ইসলামী ব্যাংকিং সেবা প্রদানে 'ইসলামী ব্যাংকিং কর্ণার' পূবালী ব্যাংকের প্রায় সকল শাখা এবং উপশাখায়

The essence of democracy is that I may not agree with you, but I will still defend your freedom to express your opinion, even at the cost of my life. That is democracy. Unfortunately, we do not want to tolerate others' views here – we want to silence them. We must move away from this mindset.

MIRZA FAKHRUL ISLAM ALAMGIR
BNP Secretary General

Students cover their nose and mouth as they walk past a heap of burning trash on their way home from school around noon yesterday. Locals said when city corporation cleaners fail to collect garbage on time, some people set the waste on fire. The photo was taken in Lalmatia yesterday.

PHOTO: PRABIR DAS

SC order on caretaker govt today

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Supreme Court is set to deliver its verdict today on the appeals and review petitions against its 2011 judgment that scrapped the non-party caretaker government system.

The appeals and petitions have been listed as item numbers 1 and 2 in today's cause list for announcement of judgment, according to the SC website uploaded yesterday afternoon.

On November 11, a seven-member bench of the apex court headed by Chief Justice Syed Refaat Ahmed concluded the hearing and fixed today for delivering the verdict on the appeals and review petitions.

During the hearing, the lawyers for the appellants, petitioners and the state prayed to the top court to overturn its 2011 judgment and restore the non-party caretaker government system to the constitution for holding free and fair elections and to establish democracy in the country.

BNP, Jamaat-e-Islami, five citizens, freedom fighter Mofazzal Islam of Naogaon and two rights organisations lodged the review petitions last year challenging the 2011 verdict.

A seven-judge full bench of the Appellate Division, headed by the then chief justice ABM Khairul Haque, had declared by majority view on May 10, 2011 that the 13th amendment to the constitution (related to the caretaker government) was null and void.

The birth registration conundrum at DSCC

Around 79,000 certificates issued through its 'own server' rendered invalid; residents face extra hassle, costs

DIPAN NANDY

The long-running complications over birth registration have reached a breaking point in the Dhaka South City Corporation (DSCC).

Although the Office of the Registrar General holds legal jurisdiction, former mayor Sheikh Fazle Noor Taposh introduced an "own server" of the city corporation during his tenure, claiming it would boost revenue.

Nearly 79,000 birth and 1,500 death registrations were recorded through this system. But after August 5 last year, DSCC's registration process was reinstated under the Registrar General's central server, rendering those certificates invalid.

As a result, residents are now being forced to reapply and pay the fees again. Every day, affected individuals crowd DSCC's regional offices seeking valid certificates.

On Tuesday morning, Jahidul Islam waited outside the Zone-1 office at Nagar Bhaban, trying to collect a birth certificate for his four-year-old son, Ayman, ahead of school admission.

"When I went for admission, I found out the certificate issued during Taposh's tenure was invalid," he said. "I had to reapply. They charged Tk 50 before, and again this time. When I asked about the earlier payment, no one had an answer."

In the same office, Dhanmondi resident Erfanul Rahman sought clarification about his daughter Abiba's "fake birth certificate".

He said, "When applying for a passport, they told me the certificate had no link to the national server. DSCC is supposed to provide services,

When I went for my son's school admission, I found out the birth certificate issued during Taposh's tenure was invalid. I had to reapply. They charged Tk 50 before, and again this time. When I asked about the earlier payment, no one had an answer.

JAHIDUL ISLAM
A resident of DSCC Zone-1

but they are harassing us. Now they're asking me to apply again."

Victims say they must pay the government-prescribed fee again, with no refund for the money previously deposited into DSCC's server. Death certificates issued through the server have also become invalid.

DSCC Zone-1's Zonal Executive Officer Kazi Saleh Mustanzir said, "After August 5, we attempted to integrate South City's birth and death registration data into the central system. Due to technical errors, not all data could be integrated. Therefore, people were asked to reapply." Similar complaints came from Zone-3 in Nawabganj.

Monowar Hossain, dealing with his daughter Raida's registration, said, "I already took the service from DSCC and paid the fee. Now I have to take it again."

Zone-3's Zonal Executive Officer Md Sujaudoula acknowledged the frustration. "Their anger is natural, as they are facing both extra expenses and suffering. The application fee is embedded in the online system, making submission impossible without payment."

DSCC sources said Taposh demanded a share of the Registrar General's revenue from birth certificates after taking office.

This dispute halted registration activities in the DSCC from June to September 2023. As public suffering grew, DSCC began issuing certificates directly from its own server on October 4, 2023, and collected fees accordingly.

However, as the server was not connected to the Registrar General's database, problems surfaced immediately.

SEE PAGE 4 COL 7

Finn, Cory and Sam to retire

The K-9 trio will be up for auction on Nov 25

Cory

Finn

Sam

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Finn, Cory, and Sam – three dogs of Dhaka Metropolitan Police's K-9 Team – sniffed out danger, guarded crime scenes, and stood loyally beside their handlers for years.

Now, after a long stretch of service, the three are preparing for a quieter life – not in kennels or behind barbed wire, but hopefully in warm homes with new families.

The DMP has announced that the three will be released from duty and offered to the public through an open auction on November 25 at its canine facilities in Mirpur-14 Police Lines.

All three dogs were born and trained in the United Kingdom before being inducted into the force's operational lineup in Dhaka. They worked for the Counter Terrorism and Transnational Crime (CTTC) unit's specialised K-9 unit.

Among them, Finn is a male Labrador, Cory a female Labrador, and Sam a male German Shepherd. All of them are eight years of age and have grown too old for the demanding tasks of explosive detection, search operations, or patrol duties. However, officials say they remain in

SEE PAGE 4 COL 1

MALAYSIA'S LABOUR MARKET

Withdraw 'unrealistic conditions': Baira

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The ten conditions imposed on recruiting agencies sending Bangladeshi workers to Malaysia must be withdrawn, demanded Bangladesh Association of International Recruiting Agencies (Baira) Sammito Samonoy Front yesterday.

They also called for restoring the previous rule for sending workers to Saudi Arabia, which allowed up to 24 visas to be approved for exit clearance without verification.

Additionally, they demanded withdrawal of what they termed a "false case" filed against Baira's former joint secretary Fakhrul Islam, along with punishment for whoever filed it.

These demands were made at a press conference at the Maulana Akram Khan Hall of the National Press Club yesterday morning.

MAH Selim, former president of Baira, read out the written statement at the briefing.

There have long been allegations of irregularities, corruption and high migration costs caused by syndicates in the Malaysian labour market, said Selim.

"Even though there has been a political change, some advisers have continued unprofessional behaviour in diplomatic affairs," he said, adding that this is influencing unreasonable decisions regarding the labour market.

He said the ten conditions set by the Malaysian government for selecting recruiting agencies are not realistic.

"These conditions are part of a plan by syndicates to finalise only their preferred agencies. Even a small country like Nepal has rejected these conditions. Therefore, Bangladesh should also be able to do the same," he added.

He also said the Ministry of Expatriates' Welfare has ordered applications to begin using Malaysia's ten new conditions without discussing the matter with stakeholders.

SEE PAGE 4 COL 4

Commuters from Kamalapur, Gopibagh, Tikatuli, and surrounding areas use a boat to cross Motijheel's only remaining jheel (pond). The waterbody, a popular transportation route, serves as a time-saving shortcut, with passengers paying Tk 5 for the journey.

PHOTO: RASHED SHUMON