

How NRBs manage qurbani rituals far from Bangladesh

The hallmark of Eid ul Adha is animal sacrifice. Visiting cattle markets, arranging butchers, and sharing meat with friends, family, neighbours, and those in need make it all the more exciting. Bangladeshis who live abroad miss out on the frenzy that they grew up experiencing, because Eid is a very different affair abroad, especially in the Western world, where animal welfare laws and hygiene guidelines must be followed and respected during slaughtering.
